INDUSTRY GETS FIRST BILL FOR NRA EXPENSES

Ordered to Pay Cost of Enforcement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—The NRA today handed to industry its first bill for enforcement of a code, the forerunner of billions of dollars to be levied on business in order to support the Blue Eagle régime.

The trucking industry, first to take up the matter of code enforcement costs, was informed today that it will be "taxed" $2,700,000 a year to pay the running expenses of its code. A chorus of protests and complaints greeted the announcement which was made by the trucking code authority at a general conference of the industry.

Staggers Truck Operators.

Every truck in the country, from huge freight carriers to the delivery truck of the corner grocery, would be assessed in order to pay code costs. "Not for hire" trucks operated by companies for delivery or other accessory purposes would have to pay 90 cents apiece, while each transport vehicle "for hire" would have to pay $3 a year in order to raise the $2,700,000 annually.

Dismayed at the staggering cost of code enforcement, truck operators were still more outraged at the possibility of having to contribute to the upkeep of several codes. Grocers may be levied on both under the grocers' code and trucking code. The same duplication may hit cleaners, drug stores, department stores, and all other establishments operating trucks as an accessory to their main business.

Such a pyramiding of enforcement levies through many codes would throttle industry, representatives of the trucking business warned. NRA officials, it was reported tonight, will attempt to work out some method of avoiding duplications of the enforcement levies.

Total Cost Uncertain.

Faced with a request by one code authority for $2,700,000, NRA officials were unable to estimate what the total cost to industry of administering all codes will be. There are, however, approximately 400 codes already in effect. Proponents of the $2,700,000 trucking fund claimed that they need more money than the average code authority because of the "diffuse nature" of the trucking industry.

The levy of 90 cents per truck was suggested by the trucking code authority. If the industry, which registered vigorous protest today, fails to stop the proposal, it will then go to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief, for approval before becoming effective.

President Roosevelt last week granted code authorities the power to levy on their industries for their expenses. Any member of the industry who fails to pay his assessment may be deprived of his Blue Eagle.

MOVES TO ENFORCE CODE

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—Pursuant to wishes of NRA authorities in Washington, Gov. Horner moved today to place Illinois in the list of states which will enforce provisions of NRA codes.

The governor's floor leader, Representative Thomas P. Sinnett [Dem., Rock Island], introduced a long bill sent from Washington which would give Mr. Horner the broadest kind of powers in putting the policies of the NRA into effect.

Similar measures already have been adopted in a dozen states of the Union, the idea being that states, rather than the federal government, should police the NRA.

Goes to Second Reading.

Today's bill was sent to second reading and the plan is to pass it before the assembly adjourns the third special session, probably at the end of next week.

The powers granted by the bill would be as follows:

1. Authorizes the governor to "utilize state and local officers and employés in effectuating the policies of the NRA."

2. Provides that regulations governing the licensing of business enterprises passed by congress shall be the standards of "fair competition" for such trade or industry in all its transactions within the state.

3. Provides that violations of "codes of fair competition" shall constitute misdemeanors punishable, upon conviction, by a fine of not more than $500 for each offense, "and each day such violations continues shall be deemed a separate offense."

4. Assesses the same fine and imprisonment upon all persons convicted

Lexington to Protest Loss of U. S. Liberty

Lexington, Mass., April 18.—(AP)—On the eve of the 159th anniversary of the battle of Lexington and its observance by the townsfolk, a delegation of Lexington citizens left for Washington tonight to submit to congress tomorrow a protest against "unreasonable interference by the federal government" in the affairs of "a free people."

As a part of the ceremonies on the battle green commemorating the anniversary tomorrow, the resolutions of protest will be read before the tomb of the minute men who were killed in the skirmish with the British redcoats on April 19, 1775.

The petition—or "declaration," as it appears in the form in which it was drawn for presentation to congress—bore the signatures of more than 1,200 citizens of the town. It followed the general form used by Lexington citizens of colonial days in their protests to the provincial and state governing bodies, including a preamble, the protests and resolution.

Reaffirm Private Rights.

The resolution with which it concluded said: "We are resolved that the individual's rights of private enterprise and its rewards must continue, free from unreasonable interference by the federal government, and we demand their preservation at your hands."

Addressed to the members of congress from Massachusetts, the petition said:

"When a free people choose duly elected representatives they invest them with the responsibility for preserving their constitutional rights to own property and to exercise freedom of individual enterprise.

"When a free people feel that their rights are being trespassed upon and that the guidance of government is being unduly influenced by advisers not chosen by the people, it is a duty as well as a right of the people to express determined disapproval.

"Voice Disapproval Now."

"Such disapproval must be voiced decisively when legislation is enacted giving into federal control the right to regulate individual and national activity for ends which the people feel are open to grave question."

The "protests" followed in this form:

"We protest against federal interference in business under the guise of promoting social reform and economic recovery.

"We protest against the indefinite extension of legislation originally designed solely for emergency purposes.

"We protest against the passage of legislation without more careful consideration by congress.

"We protest against the increase of bureaus, boards and commissions and the delegation of arbitrary powers to such governmental agencies.

"We protest extravagant and wasteful expenditure of public funds on unneeded and unproductive projects, thereby creating a constantly mounting national debt."

The committee which carried the resolutions to Washington was headed by Robert Holt, town moderator of Lexington. It will meet Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, representative from the district of which the town is a part, on arrival in the capitol.

KEEPS TAB ON CALLS; OVERCHARGED, HE SUES PHONE CO.; WINS $5.40

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—Dr. Alton A. Smahl, nose and throat specialist, abhors the dial system of telephoning. He has refused to jiggle the contrivance its seven turns to get a number. Each time he has signaled the operator and obliged her to get his party for him.

Each time he called he made a written record, with date and time. Not only that, he padlocked the dial in his office, so no one could use the hated instrument in his absence.

The New York Telephone company despite all these precautions billed him $5.40 for excess calls. He paid under protest, declaring he had not made the calls charged against him, as plainly shown in his detailed office record.

He sued the telephone company to get back the $5.40. A jury in the Central Municipal court deliberated today one hour and returned a verdict that in effect held the record of calls kept by Dr. Smahl was accurate, the records of the telephone company inaccurate. The corporation was ordered to pay back the $5.40.

MERCURY DROPS SHARPLY AFTER GOING UP TO 74

The temperature dropped 17 degrees within an hour last evening bringing to an end the warmest weather of the year in Chicago. Today will be partly cloudy and much colder, with temperatures in the middle forties, Forecaster W. P. Day predicted.

Yesterday's maximum temperature was 75 at 4:05 p. m., which broke the previous 1934 record, set on April 9, when the mercury reached 74 degrees. The all time high record for April 18 is 83 degrees.

Message Travels Around World in 4 Minutes

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—A message of greeting was flashed today from the headquarters of the International Telephone and Telegraph company at 67 Broad street. It was received at the same address three minutes and forty-six seconds later, after it had traveled by cable and wire 25,000 miles around the world.

Charges Girls Beat Her Over "No Date" Rule

Topeka, Kas., April 18.—[Special.]—A girl from Silvis, Ill., told a federal judge and jury here today that she was stretched across an automobile fender, like a medieval culprit on the torture rack, and beaten into unconsciousness for violating a Kansas "no date" rule. The beating was administered by a group of Goodland, Kas., high school girls, who thereupon repaired to a speakeasy and celebrated their act, according to the testimony.

Miss Georgia Hill, 20, the witness, is suing ten high school girls of Goodland for $25,000 in Federal Judge Richard J. Hopkins' court. She claims that she has not entirely recovered from injuries received at the hands of the defendants on the night of Dec. 11, 1931, following a basketball game.

Says She Didn't Know Rule.

Miss Hill testified that she attended the game with Howard and Charles Griest and another girl named Blanche Showbarger, unaware of the no date rule for basketball games. After the game, she said, she was seized by the defendants, some of whom were members of the "Sherman Sals," a high school pep squad, placed in an automobile and driven out on a "dark and lonely road."

Her captors took her out of the car and stretched her across the fender, Miss Hill testified, and then pounded her in the small of her back with their fists. The witness said one of the girls suggested beating her with their slippers, but she did not know whether this was done. At any rate, the beating continued and "hurt terribly," until she lost consciousness.

She regained consciousness on the way back and started to get out when the car reached her home, but the girls suggested visiting a Goodland restaurant, the witness said.

Taken Into Restaurant.

"I pleaded with them not to take me there and they wanted to know why not," Miss Hill continued. "I told them I had my reputation to consider."

Both the Griest boys and Miss Showbarger testified that the restaurant was known as a place where young people forgathered for drinking and to "spike" drinks.

The girl's father, W. R. Hill, testified that an examination by physicians disclosed a misplaced kidney.

The defendants, who contend that they merely gave Miss Hill "a mild spanking," are Carolyn Price, Mae Sales, Helen Higdon, Mabel Wonderling, Loretta Gulick, Virginia Luther, Christie Jensen, Ruth Sutfin, Jean Beckner, and Dorothy Dimmitt.

Miss Sales declared there was no malice in the hazing. Miss Beckner said she suggested the spanking and Miss Luther admitted driving the car.

CHICAGO'S FAIR AGAIN LEADING U.S. IN RECOVERY

Lake Front Becomes Hive of Activity.

BY EARL MULLIN.

A Century of Progress Exposition, conceded to have been one of the greatest single factors in national recovery in 1933, is again doing a yeoman's job in providing employment and placing money in circulation in 1934. A survey of the grounds yesterday showed that more jobs are being created and a larger pay roll supported in this strip of lake front than in any equal area in the middle west.

At present approximately 2,000 workmen, according to a conservative estimate of figures presented by various officials, are engaged on Fair projects. The weekly pay roll for this group is estimated at from $80,000 to $100,000, and the peak in employment will not be reached until about May 10.

2,000 Enter Grounds.

"We have in the neighborhood of 2,000 men coming into the grounds every day to work on the various projects," said Charles G. Thurman, chief of grounds. "Of course all these men do not work every day, so that the total employment would probably be almost double that figure."

Of this number about 1,600 are employed in the Street of Foreign Villages, where 11 of the 15 villages of the Fair are located.

One major industrial exhibit now employs 386 men, working a three shift day, with a weekly pay roll of $17,000. Before the building has been completed the employment figure will increase to 500 men and the pay roll to $20,000 a week, officials said.

J. L. McConnell, engineer in charge of construction and utilities, estimates that the total pre-Fair construction pay roll will be in excess of $5,000,000. This sum will be divided into 25 per cent for workmen who fabricate materials, load, and otherwise work outside the Fair grounds. The balance will be spent for wages of workmen within the grounds. Most of the money is being spent in the Chicago area, although the influence is felt throughout the entire country.

Only Major Construction.

E. M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, also estimates a $5,000,000 total pay roll, and put the number of men who will have been given employment at about 3,000. The employment ranges from skilled electricians and other branches of the building trades to ordinary laborers. At present this is practically the only major construction going in Chicago.

The opening of the Fair will see the arts and kindred branches of employment getting their share of the money. Last year musicians received $540,000 on the Fair pay roll, and union officials estimate that this year that sum will be increased to $1,000,000.

It is difficult to localize this type of employment and to figure accurately just how much of it is due to the Fair. Practically all the hotels and night life centers in downtown Chicago during the Fair season increase their stafs, transportation agencies are augmented, and the employment figure of the entire city takes a decided upturn.

Start on Last Large Exhibit.

With the exception of one major project all Fair construction is under way. Work on that project, the Armour company exhibit, will start today. At 10 a. m. Martha Lee, daughter of the president of the company, will start a pile driver laying the foundation for the structure. Construction officials promise that the entire building will be finished before the 1934 Fair opens on May 26.

The building, the last of the major exhibits, will extend from the 16th street bridge across the lagoon and will show a complete history of the packing enterprise, from the farm yard to the consumers' tables. Also contained in the building will be a medium priced restaurant.

The grounds, as viewed from an automobile yesterday, present a bewildering view of scaffolding, power saws, pile drivers, and hurrying workmen. Where an open expanse extended a few weeks ago a mass of steel girders and cement mixers now mark the site of a foreign village. The lagoons, which during the summer will shimmer under changing lights, are now ugly with churning pile drivers.

Finish Alteration Work.

Construction work is at a varying stage of completeness. The new construction ranges from 15 per cent to 60 per cent complete, while much of the alteration work is finished. Fair officials are hopeful that the entire Fair will be complete and the débris

WILBUR GLENN VOLIVA.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church of Zion, last night vehemently rebuked the people of his community for defeating his candidate in a school election Saturday, taunted his enemies with lack of real old time fighting spirit and announced that he was ready to have wholesale killings performed if any physically hostile moves were made against him.

His remarks were delivered at the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting in Shiloh tabernacle, Zion, before a crowd of 2,000. Some 1,200 of these were his adherents, 300 were independents who have opposed his rule and the rest were visitors from north shore towns who went to hear his reactions to present day events and were nowise disappointed.

He Goes Armed, He Says.

"I was brought up as a gunman," thundered the overseer. "When I was a boy I used to carry two guns. I am heavily armed now and I'll kill a man at the drop of a hat in self-defense. Countless guards, armed to the teeth, surround me. They have orders from me to shoot at a second's warning.

"Threats, veiled and otherwise, have been made against me. Let those who make them act, and I guarantee to kill any hundred persons—I've got enough guards to kill that many in a few seconds. I am a real honest to goodness old warrior. What have I got against me? A lot of yellow curs.

They'd "Better Watch Out."

"You people had better watch out for me. Once in Melbourne, in Australia, a real mob of 150 men surrounded me and threatened to kill me, but I walked out unharmed. Twenty-five years ago, right here in Zion, we had some real fights. It was nothing to have half a dozen shot in a night. Those were the grand old days. I wish I had the same kind of men to fight against now.

"My day will end some time. Maybe the world will end next September. But Voliva will always be on top. People who say I won't are tools of the devil. I've seen everything and I know more about human nature than President Roosevelt."

Modifies School Closing.

Voliva told of his moves against O. W. Farley, the former deacon of his church who was elected against the Voliva will to the presidency of the Zion public school board last Saturday. He had already announced the closing of his parochial school. This was modified last night.

He would reopen the preparatory college, the senior high school classes, and the kindergarten today, he said, but would make all the pupils, even the kindergarten children, give a pledge of loyalty to Voliva before they would be admitted.

Replies to Mrs. Farley.

Discussing a threat made by Farley's wife, who is 63 years old, to slap his face and to gather an organization of women to battle his rule, Voliva said:

"I want you to know I could put that old lady out of commission in

BRAND WORK OF PARLEY FUTILE; BLAME HITLER

Tell Britain Safety Must Come First.

Arms Over Europe

PARIS—France returns to pre-war conception of security—armaments and allies—according to interpretation of note sent Great Britain on disarmament negotiations.

BERLIN—Capt. Ernst Roehm, chief of staf of Nazi storm troops, warns nations invasion will find Germany prepared to fight to last man; sees Brown Shirt army as guarantee of central European peace.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 18.—France will have nothing further to do with the present brand of disarmament negotiations.

This information was conveyed to the British government in a vigorously worded note which was made public tonight with the text of other notes on armaments received in the past few weeks from Germany and other European countries.

The French memorandum, which is believed by many to be a death blow to any sort of armaments accord, shifted the responsibility for the breakdown of negotiations to the shoulders of Chancellor Hitler and his German Nazis.

Brands Nazi Budget "Menace."

The note described the increased German military budget as a "menace" and declared the German government, without awaiting the results of negotiations in progress, has shown its determination to continue all forms of rearmament in violation of the treaty of Versailles.

"The German government," the note charged, "intends to increase immediately on a formidable scale not only the strength of its army but also its naval and air forces.

"Whatever explanation may be advanced, facts of such exceptional gravity can lead to only one observation and conclusion. They prove the German government has made impossible further negotiations."

The French laid down one condition upon which they would reëngage in disarmament conversations, and it is regarded as insuperable. That condition is that Germany return to the league of nations and to the league's disarmament conference at Geneva.

German Note Also Published.

The disarmament conference, they insisted, must resume its work from the point reached before the direct negotiations, "which have produced no result," were begun.

The German reply to the British arms memorandum of March 16, which was received here Monday, declared it is imperative that Germany possess immediately a defensive air force, not including bombers, the numercial strength of which would not exceed 30 per cent of the combined air forces of Germany's neighbors or 50 per cent of the French aircraft strength, whichever is smaller.

Germany agreed that reduction of armaments by other powers might be postponed five years providing equality was achieved at the end of 10 years. The note stated the Nazis' refusal to return to the league until after equality of rights was a fact.

Gloomy View Taken.

British diplomatic circles took a gloomy view of the situation. Anxiety is felt as to the outcome of the next meeting of the disarmament conference bureau [steering committee] April 20, and of the general commission May 23.

A few weeks ago it was felt that the outlook was bright for some sort of compromise agreement which would at least have stabilized armaments at existing levels and so avoided a suicidal race. The boost in appropriations for the German military budget is seen as the development which frightened France out of all inclination to reach an accord.

FRANCE BLAMES GERMANY

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, April 18.—France has definitly returned to her 1914 conception of security—armaments and allies. She feels that Germany's rearmament renders any other conception impossible.

This is the real meaning of the French government's latest note to Great Britain which was made public today. The text reveals almost as understatements the rumors current in official circles last night that yesterday's cabinet meeting had virtually revolutionized France's foreign policy. The news was a bombshell for pacifist circles which last week firmly believed that Europe at last was nearing an accord which would at least limit armaments.

Agreement Indicated Once.

The Paris government had unofficially indicated to London that it would agree to limit French armaments and tolerate existing German armaments if the Germans would return to Geneva and sign a convention containing serious guarantees of execution. London replied saying that Britain in principle no longer guarantees the execution which the French consider necessary.

Every one expected the French would try to hold up the British for the greatest possible measure of security. Instead the French note, after analyzing Germany's secret rearmament in violation of the Versailles treaty, boldly asserted:

"The government of the reich, deliberately or not, has destroyed the basis for negotiations and has thus rendered them impossible."

Even more sinister is the sentence which came almost immediately after:

"Before even examining whether an accord might be reached on a system of guarantees of execution efficient enough to permit signing a convention which would legalize Germany's rearmament, France is obliged to think first of her own security, which she associates intimately with the security of other interested countries."

The note concluded by calling for the final meeting of the disarmament conference to announce publicly that it is useless to continue its labors and to show the world where the blame lies.

Back of yesterday's cabinet meeting there was irony, but drama. Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, although he signed the note, is not the one who is responsible for the new hard boiled turn of French policy. Although he is hated by parties of the left and admired by the right, Barthou advocated an armaments convention even if France had to make serious sacrifices.

Finally Overruled.

Minister of War Marshal Henri Petain, Vice Premier Andre Tardieu, and other nationalist members of the cabinet opposed him in the violent discussion and finally he was overruled.

After the meeting Barthou redrafted the note according to the new instructions received and, though the document does not represent his ideas, unmistakably it reflects his style, which is famous for clarity and vision.

Although Barthou made the most of the argument that France is only refusing to allow the disarmament conference to be diverted from its original purposes, all his talent did not hide the fact that France now has the kind of foreign policy most of the world thought she had all along.

Note Attacked by Pacifists.

The nationalist press congratulated the government on this fact and the pacifist press bitterly attacks it for the same reason.

With all idea of organized international security out of the question, the government now is busy working up the old fashioned kind. The presence in the capital of the Rumanian foreign minister, Nicholas Titulescu, gives a chance to reinforce the alliance between France and the little entente—Rumania, Czechoslovakia, and Jugo-Slavia.

Saturday Barthou will leave for Warsaw to try to break up the newly developed Polish-German flirtation and bring the Poles back to the French camp, which has been reinforced by recent negotiations with France's pre-war ally, Russia.

NEW NAZI PARTY IN POLAND ADOPTS HITLER PROGRAM

WARSAW, Poland, April 18.—(AP)—The newly-announced formation of the "National Radicals" party by Nazi National Democrats gave evidences tonight of becoming a political sensation. The new group patterns its program after that of the German chancellor, Adolf Hitler, including strong anti-semitic declarations.

The pro-government press, meanwhile, has interpreted the move as being in opposition to Marshal Pulsudski.

A manifesto by the new party urged extensive economic reform on a radical basis and recommended the division of landed estates and the transfer of all public utilities to the state. Regarding anti-semitism, it proclaimed: "Only those who have created the Polish civilization and those who are worthy of coöperating in its developments merit public rights—the Jew therefore cannot be a Polish citizen."

TROUT ARE WARY, BUT HEADACHE PILLS LAND 'EM

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 18.—(AP)—Brook trout in the Greenbrier river in Pocahontas county apparently have the headache.

Although many fishermen have returned here without "much luck," headache tablets are advanced as good bait by John B. Wyatt, local attorney. Wyatt Monday caught a large trout with a tablet, according to Magistrate Fred E. Shetter, who accompanied him on a fishing trip.

Out of bait, Wyatt found the tablet in his pocket and placed it in the bend of his hook. He caught one of the nicest trout of the nineteen caught by himself and Shetter.

BERLIN, April 18.—"Despite Germany's sincere desire for peace, no one should for a second think that it is possible to obstruct Germany's future with impunity."

Ernst Roehm, chief of staf of Chancellor Hitler's brown army, made this statement today in an address before the diplomatic corps and foreign press representatives.

"Any invasion of Germany would find not only the army but the whole nation, up to the last man, ready for a passionate and fanatical defense," he continued. "The existence of the storm troopers will make any future illegal attack on the new Germany such a dangerous enterprise that any aggressor will first carefully consider whether the gains which are possible will be worth the risk to be taken. The storm troopers are a guarantee of the peace of central Europe."

Needed to Create Nazis.

Roehm said the defense of the home soil was only a side issue for the storm troopers, and that even if Germany were granted an army of 300,000 men, as it demands, this nation will continue to need its storm troopers.

"They are needed," he said, "to help turn every German into a Nazi in his heart and actions, and thus to make him a sincere member of the new national community, eliminating all personal selfishness. The new German style of living must be introduced by the storm troopers, who are fighting to enforce the will and idea of the German revolution."

Hitler's revolution he characterized as a "mental and moral revolution, the only kind which has a right to win." Asserting that the German revolution had conquered without serious bloodshed, Roehm added: "Hitler has given the world an example of how irrevocable permanent revolutions can be made."

He Does Some Comparing.

He placed the Hitler movement on the same level as the advent of Christianity, the discovery of the printing press and gunpowder, the discovery of America, Martin Luther's Reformation, the French revolution and its corollaries, liberalism, capitalism, Marxism and democracy.

He included the discovery of America as a revolutionary event, he said, because "events in themselves are not decisive in a genuine revolution. The changes which occur in human mentality and in man's philosophy of life are what count, and America's discovery changed Europe's outlook."

He described Naziism as a new philosophy of life, "born on the flaming battlefields of France and Flanders in the world war. That is where the key to an understanding of the rebirth of humanity in our days is found. In the trenches, full of the dead of the world war, democracy and the ideas of the French revolution died. Out there, where millions met and faced death, everything that was cheap or weak disappeared. Only what was true, genuine and manly survived. The world is beginning to be reborn out of this spirit of the eternal soldier.

Nothing to Do with War.

"This soldier has nothing to do with war. A uniform and weapons do not make a soldier. It is the quality of mind and character which makes a soldier of a man who does a supreme duty wherever fate places him. The soldier's spirit is one of idealism, regardless of the field on which his battles are fought. What counts is the fighting spirit."

Roehm shook his fist at "reaction" and turned down the idea of a monarchy in front of his loyal lieutenant, Prince August Wilhelm, son of former Kaiser Wilhelm.

"The German imperial crown lies on the battlefield, and it seems doubtful to me whether the German people are willing to go to war for it," said Roehm.

Some interpreted this as a hint at the Versailles treaty and Roehm's conviction that Germany's neighbors would take to arms rather than allow the return of the Hohenzollerns. Others interpreted Roehm's words to mean that the Nazis would relinquish their power to the monarchists only in open battle.

"Should the German people again choose a sovereign, he would be chosen against the reactionaries," Roehm declared.

She commented: "I have not yet heard from Mr. Seiter, as I suppose he is just learning of it, too."

Miss La Plante announced a month ago that she had brought the proceedings on the ground of incompatibility and that she and her husband "still are very good friends."

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 18.—(AP)—Reconstruction of the cabinet of Premier Nikola Uzonovich, with Chief of Staf Milovan Milovanovich as war minister and with four other changes, was announced tonight. NAZIS PUT 10,000 WOMEN TO WORK IN "FARM CAMPS"

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 18.—Concerning one of the most interesting experiments of the new regimé in Germany, little is known. It may be described as an effort to inculcate in German womanhood love of the land and its cultivation, by turning them into farmers, accustoming them to the hardships of agricultural life and teaching them to prefer agricultural occupations.

There are believed to be 10,000 women now distributed all over the country in small agricultural camps for women only. They live without luxuries and do all the work men normally do on a farm. They plow, they sow and they cultivate. They rise with the sun and go to bed with it and their only pleasures are those of mutual companionship.

Visits to these camps are not encouraged. The propaganda department is strangely silent about them. The only foreigners who have inspected any of them are said to be two American women who chanced upon one of the camps and insisted on visiting it. But the identity of the Americans is not known. They are now supposed to have returned home after their novel experience.

Brother Changes Mind, So He Will Wed Girl Instead

Los Angeles, Cal., April 18.—[Special.]—Last Monday Lucille Mary Tomes, 18, of Santa Monica, appeared at the county marriage license bureau and took out a license to wed Fay R. Young, aircraft clerk, 24. Today Lucille came back to the marriage bureau and requested the clerk to tear up her license to marry Fay. "I want a new license," Lucille said, "I am going to marry his brother, Arthur Young." Arthur is 22. "My brother got cold feet at getting married," Arthur said. "That was just my good luck. I am happy to get Lucille."

M. P.S CRITICIZE BRITAIN'S POLICY ON U. S. WAR DEBT

Point to Default in Face of Budget Surplus.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 18.—Great Britain's war debt to the United States occupied the front seat in the first of a two days' general budget debate in the house of commons today.

The ball was set rolling by Morgan Jones, Laborite, who pointedly asked whether Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain's omission from the budget of a provision for payments this year implied repudiation.

"I think we have a right to know," Jones declared, "because I believe that on June 15 this question will arise again officially." Britain owes a payment of $86,670,765 on June 15.

Warns of U. S. Opinion.

The newspapers, he asserted, had played up the news of the $159,650,000 budget surplus to an extraordinary degree, and its existence is known not only to the American government, but to the American people as well.

"You have to provide for American public opinion," he warned, "an adequate reason why we shouldn't begin resuming payment on the debt."

Later, Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Samuelite Liberals, touched on the same delicate subject. He declared that the matter couldn't be ignored. He thought the United States realized that the debt settlement of 10 years ago imposed an excessive burden and must be largely written down.

"The United States is beginning to see that it is being cluttered up with a vast mass of useless gold and silver," he said, "and any attempt to pay debts in cash is economically futile in the long run—almost impossible."

Wants to Pay in Goods.

If payment is to be made, it must take the form of goods and services rather than money, Sir Herbert said. There are indications that tarif negotiations are in contemplation with a view to widening channels of trade with the United States, he added, and he hoped the British government would not consider the debt question closed, but would welcome the opportunity for an amicable settlement along these lines. There must be no repudiation of the debt, he insisted, adding that the matter could not be left unsolved indefinitly.

Replying to criticisms of the budget on behalf of the government, L. Hore-Belisha, financial secretary of the treasury, failed to satisfy the Labor and Liberal demands for an elucidation on the debts policy by completely ignoring the subject.

The debate will continue tomorrow, and will be wound up by Chancellor Chamberlain himself. It is anticipated that some explanation will be provided by him.

France Charges Trotzky with Plot to Set Up Dictatorship

PARIS, April 18.—(AP)—The sensational charge that Leon Trotzky plotted for a revolutionary dictatorship in France through the fatal February street riots was made by authorities today as the exiled red army leader hunted vainly for another refuge.

They said a manifesto he issued after the disorders called for "an armed workers' militia" and declared that "war has just begun between them; there is no possible peace, but in a fight to the death, in the street, by force, will be decided the future."

Press Exile to Move On.

Police pressed the bewhiskered Trotzky to move on from his villa in suburban Barbizon, where he had lived mysteriously for four months until gendarmes raided it Sunday.

Officials said they wanted him to leave as soon as possible, but were willing to be patient for a few more days in "view of the menace to his life." Where he can go was a matter of conjecture.

"The United States refused us once last June when we were at Istanbul and I don't see the sense in asking again," said the red leader's secretary.

Rumors were that he might seek a haven in Spain, Denmark, or Switzerland, but these were called "pure guesswork" by one official.

Fear for His Life.

"One cannot condemn him to death," a secret service man said. "That is what his immediate departure would mean. We are letting him find a haven."

Trotzky's forest retreat 35 miles from here remained closely guarded by detectives. No one was permitted to enter.

Police declared Trotzky's violation of political neutrality was particularly apparent during the February clashes between police and mobs, when he was said to have sent agents to Socialist and communist leaders urging a "monster joint meeting" to prepare for mass action.

The authorities said his appeals for civil war were repeated in the publication Verite and that pamphlets had been seized in which Trotzky called Premier Doumergue's government "New Bonapartes."

Trotzky has been keeping so well under cover that watchers caught no glimpse of him yesterday or today. His secretary, however, insisted he was still at the Barbizon villa.

Usually, activity has been apparent at night in the house, the place has been brightly lighted. At 10 o'clock tonight, however, all lights were put out as if the household had gone to bed.

Seeks Turkish Haven, Report.

ANKARA, Turkey, April 18.—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports said today that Leon Trotzky, Russian exile who has been ordered out of France, had telegraphed a request to the Turkish government for permission to return to the Iland of Prinkipo, his former haven. It was said Trotzky promised he would not interest himself in political affairs should Turkey permit him to return.

HITLERITES TO FORCE CLOTHIERS TO USE GERMAN MATERIALS

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 18.—The New Fashion institute, established about a year ago with the idea of promoting nationalism in dress, has been turned to new uses by the necessity of curtailing German imports. Hereafter its chief task will be to promote the use of German fabrics for clothing purposes.

Incidentally, the Igfarben corporation—comprising the great German dye trust with all its ramifications—announces that it has discovered a substitute for wool, the importation of which is forbidden. The ersatz wool is described as looking like wool and feeling like wool, but is composed of German fibers. It is described as almost as good as wool except from the standpoint of durability.

The announcement of this discovery and the prohibition on wool imports has produced a rush to the tailor shops before their stocks of woolen fabrics are exhausted. Germans have a lively recollection of the paper suits supplied to civilians here in wartime. Since then, however, Germany has made great advances in the study of ersatz materials.

HUNT 2 ESCAPED PRISONERS.

French Disappointed at U. S. Wine, Liquor Trade

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, April 18.—On the basis of its results upon wine and liquor exports for the first quarter of this year, the lifting of prohibition in the United States has been definitly disappointing to French dealers. Only exporters of brandies and heavy liquors show much optimism, while wine growers, who had been expecting great things, are frankly dismayed.

DOCTOR, NURSE HELD AS GIVING DILLINGER HELP

Bandit's Pay Agent Died in Ambush.

St. Paul, Minn., April 18.—[Special.]—With the disclosure today that John Dillinger, Indiana desperado, had been wounded in his gun battle with police and federal agents here on March 31, a Minneapolis physician and his nurse were taken into government custody. The physician, Dr. Clayton E. May, and the nurse, Mrs. Gurniath La Delle, were charged with conspiracy to harbor a fugitive from justice.

They were arraigned before United States Commissioner W. T. Goddard and pleaded not guilty. Their bonds were set at $50,000 each and a preliminary hearing was set for May 2.

Bandit Shot in Leg.

Dillinger, still at large, and his sweetheart, Evelyn Frechette, who is now in custody in Chicago on a charge of harboring the gangster from justice, shot their way out of the police trap here. Bloodstains following Dillinger's footsteps indicated he had been wounded in a leg.

Federal authorities said that Dr. May was to have been paid $500 for treating Dillinger but never received the money. Eugene Green, one of Dillinger's henchmen, was to have taken the money to the physician on April 3, but he was ambushed and fatally wounded by federal operatives as he stopped in St. Paul to get his luggage en route to Minneapolis.

According to department of justice agents, Dr. May and Mrs. La Delle made statements identifying Dillinger as their patient. The seriousness of the gangster's wound was not disclosed. Dr. May failed to make a report of the case, authorities said, although Minnesota law requires the reporting of all cases of gunshot wounds. Dillinger, it was understood, told the physician that the wound was suffered accidentally.

Federal operatives had been hunting for two weeks the physician who treated Dillinger.

Raids Louisiana Bank.

Shreveport, La., April 18.—[Special.]—Three bandits, one of them believed to be John Dillinger, yesterday held up the Bank of Montgomery in Grant parish, 85 miles south of Shreveport, and escaped with an undetermined amount of loot. The bandits fled in an automobile, driving north toward Shreveport.

L. D. Wardlaw, president of the bank, said the features of the bandit leader tallied with those of Dillinger, whose picture was hanging on a wall of the bank at the time of the robbery. This man carried a machine gun, Wardlaw said, while his companions were armed with revolvers.

WOMAN FRIEND BRAGS

John Dillinger was in Chicago on April 9 and coolly strolled out of the State-Austin inn, a tavern at 418 North State street, under the eyes of a dozen United States secret service agents who, armed with machine guns and sawed off shotguns, raided the place to arrest Evelyn Frechette, Dillinger's woman companion.

This was the tale which the Frechette woman told half a dozen reporters yesterday when interviewed in a cell in the United States courthouse. She told her story, which was doubted by federal prosecutors, after Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan had ordered her taken to St. Paul tomorrow to face federal charges of aiding and harboring Dillinger in the apartment from which he shot his way out of a police trap a month ago.

"Gosh, that guy has a nerve," said Evelyn of Dillinger.

"When the federal agents walked into that café on North State street Dillinger was standing near the door. He walked right through them as quiet as you please. He strolled down the street and got into a car not fifty feet away. Then he waited until the agents brought me out of the place and I saw him drive away."

Melvin H. Purvis, head of the department of justice intelligence division in Chicago, joined other officials in denying any possibility of truth in the woman's story.

"I have no comment to make at all on such a ridiculous statement," he said.

In Chicago Several Days.

But Evelyn related that Dillinger had been in Chicago for several days before she was seized. She said she had been with him most of the time. The night of the raid, she asserted, Dillinger drove her to the tavern and they sat at the bar drinking with another couple.

"We had been there only a short time when the agents walked in and told me to put up my hands. Dillinger happened at that moment to be standing in a crowd near the door and he walked right on out of the joint."

Asked if reports that Dillinger had been wounded in escaping from the St. Paul apartment were true, the woman said:

"I'll not answer that one. I'm in enough trouble as it is. I won't talk because he might read about it in the newspapers."

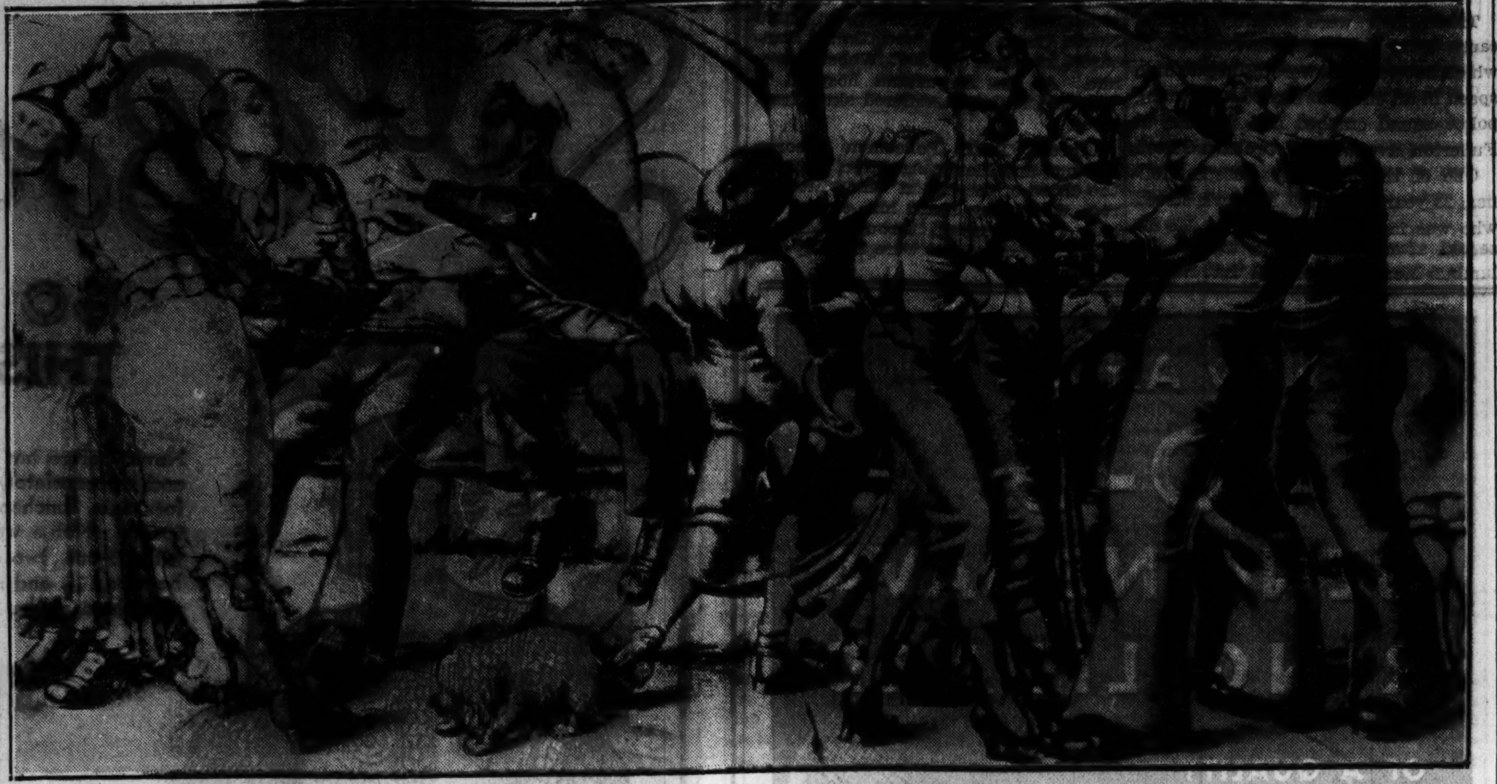
Heavily Guarded in Court.

The Frechette woman, wearing the same rumpled finery in which she was seized ten days ago, was heavily guarded in her brief appearance before Judge Sullivan. Agents with partly concealed machine guns and riot guns guarded the corridors and courtroom doorways.

In Crown Point yesterday Ernest Blunk, the jail employé who is under indictment with two others for allegedly aiding Dillinger in making his escape, pleaded not guilty before Special Judge Maurice E. Crites of East Chicago.

Judge Crites set his case for trial on May 7, after overruling a motion to quash the indictment, which was entered by Blunk's attorney, Allen P. Twyman of East Chicago.

Navy Secretary Banishes CWA Painting of Drunken Sailors



"It was right artistic but not true of the navy," said Secretary Swanson in explaining why he ordered this painting of drunken sailors removed from the navy department. Assistant Secretary Henry L. Roosevelt personally supervised the removal and concealment of the picture, which was painted by Paul Cadmus and sent to the navy by a division of the Civil Works administration. Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he had the painting sent to his home, "where it's out of sight and will continue to be out of sight." [Associated Press Photo.]

REVEAL DILLINGER VISITED HIS FATHER'S FARM HOME APRIL 7

Mooresville, Ind., April 18.—(AP)—Hunted throughout the country as leader of an outlaw gang, John Dillinger was revealed today to have spent a few quiet hours at his father's farm home near here the week-end of April 7.

Confirmation came from the father, John W. Dillinger. "I talked with him for some time," the elderly man said, adding, "John isn't in Indiana now."

It was on April 7 that an automobile believed by police to have carried the fugitive desperado was wrecked near Noblesville, and a new one was purchased for cash at Indianapolis. Salesmen said a woman who bought the car resembled Evelyn Frechette, under arrest at Chicago.

Neighbors who saw the younger Dillinger on his week-end visit here reported the color of the fugitive's hair has changed from chestnut to henna.

POLITICS BOILING; POLICE CALLED IN OAK PARK UPROAR

Police squads were sent late last night to quell a disturbance which broke out at a meeting of the Oak Park Democratic club in the Oak Park Arms hotel. The trouble grew out of animosities between the followers of former Congressman James T. Igoe and of Silvio Feretti, whom Mr. Igoe defeated for president of the club and district leader.

John Guilfoyle, 549 South Lyman avenue, Oak Park, said that shortly after the meeting was called to order a motion was made and carried to seat Mr. Igoe as temporary chairman. After he had taken the gavel, Mr. Guilfoyle added, a crowd of men and women poured through the doors and sought to push the ex-congressman from his seat. The police were called and protected Mr. Igoe.

Feretti, however, objected to the meeting's continuance, asserting that he had paid the rent. The Igoe forces, consisting of twenty-eight of the forty-two committeemen present, then adjourned to other rooms, and confirmed his election. Present at the meeting were Judge Ross C. Hall of the Appellate court and Attorney Lowell B. Mason.

Stenographer Lists Debts of $5,034,361; She Has $50

Los Angeles, Cal., April 18.—[Special.]—Marion Pratt, a movie studio stenographer, today filed a federal plea of voluntary bankruptcy, listing her assets at $50 and debts at $5,034,361. Her liabilities, it was explained, were incurred by her becoming a co-signer of numerous promissory notes, mortgages and trust deeds for real estate in Oregan, Washington, and this state during previous employment.

REPORT COLLEGE BOARD WILL HIT 10 HIGH SCHOOLS

An investigating committee is to submit tomorrow to the North Central association, composed of high schools and colleges in twenty middle western states, a report on the scholastic standing of the ten new high schools set up by the board of education last summer.

There were reports last night that the committee would recommend that these schools be denied admittance to the accredited list on the ground that instruction and facilities in the institutions were defective. Arthur W. Clevenger, high school examiner for the University of Illinois, asserted, however, that the report had not yet been formulated and that until the committee had met nothing could be said about the matter. Denial of accredited standing would prevent graduates of the new high schools from entering colleges unless special examinations are taken.

The high schools are Amundsen, Farragut, Foreman, Harper, Hirsch, Kelly, Kelvyn Park, Sullivan, Manley, and Von Steuben.

Woman Dies of Poison, Refusing to Name Kin

A woman who gave her name as Mrs. Winnifred Feinberg, 38 years old, died yesterday in the county hospital from the effects of poison she swallowed in her room at the Fort Dearborn hotel on Feb. 11. She refused to tell the whereabouts of her relatives. A note found in the hotel room was addressed to "Aaron," and in one passage referred to "that other woman who can make more money for you than I can is welcome to you."

DEFICIT JUMPS OVER 3 BILLIONS; RECEIPTS GROW

300 Million Paid on Called Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—The government's deficit jumped over the 3 billion dollar mark and at the same time surpassed the total deficit for the full 1933 fiscal year.

Treasury department reports this morning showed an excess of expenditures over receipts of 3 billion 73 million dollars. The deficit for the entire fiscal year last year was only 3 billion 63 millions. The present fiscal year has better than two months to run.

Large Payments on Bonds.

Principal reason for the boost in the deficit was 300 million dollars allocated today for the retirement of called fourth Liberty loan 4¼ per cent bonds. Out of 1 billion 875 million dollars' worth of the bonds called, all but about 300 million dollars' worth were refunded into new bonds.

Total expenditures reported by the government for the fiscal year thus far were 5 billion 493 million dollars, of which 3 billion 108 million dollars was for special new deal agencies and only 2 billion 385 millions for the routine government establishments.

Receipts from taxes and other sources were reported as 2 billion 420 million dollars thus far this year.

Receipts Above Last Year's.

Compared with totals for the same date a year ago, receipts show a gain of 831 million dollars and expenditures showed an increase of 1 billion 537 million dollars.

Although expenditures continue at a pace faster than ever before achieved in a peace time year, they are falling far short of the estimates made by President Roosevelt. He predicted that 10½ billions would be spent before June 30.

VIRGINIA PALS OF CANNON TAKE STAND FOR HIM

Insist There Really Were Two Committees.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—A long line of Virginians took the stand today to prove that their friend, Bishop James Cannon Jr., is really right when he insists that he was in charge of a separate Virginia anti-Smith Democratic organization as well as the south states' committee of the '28 campaign.

The bishop and his secretary, Miss Ada L. Burroughs, are charged with conspiracy to juggle campaign contributions between the general southern committee and a Virginia committee which the prosecution holds was merely mythical.

So the defense witnesses marched into district Supreme court here today and swore the Virginia committee was real and regular.

Smith Changes Their Faith.

As a side issue, but with almost greater fervor, these men, most of them preachers or teachers, proved that they thought being a Methodist and a Democrat was the one royal road to heaven. That, of course, was before a gentleman named Alfred E. Smith ran for President on the Democratic ticket in 1928. Then these men ditched the Democratic donkey and started to work for the anti-Smith forces.

Bishop Cannon was the chairman of these forces. The organizer was one Rev. J. Sidney Peters.

"Where is Dr. Peters now?" queried Attorney Robert H. McNeill, counsel for Bishop Cannon.

Dr. S. C. Hachter—he was the witness to whom the question was addressed—replied confidently:

"He's in heaven."

And everybody laughed.

They Find More Humor.

They laughed, too, when Dr. Hatcher, questioned about his politics, fairly shouted:

"Me, I was born with a Democratic spoon in my mouth. Why, I thought that the Methodist religion and the Democratic party were the way to get to heaven."

And he wanted to make it very plain that the only time he jumped the party was in '28, and then he jumped only to Mr. Hoover.

One Republican, Frank P. Dunford of Richmond, said he'd been a Virginia G. O. P. since 1896, "guessed" he still was. He was the disbursing officer for the funds which Cannon and Peters gave to him for distribution throughout the state. He was certain, he said, that there was a separate state committee.

Proof of the existence of this separate committee [even though it had the same officers] is important to Bishop Cannon, for by its reality he contends that he did not evade the corrupt practices act in not reporting to congress those expenditures, since they were intrastate and not interstate.

Another long line of Virginians, women as well as men, took the stand to testify to the high character of Miss Burroughs. Most of them had known her, they said, since 1914, when she began to work for the Anti-Saloon league in their state.

The defense has subpenaed the letters and speeches of Representative George H. Tinkham [Rep., Mass.], who first accused the bishop of violating the corrupt practices act. Through these documents the defense wants to convince the jury that Bishop Cannon is the victim of "a vicious net which enemies have woven about this old man."

At the words "old man" the bishop, who is spry at 69, sat up, alert and quizzical. He is expected to take the stand tomorrow.

of carrying on any business covered by the NRA without a license.

5. Allows any person to institute suit "to prevent and restrain any violation of any provision of the NRA" within any court of competent jurisdiction.

6. Forces the state and all its political subdivisions and all municipalities charged with purchasing materials for public works or public use to "let such contracts only to those persons who agree in and by the terms of such contracts to use and supply only articles, materials, and supplies mined, produced, manufactured, or supplied by a person who has agreed to the terms of a code of fair competition approved pursuant to the terms of the NRA in every case where such a code has been approved."

Members who read the bill remarked that the governor would be given dictatorial powers under the bill.

RETURN SUSPECT ACCUSED IN MAIL ROBBERY CASE

Samuel Lebow, 49 years old, charged with having in his possession bonds that were taken in a robbery of postal messengers in the loop on Dec. 6, 1932, was brought to Chicago yesterday from New York, where he was arrested several days ago.

In the mail robbery $250,000 in securities was taken by the robbers. The messengers at the time were on the way from the United States postoffice to the First National bank.

Nine persons have been indicted for alleged participation in the disposal of the loot, among them Edgar Lebensberger and John J. [Boss] McLaughlin. Lebensberger, a night club proprietor, either was killed or committed suicide last October. McLaughlin is at liberty in bonds of $25,000. Lebow is being held at the United States courthouse and will be questioned by postal inspectors.

NRA WORSE THAN SHERMAN MARCH, SOUTH IS WARNED

Says Conditions Warant Secession.

Birmingham, Ala., April 18.—[Special.]—A statement that secession may be the ultimate outcome in the fight to preserve southern industry by the maintenance of a wage differential was applauded by 300 members of the Southern Industrial council from several states who met in Birmingham today.

Theodore Swann, chemical manufacturer, who told the industrialists he was just back from Washington, said he was more pessimistic than ever over the fate of the south and called upon southerners to make a unified stand against the economic war being waged by northern industrialists through the NRA.

NRA Bad as Sherman's March.

"Sherman's march to the sea was no more destructive than the NRA is going to be to the south," Swann said. "Before it is over we may have secession."

Lindley C. Morton, industrialist and southerner by adoption, warned against raw emotions and talk of secession. To secede would lose the south the market that takes 80 per cent of its products, he pointed out.

Questioned after the meeting of the industrial council Swann said his comment on secession was intended to mean secession of the south from the NRA rather than from the Union.

Based on Coal Code Change.

The meeting was called after Alabama commercial coal operators launched a fight against the executive order amending the bituminous coal code on March 31. Under the amendment the wage differential between the northern and southern fields was virtually eliminated by an increase of $1.20 per day for miners.

John Edgerton, Lebanon, Tenn., manufacturer and president, said: "The Alabama coal trouble is only a symptom of what is developing for all southern industry."

"Only by combined and unified efforts can we stem the tide that is running against the southland today," said W. D. Moore, president of the American Cast Iron Pipe company of Birmingham.

FRENCH CAPTURE LOUISE DUVAL OF SOVIET SPY RING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 18.—Louise Duval, 32, a spy implicated by the confession of the Americans, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz, was arrested today. Police say they have proof it was she who did liaison work between spies in France and soviet Russia. They consider her one of the slickest members of the gang of which 21 members are now in jail.

Louise's husband, a soviet spy known as Albert, was condemned in 1931 to three years in prison for spying in many French towns where fortifications were being built and she, like a good helpmate, carried on the work after he was jailed.

Louise, who was born in Luxembourg, paraded as a writer and held rendezvous with her aides in fashionable Paris book stores, department stores and tea rooms. Documents she received passed through four or five persons before being sneaked across the border.

AUTO PURSUED BY POLICE HITS ANOTHER; 3 HURT

Three men were severely injured early today when an automobile in which several men were riding at high speed in an effort to escape a pursuing police squad crashed into another at Fullerton avenue and Orchard street.

One of the injured is Joseph Mollner, 23 years old, 1909 Mohawk street, who was in the fugitive's car. He asserted after being taken to the Columbus Memorial hospital that he had been seized by the other occupants of the car at Center and Clark streets and threatened with death. The others, whom he did not know, fled after the crash.

In the second car in the collision rode Fred Hess, 21 years old, 2330 North Clark street, and Daniel Sansardo, 19 years old, 1047 Webster avenue. At the Augustana hospital it was said both had suffered skull fractures.

Lincoln Park Policemen George Warner and Henry Arvidson took up the chase of the car in which Mollner rode when they heard him crying for help as he passed through Lincoln park. Several shots were fired by the policemen.

WIRT QUIZ OVER; FIGHT ON BRAIN TRUST GOES ON

McGugin Promises He Will Not Quit.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—The congressional investigation of the brain trust died aborning today, but the struggle against the professoriat has by no means ended.

The immediate investigation died by the hands of the administration Democrats, controling the special house committee of inquiry. The Democrats voted this afternoon to take no further evidence and to issue a report finding everything on the Potomac sweet and lovely as the cherry blossoms.

But a young Republican congressman from Kansas, Harold C. McGugin, after having made one more effort to compel the committee to conduct a real investigation of the activities of the brain trust, served notice this afternoon that he and some of his colleagues in the house would continue an unrelenting campaign to defeat the schemes of the professoriat.

Will Continue Fight.

"We are by no means through," Mr. McGugin declared. "The people in the hinterlands of America have given support to those who would save the land from a regimented industry and a communized agriculture. Their voices will grow stronger.

"I think the seed has been sown. The brain trust may live on for awhile, but it cannot function before an aroused public opinion and ere long it will be driven out of public life and the public's business.

"I do not mean that the professors will voluntarily give up their experiments and their schemes for putting a free American nation into harness, and we must be all the more on the alert to forestall the measures by which they might wrest control from an unsuspecting congress and an uninformed public."

The special committee ends its hearings after having called Dr. William A. Wirt of Gary, hearing him accuse various high officials of the administration of radical words and deeds; hearing him describe a dinner at which he said six satellites of the brain trust revealed revolutionary aims, and finally hearing the six present a unified denial of the schoolmaster's charges.

Tells of Final Meeting.

That was all, and Congressman McGugin declared today that the committee had but begun its task when it abandoned the inquiry.

Describing what had transpired behind closed doors at the final meeting of the committee this afternoon in the private office of Chairman Alfred L. Bulwinkle [Dem., N. C.], Mr. McGugin said he had demanded once more that the committee call Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, head man of the brain trust; Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture; Dr. Frederick C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the AAA; Interior Secretary Harold Leclair Ickes, Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, and the three directors of the Tennessee Valley authority.

The demand, said Mr. McGugin, was voted down by the vote of three Democrats against two Republicans, the same vote which has defeated every effort of the Kansan and his Republican associate, Representative Frederick R. Lehlbach of New Jersey, when they sought to broaden the scope of the inquiry.

Then the Democrats proposed a motion to hold no more hearings and to proceed at once to the drafting of a report to the house, and this vote was carried by the same partisan vote.

Will Have Minority Report.

The two Republicans, McGugin and Lehlbach, announced that they would draft a minority report to the house, giving their own views of the inquiry.

Chairman Bulwinkle, asked by news reporters whether the committee would recommend a prosecution of Dr. Wirt on a charge of perjury, said no vote had been taken on such a matter.

It is deemed certain that no such action will be brought against the educator, for it is an open matter that the administration is anxious to have the public forget Dr. Wirt and his charges as quickly as possible.

Congressman McGugin protested that, irrespective of the whole Wirt incident, there was evidence piled mountain high, brought from a hundred sources, to prove, quite independently of Dr. Wirt, that certain members of the brain trust were seeking covertly to overthrow the established social order in the United States.

"Whatever anybody might think of Dr. Wirt," declared the Kansan, "no one who is informed on the subject can doubt that the present administration is honeycombed with visionary and impractical self-styled intellectuals whose aim it is to produce a 'planned economy' upon the land.

"Why does the Democratic leadership in congress fear an honest investigation of these men? Why have they gagged this investigation. Why do they prevent us from bringing the professors before a fair tribunal of the house, where they may tell the whole world, if they choose, that they are not guilty of the charges brought against them. If they are not preparing for sovietization of land and industry, it would be far better for them to give congress and the people that assurance.

"There is but one answer to these questions. The brain trust is planning, secretly, to impose their alien system upon our free people. They cannot deny their own words. They cannot disavow the obvious motives behind their own actions."

Col. Roosevelt Denounces New Deal

U. S. TO DELAY FACTOR WARANT FOR EXTRADITION

Counsel Sees Law as Hope for Release.

Secretary of State Hull announced yesterday in Washington that an extradition warant for the return of John Factor to England would not be issued at once. The warant, he said, will not be issued until there is no probability that Factor will again be needed to testify against the Touhy gang. Factor is wanted for trial in England on charges of defrauding British investors.

Roger Touhy and three of his gangsters, now serving prison sentences of 99 years for the kidnaping of Factor, have filed an appeal before the state Supreme court. Factor was arrested on Tuesday at the request of the British government, and is held in a loop hotel in the custody of a deputy United States marshal.

Appeal to Cause Delay.

According to attachés of the Criminal courts, the Touhy appeal, in ordinary routine, cannot be disposed of before September. If the appeal is denied attorneys for the Touhys probably would ask for a rehearing, which would require several more months. In this phase lies Factor's hope for a successful fight against extradition.

Under the statutes of the United States, if a person held extraditable by the courts is not removed from the United States within sixty days after his arrest he may seek liberty in habeas corpus proceedings. Factor's sixty day period started at 10:15 a. m. on Tuesday when he was committed to the custody of a deputy marshal.

To Take Advantage of Law.

At the time of his arrest G. Gale Gilbert, counsel for Factor, informed the court that he would take advantage of the sixty day clause in the statutes and would demand Factor's liberty if he had not been extradited by that time. Previously Factor had waived this right in order to remain at liberty to testify against his kidnapers. His arrest on Tuesday, following objections by his counsel, made this clause of the statutes operative.

R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state, yesterday refused to comment on the contention by Factor's attorneys that he would be entitled to release unless extradited within sixty days.

M'LEOD BANK BILL MEETS REJECTION AT ROOSEVELT PARLEY

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's definite opposition to the McLeod bill, which would provide for the government to pay in full depositors in closed national banks now in receivership, going back several years, was made plain at the White House today.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt stated at a press conference that the books of all closed banks are being reëxamined to determine whether the government, through the controler of the currency and the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has adopted a really liberal policy.

It was recalled that Jesse Jones, chairman of the R. F. C., told newspaper men yesterday, after a conversation with the President on the McLeod bill, tha R. F. C. advances to banks are based in many cases not only on present values of securities but on prospective values in the light of recovery efforts. He said $750,000,000 had been advanced by the R. F. C.

In a discussion of the background of the problem raised by the McLeod bill, President Roosevelt emphasized two points:

First, the impossibility of administering such a law equitably. Second, official refutation of the belief that the government holds an obligation to reimburse depositors in banks that have failed.

5,000 to Parade Saturday in School Pay Protest

More than 5,000 school teachers, Parent-Teacher association members, and students will march in a loop parade Saturday morning to protest against school pay conditions, officials of the teachers' voluntary emergency committee, announced last night. The parade is designed to attack on legislators who defeated a school aid program at Springfield and to bring to public attention the plight of school workers who have been unpaid for nearly eight months, it was explained. The parade will pass the city hall and go through the financial district.

REP. FISH SAYS HE'LL PROVE THE WIRT CHARGES

Detroit, Mich., April 18.—(AP)—Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. [Rep., N. Y.], speaking before 900 women at a Republican women's meeting here today, attacked the policies and personalities of the Roosevelt administration and asserted that he would prove the charges made by Dr. William A. Wirt of Gary, Ind.

He declared that Dr. Wirt failed to prove his case because his sources of information were too remote.

"But I'm going to prove it and prove it so there will be no mistake about it," he said. "Not one but 20 persons in key positions in this administration are not Democrats, but Socialists at heart. I'll take the written and spoken statements of Dr. Tugwell and others and prove that they are of Socialistic origin. Half the Democrats in Washington have no use for Democratic policies. They are followers of Karl Marx."

NEW AUTO DETAIL GOES IN ACTION; 4 SEIZED; 1 SHOT

CRIMINAL COURT.

Roland Minzghon, Harold Carter, Truman Powell, Frank Olszanski, and Ivan Hill, burglary, each sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Oscar Levy, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

John Koziol, larceny of auto, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Harold LaBow, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Joseph LaBow, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Donald S. McKinlay.

One alleged automobile thief was shot and three other suspects were captured yesterday as State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney's new auto theft detail went into action. Another development in the campaign was the conviction of an auto thief by a Criminal court jury which fixed his punishment at 1 to 20 years in Joliet penitentiayr.

Joseph Skubin, 29 years old, 3122 North Kedvale avenue, an automobile mechanic, was shot in the side by Policemen Herbert Schoendeck and Otto Jicka of the Warren avenue station, who saw him riding in a stolen automobile. At the Bridewell hospital, where it was found he was not seriously wounded, Skubin said he borrowed the car from a man by the name of Martin.

Skubin Steps on Gas.

The automobile, which is the property of the Commonwealth Edison company, was stolen from in front of 220 North State street on April 6. Policemen Schoendeck and Jicka saw the machine yesterday afternoon at Wilcox street and Campbell avenue with a different set of license plates. Skubin stepped on the gas and attempted to escape from the police who were riding in Jicka's car. During the chase a number of shots were fired.

A squad from the Lawndale police station arrested three men yesterday morning after exchanging shots with them while they were riding in a stolen car. The car overturned at West 16th street and South Albany avenue, where one of the occupants, Frank Kairis, 1429 South 49th court, Cicero, was captured. His companions, John Navurskis, 1522 South 49th court, Cicero, and Victor Kristie, 1526 South 49th court, Cicero, were arrested later at their homes. They will be questioned today.

The auto theft verdict was returned by a jury in Judge Walter Steffen's Criminal court, which found Sol Winneck, 30 years old, guilty of having a stolen auto in his possession. Assistant State's Attorneys John Boyle and Earl Hurley, who prosecuted the case, thanked the jury and said the verdict would be effective in reducing automobile thefts.

Instruct New Detail.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert yesterday called in more than 100 policemen who have been sworn in as deputy sherifs to form part of Mr. Courtney's new auto detail and instructed them on their duties. The men, who are permanently assigned to the state's attorney's office, were formed into squads and will look for auto thieves in the county outside of the city limits.

State's Attorney Courtney notified Commissioner James P. Allman yesterday that every person, including juveniles, arrested for stealing automobiles by the city police should be sent to his office for questioning. Capt. Gilbert and Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, who has been assigned to prosecute all auto theft cases, will interrogate the prisoners.

Otto Walther, Richard Meissner, and Roy A. Starr, who were arrested here for stealing automobiles in Dubuque, Ia., were ordered turned over to the federal authorities of that city yesterday by United States Commissioner Walker.

VISITORS' AUTO STOLEN; THEN U. S. ENTERS PICTURE

Jeff W. Jones and A. L. Wilcox of Omaha, Neb., parked an automobile in front of a drug store at 63d street and Archer avenue, Willow Springs, yesterday afternoon. When they left the store a little later the car was gone.

They then went to the highway police station in Willow Springs and reported the theft. Mr. Jones said that he and his friend were with the Federal Food company and were inspectors. The police, gathering the impression that the two Omaha men claimed to be federal inspectors of food and drugs, called the narcotic agents' headquarters in Chicago and told them that Agents Jones and Wilcox were out there and needed transportation back to the city.

"We haven't got any agents named Jones and Wilson," headquarters retorted. "Hold them for us."

Agents Frank J. Hanlon and Eugent Rayher were sent to interview the strangers. The error was quickly explained to them and Messrs. Jones and Wilcox were released.

AUTO VICTIM, 75, DIES, INCREASING 1934 TOLL TO 354

Philip Asarno, 75 years old, 1521 South Hamlin avenue, died yesterday in Mount Sinai hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile driven by Sam Kline, 1864 South Ridgeway avenue, at Ridgeway avenue and 15th street on April 11. Kline, who was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene after the accident, was ordered to appear at the inquest today.

This death increased the Cook county traffic toll for 1934 to 354.

Policeman Eli Kordick of the city motorcycle squad, who was held after his automobile struck and killed Miss Irene Makinak, 20 years old, 3611 West 56th street, Tuesday night, was released yesterday at the request of Supervising Captain John Prendergast. The inquest into Miss Makinak's death was continued to May 3 pending the recovery of Mrs. Aldona Stanley, 19 years old, 3612 West 56th street, who was seriously injured in the accident.

USED TIRE TRADE ATTACKS STATE AUTO THEFT LAW

A suit for an injunction to restrain the activities of State's Attorney Courtney, Police Commissioner Allman, Sherif Meyering, and Secretary of State Hughes from enforcing the section of the new automobile parts theft law, which requires used tire dealers to keep a record of their sales was filed yesterday in Circuit court by the Midland Tire and Rubber company and other members of the Rebuilt Tiremen's association. The suit alleges that the law is unconstitutional and ruinous to the used tire industry. Prospective customers are frightened away through the examination of the records by policemen, the suit charges. Arguments on the injunction will be heard today by Judge William V. Brothers.

Judge Rebukes Policeman for Shooting at Motorist

Municipal Judge Frederick W. Elliott yesterday criticized Policeman Albert Formiller for firing several shots at a motorist who committed a traffic violation. The policeman testified that the motorist, H. A. Mewes, a railroad official drove past a red light at Clark and Van Buren streets on Tuesday and failed to stop when ordered. Mewes said he did not see the light nor hear the shots. Judge Elliott, after rebuking the policeman, dismissed charges of disorderly conduct against Mewes.

Courts Acts After Driver Ignores Lesser Charges.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 37; recovered, 43; stripped, 3 [from police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Tuesday].

Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green in the Stockyards court yesterday sentenced Mrs. Haroldine Rose, 25 years old, 258 West 117th street, to 90 days in the Bridewell on a charge of possessing stolen property. The stolen property consisted of license plates which belonged to another person.

Mrs. Rose is the wife of Leo Rose, a produce merchant. She was arrested a week ago after she had twice failed to appear in Municipal court on a charge of having fictitious license plates on her automobile. The more serious charge—that of possessing stolen property—was made after Judge Green learned that she had disregarded the other charge.

Her Companion Escapes.

In court yesterday it was disclosed that Mrs. Rose was arrested on March 7 in the auto parking space in Grant Park. Policeman Thomas Walsh who made the arrest said Mrs. Rose was with a man, who, as the policeman arrived, was trying to remove the license plates from the automobile of Circuit Judge Hugo Friend, which was parked there. The man fled but Mrs. Rose was seized and charged with possessing fictitious plates.

Mrs. Rose was taken to the South State street police station where she was held until a bondsman posted a $25 cash bond. She failed to appear in court the following day and the bond was ordered forfeited.

Mrs. Rose was arrested again on April 10, in Blue Island. Albert Holmberg, 11328 Prairie avenue, a Civil Works administration worker, saw a parked sedan bearing license plates which had been stolen from his car several days earlier. Notifying police, Holmberg waited until the driver, who was Mrs. Rose, returned to the machine and then signed a complaint against her.

Fails to Appear Again.

On April 12, when the case was called before Judge Green in the Stockyards court, Mrs. Rose once more failed to appear. A $50 bond which she had posted was ordered forfeited. A new bond of $2,000 was set and a capias issued for her arrest on charges of possessing stolen property.

Mrs. Rose denied yesterday that she had stolen Holmberg's license plates. She said that the plates had been obtained by her husband who is absent on a business trip in Iowa. Judge Green then pronounced his sentence explaining that he had issued the capias in order to be able to sentence the prisoner to jail. The charge of possessing fictitious license plates is a misdemeanor for which the maximum penalty is a $25 fine.

Suit Claims Firm Pays Al Smith, Others, Too Much

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Carew reserved decision today on an application by Alfred E. Smith and other directors of Gene Meenan, Inc., distributors of oil burners, to dismiss an action brought by Martin G. Charles, a stockholder. The suit seeks to return to the corporation of part of their salaries which are attacked as excessive. The other defendants are the Meenan Coal company, William F. Kenny, Eugene Meenan, Thomas A. Kenny, and Mr. Smith's son, Arthur W. Smith.

TWO SEIZED AS BURGLARS.

John Molanari, 3920 West Huron street, and Emil Polpavies, 3958 West Ohio street, who are believed to have burglarized seventy-five chain grocery stores within the last eight months, were arrested by police in Molanari's flat yesterday.

CHICAGO'S FAIR AGAIN LEADING U. S. IN RECOVERY

Industry Reacts to New Exposition.

cleaned up by opening day. Last year many of the buildings were uncompleted when the Fair opened.

The 1934 Fair will present a show costing in excess of $45,000,000. Of this sum $5,000,000 represents new construction, $2,000,000 alterations and improvements to existing buildings, and the balance the value of exhibits and buildings remaining from last summer.

Not only is the Fair taking the edge off the depression, but it is doing a greater service in showing the country that Chicago is a summer resort city. This was the message Mayor Kelly gave 100 business men who compose the Keep Chicago Ahead committee at a luncheon yesterday at the Chicago Athletic association.

The "I Will" Spirit.

"The Fair and the 'I Will' spirit expressed through everything connected with it," Mayor Kelly said, "is doing more than has been accomplished in the last 50 years. It is making Chicago what it should be.

"The whole city is benefiting from it, not just this year, but for a long time to come. Business was increased to such an extent last year that we hardly knew there was depression. The Fair and the confidence it created took the edge off the depression. It means a lot to the city to advertise the fact that we are getting somewhere."

Details of the plan whereby the committee is to boost the Fair and Chicago were announced at the luncheon. The program, already under way, includes advertising of the Fair on the radio, on billboards, in newspapers, and in 3,000 motion picture theaters in the United States. A budget of $500,000 has been raised by the Chicago merchants and will be expended at the direction of the committee.

REPORT TIBET, WITH NO DALAI LAMA, READY FOR RULE BY CHINA

CALCUTTA, April 18.—(P)—A grave situation in the isolated land of Tibet, following attempts to encourage the Panchen Lama to return from China and seize authority, was reported in advices today. Many Tibetans, the private advices indicated, are so dissatisfied with the present administration that they would welcome either the Panchen Lama as a Chinese viceroy or a complete Chinese sovereignty.

Reports from Lhasa, lofty capital of the remote land, also indicate that the Chinese government is definitly preparing to take advantage of recent Tibetan advances toward Chinese rule. Unrest seems certain unless a new Dalai Lama is definitely appointed to succeed the late ruler, who died in December.

Since 1924, when he was expelled by Dalai Lama, temporal and spiritual ruler of Tibet, the Panchen Lama has been in exile in China.

BOSTON TURNS UP A NEW CLEW IN LINDY KIDNAPING

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—Search for the gang which kidnaped and murdered Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. took a new turn today. It became known that a piece of jewelry worn by a counterfeiter when he was arrested in Boston had been purchased with part of the $50,000 ransom money paid through Dr. John F. [Jafsie] Condon in New York.

The prisoner against whom suspicion has been directed was reported to be William Lardner, 37 years old, although the federal officials active in the case refused to confirm either his identity or disclose the evidence against him.

Federal officials who have been active in the case in the past refused to discuss the new angle. But United States Marshal John J. Murphy in Boston said he wanted Dr. Condon to go to that city at once to attempt to identify a photograph of a suspect which was in his possession.

$100,000 VOTED FOR WORLD FAIR BY HOUSE, 106-9

Eight from Downstate and Chicagoan Oppose It.

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—Eight downstate representatives and one Chicagoan voted today against the $100,000 appropriation for Illinois' participation in A Century of Progress exposition, which opens next month. The Chicagoan was Charles J. Jenkins, Negro Republican. The bill passed 106 to 9.

Opposing the apropriation from downstate were George J. Bauer, [Dem., Effingham], John A. Bingham [Rep., Galena], Walter J. Bookwalter [Rep., Danville], Luther B. Bratton [Rep., Kankakee], Frank Porter [Dem., McLeansboro], W. V. Rush Rep., Metropolis], Elbert Waller [Rep., Tamaroa], and D. T. Woodard [Dem., Grayville].

Jenkins and other Negro members of the house were successful in obtaining passage of a bill several weeks ago which calls for a commission to investigate any racial discrimination at the Fair. He said that he voted against the appropriation today because Negroes were not being "treated fairly" in the hiring of employes for the reopening of the Exposition.

Fair Bill Reported to House.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—Already approved by the senate, legislation authorizing the funds needed to insure government participation in the Chicago World Fair this summer was reported to the house.

The house committee on library, headed by Representative Kent E. Keller [Dem., Ill.], voted unanimously to present the measure to the house. It calls for an appropriation of $405,000, which must be provided by the appropriations committee after the house has adopted the authorizing resolution. In addition to this amount of new funds, the appropriations committee will be asked to reappropriate $75,000 remaining unexpended out of the million dollars voted for federal exhibits at the Century of Progress last year.

Representative Keller said that he will not await an opportunity to call the house bill up on the floor, but will accept the identical measure put through the senate late yesterday by Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.]. In this way, he said, it will be possible to avoid any delay in getting consideration of the legislation.

World Fair Gets Right to Sell Liquor on Sundays

The south park board at a meeting yesterday granted permission to the World's Fair management for the sale of liquor on the Fair grounds on Sunday. Exposition officials, who had been granted the authority for the six week days, asked permission to sell liquor on Sundays also. There will be no bars at the Fair, according to the officials.

Tells Zion He's Ready for New Battle.

two seconds, and I'll do it if necessary."

To his own people, his adherents in Zion, he delivered a caustic criticism.

"There are damnable traitors here," he said. "They elected Farley. Every hell hound that voted for him ought to be shot at sunrise. What are you going to say to the Lord about what you did? The swine eaters and the cigaret smokers and the booze swillers are all against Voliva. God pity you people. You don't know what Voliva has in store for you."

Farley yesterday took the position that Zion was in the throes of a revolution. With a vigor which matched that of his wife, the bespectacled and ordinarily mild-appearing Farley declared:

"Voliva is through, even if he won't admit it. The people are fed up with his dominance and his insolence. He's ruled this community with an iron hand for 27 years, but now he's losing his hold on the people. His own followers are turning against him by the score and it won't be long before he loses those he has left."

Mr. Farley was indignant about the letter he received from the overseer on election day notifying him that he had been ousted from the church in which he had been an usher and a deacon.

"Voliva couldn't throw me out of the church," Farley said. "I quit it myself months ago. I haven't been inside the building for a year and a half."

Schools Work on Problem.

In the meantime, the work of providing education for the parochial school children who will not be taken back by Voliva was getting under way in Zion. Attorney Joseph Bishop, secretary of the public school board, reported that an informal meeting of that body had been held.

"Details will have to be worked out later," he said, "but the general scheme is to absorb the grade school children from the parochial school by holding a four hour session in the morning for half of the pupils, and another in the afternoon for the rest."

To do this, Mr. Bishop explained, sixteen of the twenty-five parochial school teachers will be drafted to help.

Meanwhile twelve high school students from the parochial school had reported to Supt. John W. Thalman of the Waukegan Township High school and enrolled there.

The newly elected members of the Zion school board, headed by Farley, will take office next Tuesday.

COURTNEY TELLS U. S. PROSECUTOR OF THEFT DRIVE

Coöperation of the United States government with the state in the drive on auto thieves was one of several subjects discussed yesterday in a conference between State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and United States Attorney Dwight H. Green. The government has promised to help in the war on auto thefts by prosecutions under the Dyer act, forbidding interstate transportation of stolen cars.

Mr. Courtney also reported after the conference that he had discussed the activities of eight hoodlums and two criminal lawyers who have been imposing on federal National Recovery Administration officials. These men, he said, represented themselves as union officials to the government agents.

STRAY SHOT HITS BOY AS POLICE BATTLE ROBBER

Norman Spears, 9 years old, 307 South Seeley avenue, suffered a slight wound in the left ear last night when he was caught between three policemen and a Negro robber battling with shotguns and pistols in Seeley avenue near Van Buren street.

The policemen, touring the section for the robber after he held up Jesse Smith, attendant of a gasoline station at 2759 Washington boulevard, came upon him at a filling station at Damen avenue and Jackson boulevard. He was in a large green automobile. Disobeying a command to surrender, the robber drove away. The policemen, Thomas Peters, Thorsten Doll, and James Hurley, pursued, firing.

When the chase led into Seeley avenue and then south, the robber fired back at his pursuers. It was not determined whether the police or the bandit wounded the Spears boy. The robber abandoned his car and escaped.

MRS. PICKLEY GETS TIRED OF DODGING SHOTS

It isn't so much that Mrs. Mary Pickley of 1150 West 79th street opposes her husband being in the beer business, but she is getting tired of dodging bullets aimed at him.

Mrs. Pickley explained this in her separate maintenance bill filed in Circuit court yesterday against Thomas Pickley, owner of a saloon at 4735 South Halsted street. The bill was filed by Attorney Norman Becker.

Mrs. Pickley stated in the bill that she is in constant fear of her life because of the hoodlums with whom she said Pickley associates. She added that on one occasion she narrowly escaped death when hoodlums riddled the Pickley home with machine gun bullets. She asks custody of the couple's one child, Dora, 10 years old.

After spending yesterday and the night before in the county jail because he either couldn't or wouldn't pay $80 in back alimony, Willard E. Powner, owner of the Charles T. Powner Publishing company, 621 Plymouth court, will get a chance to change his mind today. Judge Rudolph Desort committed Powner to jail on the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Ruby Riddiford Powner, who said that he refused to pay $20 a week to support their child. Powner said that he was broke, and his wife had plenty of money for the child, Suzanne. Today he will be brought back before Judge Desort.

Shreveport, La., April 18.—(AP)—An impressive display of armed force by local police, sheriff's deputies, and four companies of National Guardsmen today restored order in the vicinity of the eight story Caddo parish courthouse. An infuriated mob last night attempted to lynch Fred Lockhart, confessed slayer of Mae Giffin, 16 year old Shreveport schoolgirl.

Last remnants of the mob were dispersed before dawn with the arrival of the militia after hours of fisticuffs between local authorities and the yelling crowd, during which the angry demonstrators succeeded in pushing into the basement of the courthouse in their effort to reach the prison tiers on the seventh and eighth floors.

Scores of persons suffered minor injuries in the clash and more than a dozen arrests were made as the crowd hurled bricks and clubs and the police retaliated with tear gas bombs and threats to fire machine guns mounted on staircases.

James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri, who was counsel for Dr. William A. Wirt in the hearing before a congressional committee on the Gary educator's charges against the brain trust, arrived in Chicago yesterday. He is en route from Washington to his home in Kansas City, Mo.

He said the committee hearing on the Wirt charges had been "gagged" and that if the inquiry had not been hampered he could have shown that Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture and head of the brain trust, and other government officials are advocating doctrines of a revolutionary character.

"I don't know how extensive this revolutionary movement is," Mr. Reed said, "but I do know that many persons in high governmental positions have such views. I don't know how far the movement is going to go in this country. I shudder when I think of the possibilities."

ALD. NELSON IS WITNESS; DENIES RACKET CHARGE

Tells His Part in Laundry Organization.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

JOSEPH IWANIEC.

Ald. Oscar Nelson [46th] took the witness stand yesterday afternoon in Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan's court and denied that he was in any way involved in any racket conspiracy as is charged by the state in the case against Ald. Nelson and 17 codefendants. The alderman, who has already announced himself as a Republican mayoralty candidate, was a surprise witness, because the attorneys had almost decided that his appearance would be postponed for another day.

Earlier in the day the courtroom had drawn a capacity crowd to hear the story of the principal defendant in the trial. However, as the trial proceeded, with indications that the alderman's appearance would be postponed, the crowd started to melt away.

The alderman, a powerful man above the average height, talked with ease as he went over his life's history under the questioning of Defense Attorney Floyd Thompson.

Manner of an Orator.

As the defendant reached the part of his story in which he denied any part in the conspiracy he waved his arms in the manner of a political orator trying to sway his audience to his point of view. The jurors in the case listened intently to the witness, who spoke in tones easily heard throughout the room.

Ald. Nelson said his legal representation of the Chicago Laundry Wagon and Dye House Drivers' union, local No. 712, was handled only as any other attorney would have handled such a task. The contract, providing that the laundry owners should pay $1 per week per truck, to be turned over to the union to organize rival hand laundries, was not a violation of the law, the alderman said. The prosecution charges that this fund was used to pay off gangsters who were trying to break into the union.

Tells Story of Murder.

Before Ald. Nelson's appearance on the witness stand the spectators were thrilled by the story of Joseph Bush Iwaniec, president of the Laundry Wagon Drivers' union, regarding the murder of John Clay in 1928.

Iwaniec testified that Clay, treasurer of the union, was shot down while the executive board of the union was holding a meeting in headquarters at 629 South Ashland avenue. An unseen machine gunner did the job, Iwaniec said.

"Suddenly we heard what sounded like rapid discharge of firecrackers and Clay fell backward in his chair, his body riddled with bullets," said Iwaniec.

The witness then told of how Paddy Berrell, an official of a teamsters' union, who was later slain, was called in to try to drive out the hoodlums by the payment of money. He said the union finally agreed to give Berrell $5,000 to give to the hoodlums to leave the union alone. The state later traced this money to Murray Humphreys when he used it to purchase an automobile in Kenosha, Wis., for his wife.

Following Iwaniec's dramatic story Ald Nelson was called to the stand because the defense ran out of witnesses. At the end of the direct examination Ald. Nelson emphatically denied knowing Al Capone or Murray Humphreys or having any dealings with them.

Alderman Takes Oath.

Ald. Nelson walked to the witness stand briskly and raised his hand to take the oath.

After giving his address as 3500 Lake Shore drive, and saying he was born on Sept. 29, 1884, in Chicago, the alderman told of beginning his working career at the age of 10 years as a newsboy. He quit school, he said, in the 7th grade, and started to work in a department store. From that position he went to work in the postoffice, which gave him his first opportunity to enter the labor field.

He was questioned as follows by Attorney Thompson.

Q.—When did you become interested in the labor movement? A.—I went to work in the postoffice in 1902 and helped to organize the Postal Clerks' union in 1903. I was elected president in 1903 and held that position to 1910. In 1910 I was elected national president and legislative delegate.

Q.—Was there any salary to the local position? A.—No, I was a clerk doing a day's work every day as a clerk.

The alderman then told of his work for the union in Washington, which gave him legislative experience. In 1913 he was given his first political job, being appointed state factory inspector. In 1917, he said, he was appointed federal commissioner of conciliation in the settlement of labor disputes. He told of the year spent in this position and finally of his election in the city council in April, 1923. In the meantime, he said, he studied law and passed the bar examination.

It was at this point that Ald. Nelson told of his affiliation with the Laundry and Dye House Drivers' union, which resulted in his present indictment. He first was retained as attorney, he said, at $200 a month.

Tells of Laundry Fight.

The alderman told of efforts made by the laundry owners to put hand laundries out of business, which were operating in violation of the health laws in tenement and dwelling buildings.

"Members of the city council had a habit of ordering the health commissioner to issue licenses for laundries at specified addresses," he said. "I protested on these violations of the law."

Ald. Nelson said that for seven or eight weeks he was treasurer of the union, after John Clay, the treasurer, had been shot down in headquarters by hoodlums.

"I was in Havana, Cuba, at the time and I received a long distance call asking that I take the job because every one else was afraid," he said. "I said I would take the job only until some one else could be obtained for the position. At the time I was about to go into an aldermanic campaign."

It was at this point that Ald. Nelson told of his part in the wage agreement between the laundry owners and the drivers, which is the basis for the present indictment.

Questioned on Wage Scale.

Q.—Did you have anything to do with the amended wage scale? (This is the document on which the prosecution is basing its case.) A.—Yes. Mr. Bendel, an official of the union, called it to my attention. He said the contract was drawn by Attorney Aaron Sapiro. He said the union wanted me to look the contract over. This was about June 25, 1932.

Q.—What did you do about the contract? A.—I went over it, paragraph by paragraph, with the union officials. They said that although it called for a 25 per cent salary cut it established certain commission and working concessions which meant about a 10 or 12 per cent cut. The thing they were most pleased with was the provision that the owners would stop the cash and carry stores and would bring about the reëmployment of more drivers.

Q.—Did the contract have any provision for the payment of $16 per week by the laundry owners for each truck? A.—No, it provided for the unions and the owners to coöperate to organize the hand laundries and that the owners would stand the expense, but no amount was specified.

Changes Wording of Contract.

Ald. Nelson said he went over the contract and saw no objections, but that he did make some changes in language. These were later submitted to Attorney Sapiro and accepted.

Q.—Did you have any talk with Sapiro about the organizing of the hand laundries at the expense of the owners? A.—Yes, I told him it was unusual to make such a provision in a labor agreement. He said the organization of the hand laundries depended on the union drivers. Sapiro further said he wanted the provision set out in the agreement so that the whole world would know what was being done.

The alderman then told of attending the union meeting on July 5, 1932, at which the agreement was ratified by the unionists. He was there, he said, in a legal capacity, but was not called on to make any legal decisions.

Q.—Did you subsequently attend a meeting of the owners at the Palmer house on July 8 of that year? A.—I did not.

Recalls Charge Against Union.

Q.—Did any one call to your attention an article in an afternoon newspaper in which Judge Olson [former Judge Harry Olson] was quoted? A.—Yes, Mr. Bendel called me and told me that the article quoted Judge Olson as saying that the union was controled by gangsters. He wanted to know if we could sue the judge. I told him we could or we could sue the newspaper if the statements were not true. But I said you would get nowhere suing.

Q.—What did you do about the article? A.—I called Judge Olson on the telephone and laughingly told him that my union clients wanted me to sue him for slander. He said he never said any such thing as appeared in the paper. I told him that all of the union officials came up from the ranks of the drivers and were not gangsters. I invited him to meet them.

Q.—Did he meet them? A.—Yes, he came to my office the next day and I introduced him to the various union officials. Mr. Sapiro was there and said something to Judge Olson about him saying at the meeting that Capone controled teamster unions.

Q.—What was said about that? A.—Well, they had a little tiff about it, but finally laughed and everything was O. K.

Tells Attack on Hostetter.

Ald. Nelson then told of attending a later meeting of the laundry owners at which they ratified the new wage agreement. At this meeting, he said, he made an attack on Gordon L. Hostetter, director of the Employers' association, who formerly was secretary of the Laundry Owners' association. He repeated in court, despite the objections of the prosecution, the statements he said he made about Hostetter. The defendants charge that the present prosecution is inspired by the Employers' association. The union members refused to negotiate a new wage agreement while Hostetter was with the laundry association.

"I said that Hostetter was a union buster by profession," the alderman testified. "I said the Employers' association is a racket pure and simple. I charged that Hostetter was head of a detective agency used for strike breaking. I also said I invited Hostetter to sue me for slander if my statements are not true."

The alderman ended his story by an emphatic denial that he was engaged in any conspiracy or that he had any knowledge of the disposition of the $1 per week per truck collected from laundries, which amounted to some $48,000 before it was discontinued. The prosecution charges that this money went to gangsters.

Questioned on Gangsters.

The alderman was questioned regarding possible acquaintanceship with gangsters.

Q.—Do you know Al Capone? A.—No, but I was in a room wih him once. [Referring to the time they were both in the office of the late Attorney General Edward J. Brundage when the latter was a candidate for governor.]

Q.—Did you ever have any conversation with him? A.—None in my life.

He made similar denials regarding Humphreys and Dave Ostran, who are named codefendants in the case, but are fugitives.

Q.—Did you ever conspire to do any of the things as charged in this indictment? A.—I have not; that applies to each and every count.

The alderman ended his story by saying he had nothing to do with any strikes called in the laundry industry. He said he had no knowledge of the disposition of about $48,000 collected by the union under the arrangement whereby the laundry owners paid $1 a week per truck. The state charges that this money went to gangsters.

BID ON SUBWAYS AT DEADLY RAIL GRADE CROSSINGS

One Project at Glenview, One at Oak Forest.

Bids for the construction of subways at two railroad grade crossings, known as the most dangerous in Cook county, were opened yesterday by the Illinois state highway division at Springfield. The crossings are at the intersection of Waukegan road and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad tracks, near Glenview, and the intersection of 159th street and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad tracks at Oak Forest.

The intersection near Glenview is designated by state engineers and traffic experts as the county's "bloodiest grade crossing." In the last eight years 27 persons have been killed in automobile accidents at this crossing. The tracks cross the road at a sharp angle and oncoming trains are not immediately visible to motorists.

View of Trains Blocked.

At the Oak Forest crossing, where nearly as many automobile tragedies have occurred, the tracks also cross the road at a sharp angle, and motorists have difficulty in seeing the trains because of woods and houses near the intersection.

Another deadly crossing in the county is the intersection of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks and River road in Des Plaines. No bids have yet been asked for improvement of this crossing.

Low Bidders on Work.

The low bidder on the contract for the improvement of the Glenview crossing is the Paquette Engineering corporation of Chicago, which gave its estimate as $96,290. The low bidder for the construction at Oak Forest is the concern of L. Balkin Builders, Inc., which submitted an estimate of $33,986. Neither of the bids has been accepted officially. The work will be paid for with funds from the Public Works administration allotment for Illinois.

Pair Sentenced for Theft of Two Adding Machines

Otto Svoboda, 35 years old, and Frank Narowitz, 42 years old, of Fox River Grove, pleaded guilty before Judge Edward D. Shurtleff at Woodstock yesterday to a charge of larceny. Each was sentenced to one to ten years in the state penitentiary. The men were arrested in Fox River Grove last December by Chief of Police Joseph Bohman, who found them in possession of two adding machines that had been stolen from the office of the Cook county assessor.

Roosevelt Resumes Efforts to Settle Rail Wage Dispute

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today resumed his efforts to settle the smoldering railroad wage dispute.

At a lengthy conference with executives of six leading railroads, the President again heard the management put forth its side of the argument. No decision was reached, and railroad labor leaders will be called to the White House as the next step in the negotiations which were interrupted two weeks ago by the President's fishing excursion.

Earlier in the day President Roosevelt had let it be known that he wants congress to enact at this session some sort of permanent mediation and arbitration machinery through which all labor disputes can be handled.

Agrees with Purpose.

Without indorsing the Wagner labor disputes bill, which strikes at company-dominated unions and sets up a labor court, the President said that he agreed with its general purpose. He said that he would like to see a bill embodying that purpose become law before congress adjourns.

Reports that railroad employers and employés had agreed to a 5 per cent wage cut, replacing the 10 per cent cut now in effect, were denied by Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific railroad, at the conclusion of the White House conference.

"The general railroad situation is improving," said Mr. Gray in response to inquiries. "It is better in the first two months than it was in the same period of last year.

Sees Mediator Board Action.

Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation, said it was possible that the wage dispute would go to the United States board of mediation.

"I do not think there is much danger of a strike," he said in response to inquiries.

Forger of Money Order Gets Year in Prison

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday sentenced H. Raymond Spencer, 32 years old, to one year and one day in the Leavenworth penitentiary. Spencer pleaded guilty to charges of forging a postoffice money order. Assistant United States District Attorney Edward A. Fisher informed the judge that Spencer will face charges of forgery in the criminal courts here when he is released. Recently Spencer was released from the Bridewell after serving a six month sentence for inducing young women to pose for nude photographs.

HORNER'S VETO STANDS ATTACK OF REPUBLICANS

State Retains Use of Tax on Liquor.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—[Special.] Republicans in the Illinois house tried hard today to override Gov. Horner's veto of the bill to divert liquor tax revenue to the schools, but the best they could do was muster 70 of the 107 required votes.

Fourteen Democrats voted with the 56 Republicans who tried to kill the veto. Voting to sustain the veto were 34 Democrats and one lone Republican, Representative A. O. Galvin of Chicago.

The 35 who stood with the governor today are expected to be joined with a number of those who were in favor of beating the veto when the administration's bill diverting gasoline tax revenue to the schools reaches third reading. Perhaps enough to give the governor's plan 77 votes may be garnered, but the prospects of 102 votes, to give the bill emergency effect, are very slim.

Republicans Lead Debate.

Much debate attended the session today. It was remarked that Republicans did most of the talking, all going after the veto with a will. Democratic chieftains, such as Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago and Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, the governor's floor leaders, did their best to fend off the attacks. They were able to keep most of the Democrats present in line. There was a relatively small attendance, only about 115 of the 150 members being present.

When their attempt to defeat the veto had been beaten, the Republicans rested and allowed the gas tax diversion bill to go to second reading without objection. It probably will be advanced to third tomorrow. The big fight will come next week when it is up for passage.

Representative David I. Swanson of Chicago, one of the sponsors of the liquor tax diversion bill, led the attack today. He asked that the veto be overridden so that the state school fund could begin to benefit immediately by collection of the liquor taxes.

State Needs Liquor Taxes.

Representative Adamowski countered with a repetition of the stand the governor took when he issued the veto yesterday—that the state needed the liquor revenue for operating expenses. Mr. Sinnett charged the Republicans with playing politics, knowing that they wouldn't get the necessary 102 votes for their motion.

As the debate flew back and forth for almost an hour, Republican speakers outnumbered the Democrats about three to one. At last the roll call began, but it was interrupted many times by explanations of voters.

When the 70 votes had been tallied, Swanson moved to suspend further consideration in the hopes that enough members might be present next week to make up the 102 votes. Speaker Roe sustained a point of order objecting to this procedure and ruled that a motion to suspend a roll call on a veto could not be permitted. The vote was then announced and with it passed the last chance of diverting liquor revenue to the school fund this special session.

Another Veto Read.

Another veto message sent in three weeks ago was also read to the house today. The governor disapproved the Devine bill allowing beer to be sold over bars without food. Although some half-hearted attempts to defeat that veto appeared, it was finally decided to wait until more members were present. Most members believed that this veto will also stand.

Gov. Horner vetoed the beer bill because he felt that it smacked too much of the old time saloon. He sent the message to the house three weeks ago but a quorum was not present so the reading had to be postponed.

SENATE DEFEATS CANAL DISTRICT WASTE TAX BILL

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—[Special.] —The Chicago sanitary district's bill which would permit it to charge for the treatment of industrial waste was beaten decisively in the state senate late today. It received only 5 votes while 21 senators were against it.

The measure was fought by the Chicago packers and the Illinois Manufacturers' association on the grounds that it would permit the district to assess charges against all sorts of businesses large and small.

The district engineers claimed that they needed additional revenue to treat waste because of the United States Supreme court decision reducing the flow of water from Lake Michigan.

HORNER'S CIVIL SERVICE RECORD HIT IN SENATE

Charge 4,100 Workers Have Been Fired.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—[Special.] —Republicans in the state senate sponsored a resolution today asking that the civil service commission inform the legislature how many civil service employés have been discharged by the Horner administration. The resolution was introduced by Thomas P. Gunning [Rep., Princeton] at the request of the caucus which adopted it, it was claimed, by a unanimous vote.

Senator Roy C. Woods of Chicago was authority for the statement that 4,100 civil service employés had been discharged by the administration up to last July 1. "And they have been firing them steadily since then," he charged.

The preamble to the document stated that thousands of civil service employés had been discharged since Gov. Horner's inaugural and that the civil service commission "has done little or nothing to protect civil service laws." It called attention to the governor's inaugural address in which he declared he was a "firm believer" in civil service and promised that "its protection should be extended as widely as is consistent with efficient service."

Another section charged the governor "has seemingly forgotten his pledge in favor of civil service and has permitted these raids upon the civil service of the state to be made."

An attempt will be made to pass the resolution tomorrow.

BOY KIDNAPER TELLS HIS STORY BEFORE DOCTORS

Plans to Curb Youthful Delinquents Told.

Criminal courts, school board authorities, and civic groups yesterday continued their efforts to prevent any repetition of the tragedy which last week claimed the life of Dorette Zietlow, 2½ years old. Dorette was kidnaped by George Rogalski, 13 years old, and abandoned in a stable. She died later of hunger and exposure.

The young kidnaper, who has been declared a "moral imbecile" but legally sane and of high intellectual capacity, was subjected to a new mental examination by Dr. Harry Hoffman, Criminal court psychiatrist, and a group of six experts in mental diseases who are in Chicago attending the convention of the American College of Physicians.

Boy Tells His Story.

With boyish candor George discussed the death of Dorette, the impulses which caused him to take the child to the stable where she was found dying two days later, the urges which led him to tear the clothing of two other girls, and of his own home life. Asked why he had been curious about little girls the boy repeated his earlier statements: "I don't know—something inside of me, I can't tell you what."

The medical experts were Dr. Karl Rothschild, director of mental hygiene of New Brunswick, N. J.; Dr. Jessie Patterson-Janjigian, director of the mental health clinic of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Dr. William Bertolet of Reading, Pa.; Dr. P. H. Dale of Pennsylvania State college; Dr. J. S. Brown of Lewiston, Pa.; and Dr. C. E. Ervin of Danville, Pa. Present during the examination was the boy's attorney, Thaddeus C. Toudor.

After the examination was completed the physicians announced that their findings would be given to Dr. Hoffman later. They refused to comment upon the youth, although one of the doctors said that he had the physique of a "potential football star." They agreed that he had a "mental condition."

Put Plan Before Alienists.

The efforts made by school board authorities were made public by Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan. He disclosed that a tentative plan for curbing delinquency in the schools had been put before a group of psychiatrists who are advising the school board.

The plan is similar to the system used for ten years in Berkeley, Cal., and recently adopted by the Los Angeles schools, Mr. Bogan said. He also asserted that the plan has been approved by leading sociologists.

Procedure under the Berkeley plan, Mr. Bogan explained, calls for a survey of pupils by means of questionnaires prepared by psychiatrists. A study of the answers to the questionnaires and reports to be furnished by classroom teachers will enable the psychiatrists to discover the children who would be considered as mental cases and also will point out those children who are introverts with criminal tendencies which would not appear in school classrooms.

Plan Survey of Schools.

Following the survey the school system is divided into districts, in each of which a child guidance council is chosen. The members will include representatives of the school, the courts, the police, and the social service agencies. The district councils are coördinated through a central council which is to be used as a clearing house for all juvenile records.

The council will recommend clinical treatment for all child mental cases and would assign supervisors to see that the child gets full treatment and to make periodic reports on cases after treatment is begun. The possession of all mental case records by such a central council would prevent such happenings as the Rogalski case, in which the tendencies of the boy, who was a ward of the Juvenile court, were not known to the school authorities.

Members of the school board engaged in spirited debate over the proposed school mental tests at their regular meeting yesterday. Mrs. W. S. Hefferan charged that existing conditions such as precipitated the Rogalski case must in part be attributed to the action of the board in assigning two schools to one principal and eliminating high school deans.

Trustee Joseph P. Savage replied, declaring that teachers were the best qualified to select children needing mental aid and that it is the duty of the state to provide treatment. "The function of the schools is to educate normal children," he said. "We haven't equipment in our child study bureau now, and we never have had, to properly care for mental cases. The staf, including Dr. MacMillan, isn't trained to handle such cases."

Dr. MacMillan, who heads the conference of psychiatrists, yesterday announced the appointment of Dr. Ralph C. Hammill, Dr. Meyer Solomon, Dr. Louis J. Pollock, and Dr. A. S. Hershfield as chairmen of subcommittees which will study treatment of school mental cases. The chairmen will select committee members and begin work this week, he said.

Demands Ouster of Official.

Meanwhile Attorney Louis Rockwell of St. Charles, member of an American Legion investigating committee which surveyed conditions in the school for boys there demanded that Robert F. Havlik, managing officer in the school be replaced. The attorney charged that the committee found youths with criminal tendencies are housed with youths who are merely delinquents or homeless.

"The hardened criminal youths should be segregated from other inmates and criminal types should be barred in the future," the report said.

Havlik yesterday asserted that no investigating committee had ever appeared at the school. "People who know this kind of work say that a pretty good job is being done here," he said.

Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, yesterday asked the board of education to study charges of his organization that salacious literature is being sold to children by stores in school areas and that the stores permit children to use their gambling devices. The situation is particularly bad in the region of the Langland school, where George Rogalski was a pupil, Mr. Yarrow said.

SALOONKEEPER LOSES LICENSE FOR SELLING LIQUOR TO GIRL, 15

The city liquor license of Fred Badalamente, operator of a saloon at 645 South Clark street, was revoked and he was placed on a year's probation yesterday on a charge of selling liquor to a 15 year old girl. Mrs. Emily Kazadailis, 1009 West 19th street, the complaining witness before Judge Gibson E. Gorman, testified that Badalamente had sold liquor to her daughter, Emily. Badalamente said he had poor eyesight and couldn't distinguish between minors and adults.

TROOPS GUARD ALABAMA MINES AS PICKET DIES

Violence Flares in Strike Affecting 21,000.

Birmingham, Ala., April 18.—(AP)— Steel helmeted National Guardsmen tonight kept watch at Porter, where they were rushed late today when reports were received here that a mob was marching on the mine, a trouble center for the past ten days.

The threat to Porter mine, operated by the Adams, Rowe and Norman corporation, diverted attention from the Red Diamond company's mine near Leeds where earlier today a picket was killed, one miner seriously wounded and another peppered with birdshot from ambush.

It was the second time within two months that National Guardsmen have mounted guard over the Porter mine, and only this morning Sherif James F. Hawkins and 10 picked deputies persuaded several hundred striking miners there to disperse.

Injunction Expires Today.

The mine has been in partial production until today, since Federal Judge C. B. Kennamer granted a temporary stay against enforcement of the NRA amendment to the bituminous coal code, raising wages from $3.40 to $4.60 per day. The injunction expires tomorrow, but an extension until Monday has been asked.

Carson Adams, member of the firm operating the Porter mine, said today when the group dispersed they shouted "We'll be back with 12,000 men tomorrow and enough artillery to keep this mine from running."

Two groups, union and nonunion, exchanged 25 or 30 shots near the Porter shaft this morning, but none was injured. A total of 21,000 miners are idle in the state.

Approximately 175 troopers of the National Guard were under arms at the armory here tonight, waiting for an emergency that would send them into the field to strengthen the force of 250 special deputies now seeking to maintain order.

Spike Water Main Plot.

The troopers were mobilized at the request of Sherif Hawkins, who was informed of a sabotage plot against the water mains of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company's industrial system at Edgewater.

The troops were sent to Edgewater but after dispersing a group of pickets were sent back to the armory.

Brig. Gen. John C. Pearsons later at the request of Gov. B. M. Miller ordered two additional companies to mobilize and move here to await orders.

The clash in which a Negro picket was killed occurred at the Red Diamond Coal company's mine near Leeds.

THREE UNDER ARREST AFTER MINER'S DEATH IN KINCAID ELECTION

Taylorville, Ill., April 18. — (AP) — Peace reigned along the Midland coal field today, with mines working on regular schedule. But two men were near death in a Taylorville hospital and three were under arrest for last night's fatal rioting at Kincaid and Bulpitt.

A United Mine Worker, William Core of Taylorville, was killed in inter-union clashes growing out of the defeat of the Progressive ticket for village trustees at Kincaid.

There was no change in the critical condition of Frank Angenendt and Sam Ronchetti, both of Kincaid, who were shot and wounded with three others. Ronchetti was a member of the Progressive Miners of America.

Paul Pruett and Joe Sutphin, special policemen at Kincaid, were arrested today on charges of assault with intent to commit murder. Four others were taken into custody last night, three of them before the rioting.

Prof. Jas. W. Young Named to Indian Post by Ickes

Prof. James W. Young of the University of Chicago, an authority on the Indians of the southwest, has been named by Secretary of the Interior Ickes as chairman of a committee on Indian arts and crafts. The work of the committee, it was explained, is to promote a public interest in Indian handicraft and work up a market for such products.

Avoid Laxatives that Constipate you!

Physicians Warn Against Irritating Drugs

Do you know that there's a common ailment generally referred to by physicians as "cathartic constipation"?

Medicine-laxatives cause it. Most of them work by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract—an unnatural method.

Soon the intestinal muscles refuse to respond to an ordinary dose . . . compel you to take more and more. Before you know it, the laxative-constipation habit has you in its grip!

Nature Demands a Flush

(The Water Way)

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. That's because the proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—promptly opens the pylorus valve leading from the stomach, permitting the flush to enter the intestines and complete its work without anxious hours of waiting.

Shake off Asthenia!

If you feel achy, listless, only half-alive, that is nature's warning of Asthenia—a condition usually caused by the poisons of constipation. The famous ten-day Pluto Water treatment ends it promptly—makes you feel like a different person.

FIND INFANTILE PARALYSIS PERIL IS IN INTESTINE

Doctors Hear New Theory of Disease.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

If President Roosevelt had fought off an attack of dysentery or typhoid fever the year before the virus of infantile paralysis entered his body he might have been spared his courageous battle against the ravages of paralysis. This was implied by a new theory of the ailment presented yesterday before the convention of the American College of Physicians at the Palmer house.

Dr. John A. Toomey, professor of contagious diseases at Western Reserve university in Cleveland, presented the theory, backed by clinical records and extensive laboratory experimentation on monkeys.

The theory is that the actual damage to nerves which paralyzes arms and legs is not caused by the infantile paralysis virus which scientists believe to be the primary cause of the disease, but by poisons generated by relatively common bacteria which most of us have present most of the time in our digestive tracts. The infantile paralysis virus merely acts as an advance agent for the intestinal poisons, or toxins, opening a path for them to attack the nerves.

New Theory of Entrance.

The accepted theory has long been that infantile paralysis enters the body through the nose. Dr. Toomey believes, and his experiments have demonstrated fairly conclusively, that it may also be introduced to the human system through the gastro-intestinal [digestive] tract.

Furthermore, he believes that when the disease enters through the nose, no damage is done until the virus has traveled down the spinal cord to the intestinal tract and effected a meeting with its bacterial allies there.

To enter the body, it has been established, the virus of infantile paralysis must attack nerves of an uncovered fiber type. The nose, the lungs and the gastro-intestinal tract have nerves of this type. But if the virus attacked the lungs, a type of pneumonia would result, and this is not found in infantile paralysis.

Experiments with Monkeys.

Therefore only the nose and the gastro-intestinal tract remain open to consideration. By inoculating monkeys with the virus, Dr. Toomey demonstrated that the disease can be produced in either manner. But he found that when inoculation was through the nose it took six or seven days for symptoms to manifest themselves.

Entering the nose, the virus travels through the brain and down the spinal cord. Another fact, demonstrated by other experimenters, also interested Dr. Toomey. This was that in traveling down the spinal cord, the virus naturally reaches the nerves controling the arms before it gets to those controling the legs. But the paralysis is always in the legs first, and only in more severe cases does it spread later to the arms.

From this Dr. Toomey concluded that somewhere in the lower spinal region the virus must pick up, for the first time, its terrible power to cripple the limbs. Searching for the source of this power he came upon another fact.

Another Interesting Fact.

This is that in the geographical region where dysentery, typhoid fever, and similar diseases caused by bacteria in the intestinal tract abound, infantile paralysis, while not unknown, is rare. China's teeming millions are especially subject to intestinal diseases, due principally to insanitary living conditions. But at the Peiping Union Medical college only one patient out of 25,000 admitted has had infantile paralysis.

Gastro-intestinal diseases are also much more prevalent in the southern United States than in the north, but there, too, infantile paralysis is less prevalent. Investigators have examined residents of the southern states and have found that while they had never had infantile paralysis, the anti-bodies which the virus sets up were present in their blood.

In other words, the virus must have entered their bodies, but it did them no harm.

Body Sets Up Anti-Toxins.

It is common knowledge, even to laymen, that as the human body fights any disease, it sets up some substance, usually an anti-toxin, which combats the agent causing the disease. That explains the anti-bodies found in the people examined in the south. Those anti-toxins or other combative agents remain in the body after the disease has subsided, and through their presence give the body immunity for a certain period, sometimes for life, to that particular disease.

Those, then, were the facts, in a rough way, with which Dr. Toomey had to work. This was his theory—that while gastro-intestinal diseases may not build up a specific immunity to infantile paralysis, they apparently do remove from the body something which the virus of paralysis needs to make it deadly. That something, he reasoned, must be the organisms which cause dysentery, typhoid fever, or other disease, since they are relatively few after such a disease subsides.

He Tests Out His Theory.

Perhaps those organisms, he then reasoned, were the deadly partners of the infantile paralysis virus. He tested his theory by extensive laboratory experiments. He found it, he announced yesterday, to be essentially true.

Infantile paralysis, he now believes, opens the path for the toxins generated by the intestinal bacteria. It opens a path out of the intestines so that the toxin can attack and sometimes destroy the nerves controlling the limbs.

"If that is true," Dr. Toomey was asked, "isn't it possible that in the future the scourge of infantile paralysis may be lifted by some method of immunizing the intestinal tract against the bacteria which, so to speak, furnish the disease's ammunition?"

"Perhaps that is true," he smiled. "But we're not ready to talk about that yet."

Annual Convocation Held.

The College of Physicians held its annual convocation last evening, at which new fellows were inducted into membership. The principal speaker was Dr. Grant Fleming, director of the department of public health and preventive medicine of McGill university in Montreal.

Dr. Fleming pointed out that a wide gap exists today between medical knowledge, enhanced by progress in science and medical practice, by which that knowledge is made available to all the public. As a remedy for this condition he urged consideration of some form of national health insurance.

Such a plan, he said, would extend to the lower income classes the benefits of modern medicine which they too often are unable to buy when sudden illness strikes and finds them without a budget for medical care. Dr. Fleming also urged that the cost of medical care of the indigent be lifted from the shoulders of the medical profession by the government's payment of health insurance premiums for present charity patients.

Urges Two Separate Phases.

The medical profession should not tolerate an interference by the insuring agent, governmental or otherwise, between doctor and patient in the medical phases of operation of such a plan, he declared. At the same time, he urged, the profession should not try to dictate the financial management of such a plan.

He likewise urged that any health insurance plan provide as its benefits only the cost of medical care, hospitalization, and allied services, without any reimbursement for wages lost through illness.

Dr. George Morris Piersol of Philadelphia, president of the college, pointed out in his presidential address that specialization of medical practice has brought about a situation in which any practitioner can set himself up as a specialist without satisfying any board or examining body as to his qualifications. Dr. Piersol urged some method of qualifying specialists.

PURPORTED POLITICAL OFFER TO FIX TAXES READ IN LEGISLATURE

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—Representative Leroy M. Green of Rockford, a Republican, today read to the Illinois house from a letter which Green said apparently was written to Democratic precinct captains of Chicago's 8th ward by James J. Sullivan, the ward committeeman. The letter read:

"Dear friend:

"You probably know that the personal property bills are now in the mail in your neighborhood. We do not definitly know just what can be done with them. However, I advise you to pick up the bills and anything under $25 we can most likely take care of; even if they are over $25 we can probably have a compromise made when the matter comes up in court through the state's attorney's office, which, of course, is friendly to us at this time.

"Very truly yours,
"JAMES J. SULLIVAN,
"Committeeman, 8th ward.

"P. S.—This should afford an opportunity to make many valuable friends in your precinct."

"Now," said Green, "I have been told that there are 800,000 personal property bills in Chicago ranging from $20 to $25. That totals $18,000,000. If this letter is representative, it should be seen that no real effort to collect taxes is being made."

The letter was read to the house in connection with Green's effort to pass a bill which would withhold gasoline tax revenue from any county delinquent in its payment of state taxes until the amount of the deficit had been made up. The bill was defeated.

SEIZE ENGINEER AND WIFE; CHECK FRAUD CHARGED

G. W. Brown, a mining engineer, and his wife, Rilena, were arrested last night in their apartment in the Sherwin hotel, 1201 Sherwin avenue, on charges of issuing fraudulent checks totaling $245. The arrests were made by Chicago police and Sherif Lester P. Tiffany of Lake county on warants issued at Waukegan.

The complainant was Martin Victor Jr., head of Victor Brothers, furriers at 368 Central avenue, Highland Park.

Mrs. Brown said, however, that she and her husband had stopped payment on the checks because the furriers had not properly repaired a caracul coat she had left with them.

The Browns were released on bonds of $300 each by Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt at Waukegan, who set their arraignment for April 28. Mrs. Brown was formerly married to Morton J. Traub, an investment broker, who was fatally wounded in September, 1930, when a shotgun he was cleaning was accidentally discharged.

German Mob Raids Office of Catholic Newspaper

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MANNHEIM, Germany, April 17.—A riotous crowd howling "Down with Catholic newspapers" today mobbed the office of the Neue Mannheimer Volksblatt, smashed its windows, snatched copies of the paper from show windows and scattered them in the streets. Police took into custody four members of the Volksblatt's editorial staf for their own protection from mob violence.

JUNE 4 ELECTION CONSOLIDATION HITS OBSTACLES

Jarecki Rules All Polling Places Must Be Open.

New difficulties arose yesterday in the plan to reduce the number of polling places in the county for the June 4 election and thus save $150,000 for the taxpayers. The law permits such a consolidation when there is no election contest. Committees from the Republican and Democratic parties, however, have been unable to agree on the withdrawal of two Municipal court candidates, which would eliminate the only contest in the judicial race.

Another obstacle to the proposal to consolidate precinct polling places was raised by County Judge Jarecki in connection with the vote on the proposition to lengthen the term of aldermen from two to four years, which is scheduled for June 4. Judge Jarecki declared that all polling places must be opened to handle the aldermanic proposal.

May Need State Legislation.

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board of election commissioners, said it might be necessary to obtain legislation in order to postpone consideration of the aldermanic proposition to the November elections. William Corboy, assistant attorney for the election board, began a study of the statutes and said he hoped to have an opinion ready today. Another suggestion was that the aldermen rescind the council action on the referendum in order to defer it until November.

George Ross, secretary to Patrick A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county central committee, said he did not expect any withdrawals among the four candidates nominated for the two vacancies in the Municipal court. He declared that the only question was whether the candidates would agree to a regrouping of the precinct polling places.

Illegal, Says Tyrrell.

This proposal was termed illegal by John F. Tyrrell, chairman of the Republican county managing committee.

"Every voter has a right to vote in his own precinct," Tyrrell said. "The only way to work out the problem is by withdrawals, and this is a simple solution. The Democrats are taking on a serious responsibility if they make the opening of every polling place necessary."

In the primaries former Judge George B. Holmes, Republican; and Stephen Adamowski, Democrat; were nominated for a six month term on the Municipal bench, and William J. Mannion, Republican, and former Judge Erwin J. Hasten, Democrat, were nominated for a two year term.

SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE CASH; HOPE FOR PAY DAY FOR TEACHERS

Prospects of a pay day for Chicago's teachers were brightened last night when County Superintendent of Schools Otto F. Aken announced that he would turn over $713,300 to the school board today. The money represents Chicago's share from the state school distributive fund. Approximately $178,330 more will be distributed to the county school systems, Mr. Aken said.

Unless a pay day is provided by the end of this month, the school teachers and other board employés will be $30,000,000 in arrears in salaries. School officials declared last night that every effort was being made to provide enough cash to meet the June, 1933, pay roll of $2,300,000.

The state school distributive fund represents the tax money apportioned to the school systems throughout the state. Legislative measures to increase this fund by approximately $10,000,000 through the diversion of gasoline taxes are now pending in Springfield.

$17,000,000 TAX PAYMENTS GIVEN TO LOCAL BODIES

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday, including those for 1932, were $4,254,519, making a total of $150,891,494 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the four years follow:

April 18	$14,670	$51,801
Uncollected	14,576,611	39,238,100
	1930.	1931.
April 18	$58,999	$128,459
Uncollected	65,184,020	57,420,030

The day's collection of 1932 real estate taxes totaled $4,001,000; of 1931 personal property taxes $8,151 and of 1932 personal property taxes, $829,061.

Tax collections totaling 17 million dollars were being distributed yesterday by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough to county employés and to the various local governments of the county.

The city received $10,000,000; the county, $3,000,000; the state, $1,000,000; sanitary district, $1,000,000; south parks, $1,000,000; Lincoln park, $300,000; Lincoln park registered bonds, $200,000; forest preserves, $400,000.

This money represents collections made by Mr. McDonough's office on 1932 tax bills. The funds given the county, it was announced, will be used to retire 1932 tax warrants.

The 3,500 employés of the county will receive their pay this week for the month of January, totaling $900,000.

SHANGHAI, April 19.—[Thursday.]—The Chinese admitted today that the Japanese are exerting pressure to prevent further sales of American airplanes to China, but declined to make a statement as to whether the sales of American bombers were the subject of a long discussion between the Japanese minister to Nanking, Akira Ariyoshi, and Premier Wang Ching-wei yesterday afternoon at Nanking.

The Tokio declaration of Tuesday expressing disfavor of occidental activities, including loans and sales of war planes to China, was given prominence in Chinese papers, but owing to the existing censorship there was no editorializing.

Protectorate Over China.

A prominent Chinese official, who refused the use of his name, informed THE TRIBUNE correspondent that the Japanese Asiatic peace declaration tantamount to the creation of a Japanese protectorate over China, was inspired by two recent developments.

One of these is connected with the forthcoming meeting of the league of nations in Geneva, when league experts who have been investigating economic conditions here are expected to recommend a plan for Chinese rejuvenation which will involve foreign financing. He stated that Japan is determined to block the move, unless China agrees to permit Japanese direction of the scheme.

The other development which precipitated the Tokio declaration is the presence here of Frank Hawks, American flyer, who is demonstrating a huge Curtiss-Condor bomber, and Italian Commandante Mario de Bernardi, who is demonstrating a new Caproni type 3 long range bomber. The Japanese apparently are convinced that China's interest in purchasing this type of plane indicates aggressive designs toward Japan.

Airplane Factory Ready.

The Japanese also are deeply concerned with the action of the Curtiss company in constructing a large airplane factory at Hangchow near Shanghai, which is capable of turning out from 50 to 100 war planes annually. The factory shortly will be in full operation.

Representatives of American interests who sold nearly five million dollars' worth of planes to China last year are noncommittal regarding the Tokio declaration, but are expected to send a strong representation to Washington in the event that Japan lodges an official complaint either in Nanking or in Washington.

Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's paper, the Chen Pao, admitted that Japan is pressing for recognition of Manchukuo and declared that China has made a maximum of concessions. Wang Ching-wei is reported to have informed Minister Ariyoshi that the Manchurian problem constitutes an insurmountable obstacle to the resumption of friendly Sino-Japanese relations.

Japanese Active in Mongolia.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

PEIPING, April 18.—Reports of Japanese activity in Inner Mongolia were substantiated by a young American, Stuart Gunzel of Wausau, Wis., who today emerged from the borderlands after nine months among the Silingol Mongols.

Fresh from America and unable to speak Mongolian, Gunzel went into the hinterlands last summer to learn the language. He got a place in the household of Prince Teh Wang, leader of the autonomy movement, as an English teacher for the prince's son. Gunzel adopted Mongol ways of living. He says that during his stay at Prince Teh Wang's headquarters, between Manchukuo and the Outer Mongolian borders, he saw many evidences of the spread of Japanese influence.

Although the Silingol territory is Chinese, it was visited frequently by Japanese trucks, which had complete freedom of operation. Some were carrying Japanese flags and Manchukuo soldiers, and they met no resistance. Gunzel confirms reports of Japanese efforts to establish a wireless station in Silingol. He is skeptical of Silingol's reception of the new autonomous government being inaugurated at Pailingmiao next week.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 18.—Two hundred men from relief camps today besieged police headquarters and demanded to be locked up as vagrants. Asserting that it costs the community $1 a day to keep one man in jail, they asked 50 cents a day to keep out. The demonstration was part of a campaign for single men to get increased relief.

Spain Gives 1,000,000 Lbs. of Cotton Seed to Farmers

SEVILLE, Spain, April 18.—(AP)—The Spanish government distributed free more than 1,000,000 pounds of cotton seed to farmers. It is expected that about 50,000 acres will be seeded in 1934 and that cotton cultivation will be gradually increased until national needs are met.

AMERICAN FLEET READY TO ATTACK PANAMA CANAL

Joint Maneuvers Due to Begin Saturday.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, April 18.—The American navy's approach to Balboa Saturday will mark the beginning of joint war maneuvers.

The entire fleet will attack the Panama canal. The fleet will be, theoretically, enemy naval craft bearing down upon the waterway without the American navy defending it.

This means that the Panama canal's modern land fortifications, with the 15th naval district's small force of airplanes and submarines, will defend the canal against the full strength of the American navy.

Method of Attack Secret.

The assumed general situation for this joint exercise is one that justifies a naval attack, but how and when the fleet will attack is what the defending army, which is made up of a force of 6,000 troops, mainly coast artillerymen, want to know. They are using every possible means of reconnaissance with airplanes and submarines to find out at the earliest moment.

An air attack, an actual or simulated landing of attackers on the flanks of the army's strong point in the canal's fortifications, a direct naval bombardment or a run-by attack, or a combination of any or all of these may be expected, high army commanders said.

Purpose of Maneuvers.

The main purpose of the maneuvers, they continued, is to train the fleet personnel in meeting such a situation, which, although unlikely and hitherto usually unsuccessful in actual warfare, may occur again in the next war.

In other words, the Panama canal department of the army is defending the canal against a conquering enemy fleet which has eluded or destroyed the United States navy in Pacific waters.

The army commanders said the training gives the army personnel an excellent opportunity to organize for, and to use its artillery in, simulated fire upon a huge attacking naval force. The lessons to be learned will be, they said, in determining whether the army's organization and communications function correctly. No big question of strategy or policy will be involved.

FUMES OF VOLCANO DRIVE BACK ICELAND EXPLORING PARTY

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, April 18.—(AP)—Sulphurous fumes have driven back an expedition which attempted to explore the crater of Iceland's famous volcano, Skeidarar Joekull Cirka.

Reaching the vicinity of the crater during a blinding snowstorm, the men found eruptions still continuing, throwing a pall of volcanic ashes over the surrounding countryside.

An ice field more than 15 miles in circumference is covered with mounds of ashes, which, with the choking fumes, have greatly handicapped explorations.

The volcano began erupting March 30. Vivid, lightning-like flashes were visible in Reykjavik, about 155 miles away. The eruptions could be heard 100 miles from the crater.

Find Part of Bob Gast's Wrecked Plane in China

SHANGHAI, April 18.—(AP)—Definite proof that three American flyers, missing for eight days, had crashed in Hangchow bay was supplied tonight when Chinese fishermen pulled up parts of the airplane. The hull and part of the pilot's seat, where Robert Gast, formerly of Chicago, had been sitting, were found. The other Americans were Ivan Carlson of Donna, Tex., and James Frink of Miami, Fla. A Japanese business man was also a passenger.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

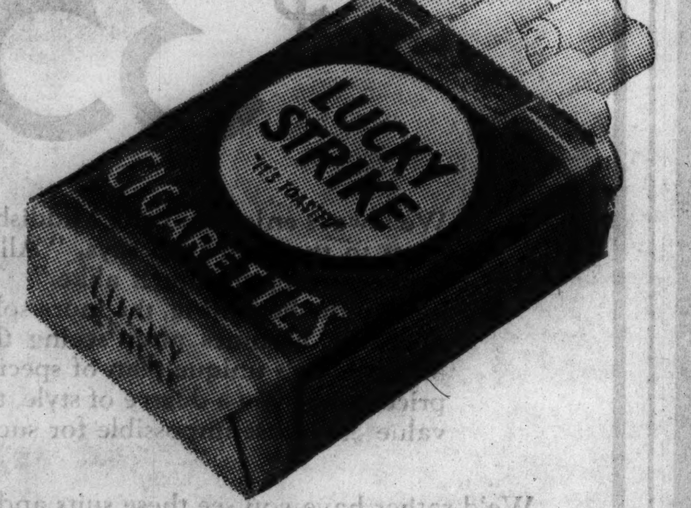
LUCKIES are All-Ways kind to your throat

so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends that's why you'll find Luckies do not dry out



We think you'd be impressed if you saw Luckies being made. You'd see those clean, silky center leaves—and you really wouldn't have to be a tobacco expert to know why farmers get higher prices for them. They are the mildest leaves—they taste better.

You'd be impressed by Lucky Strike's famous process—"It's toasted"—designed for your throat protection. And we know that you'll be truly fascinated when you see how Luckies are rolled round and firm, and fully packed with long golden strands of choice tobaccos. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. And you'll get the full meaning of our statement that Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

THREE SLAYERS TO DIE TONIGHT; LAST PLEA FAILS

Governor Horner Refuses Executive Clemency.

Three slayers scheduled to be electrocuted shortly after midnight tonight lost their last hope for delay last night when Gov. Horner announced that he would not interfere with the executions. The governor said he was acting on the unanimous recommendation of the state board of pardons and paroles, which had heard pleas for executive clemency for the slayers.

Although the decision applied only to John Scheck and Joseph Francis, it ended the hope of all three men, because earlier in the day the governor had made a similar decision in the case of George Dale, the third slayer.

Forestall Insanity Pleas.

Unless some Criminal court judge acts contrary to the report of the court's own alienist, the men have no chance to delay their execution, it was pointed out by Criminal court attachés. Earlier in the day Dr. Harry Hoffman, head of the Criminal court behavior clinic, reported to the Criminal court that he had examined the three slayers and found them sane. This procedure was recently inaugurated by the Criminal court judges to forestall last minute insanity pleas.

The solution of jig-saw puzzles occupied the attention of Scheck and Dale during the day. Francis, however, spent the day reading the Bible.

Acting Warden George Gibson of the county jail said last evening that both Scheck and Francis, a Negro who was baptised into the Catholic faith last week, will receive communion today from Father Denis Kaufhold. Dale will spend a part of his last hours with the Rev. Henry J. Sandvoss, a Luthern pastor.

May Receive Visitors.

During the day, the acting warden said, the men will be allowed to receive visitors in their cells. Both Scheck and Dale have families who have arranged to see the two men. Francis' only living relative is a grandmother, 83 years old, who lives in Birmingham, Ala.

At 6 o'clock tonight the three will be moved into cells adjoining the death chamber. As a last privilege they will be allowed to order any dish they may choose for their dinners.

"Each one of the men says he is ready," Acting Warden Gibson said. "Scheck and Dale are busiest with their puzzles. They say they like pastoral scenes and we manage to find enough puzzles to keep them occupied.

"Although he too enjoys the puzzles, Francis is busy with his Bible. He says he wants to do as much reading in it as he can."

Guards Are Increased.

All three men have been under special guard for nearly two months. Seven days ago a guard was put over each cell and directed to keep constant watch. All visitors who appear there today must do so under the gaze of these guards.

Scheck is under death sentence for slaying Policeman John Sevick in an attempted escape from the courtroom of Criminal Judge Charles P. Molthrop last July 14. Dale, companion of Eleanor Jarman, the "blonde tigress," was sentenced to die for the murder of Gus Hoeh, 81 years old, a merchant, during a robbery of his small haberdashery last Aug. 4. Francis was convicted of slaying Joseph Hartell, a milk wagon driver, during a holdup last August.

Cuban Regime to Recognize National Communist Party

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, April 18.—Dr. Carlos M. Roinda, acting secretary of interior, today recommended to President Mendieta that recognition be granted the national communist party of Cuba, providing the party pledges to participate peacefully in future elections and discard its use of terrorism. President Mendieta announced that he had approved the recommendation and that the state council will enact the necessary law next week. The communist party is directed by former President Ramon Grau San Martin, who is now in Mexico City, and Sergio Carbo, radical newspaperman.

CHRISTENS TRAIN

Philadelphia, Pa., April 18.—(AP)—The nation's first Diesel electric streamline train formally was "christened" the Zephyr today at dedicatory exercises attended by several of America's leading industrialists.

Miss Marguerite Cotsworth, daughter of the passenger traffic manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which owns the new train, cracked the bottle of champagne over its prow.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of the General Motors corporation, paid tribute to the various branches of science which contributed to the construction of the Zephyr and predicted:

"What we see here accomplished can be accomplished to a more or less degree in other branches of industry by capitalizing our ever increasing knowledge of science brought to us through the instrumentality of industrial research."

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, termed the event an "epoch-making demonstration of transportation."

PRESIDENT'S WIFE STARTS HER SALE OF FURNITURE

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Hand carved beds, tavern tables and slat back chairs from the Val-Kill furniture factory at Hyde Park went on sale today under the personal supervision of the factory's founder, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Two floors of her town house on 64th street were used for 100 early American furniture reproductions, made by the Hyde Park village craftsmen on the Roosevelt's Dutchess county estate.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived in New York this morning. She received patrons for the furniture sale, with Nancy Cook, her partner in the project.

Eight Hyde Park village boys are learning the craft of cabinet finishing in the factory, which Mrs. Roosevelt founded eight years ago as a community industry "to give worthwhile employment."

Skilled cabinet makers fashion the pieces, which range from scroll mirrors to candle stands, high chests of drawers and tables of a dozen varieties. All the profits go back to the plant, for wages, instruction and to extend the enterprise.

Women of the village are taught weaving. Samples of their craft, including several woven coverlids, were among the sale pieces.

"The carpenters' union came over and visited our workers," said Miss Cook. "I said, 'go ahead and unionize them,' but they didn't. They said our men had better wages and working conditions than the unions."

DR. MILLSTONE AND NURSE ARE FREED BY JURY

Not Guilty Verdict Given in Blackmail Case.

Dr. Henry J. Millstone and Miss Emily Ranus, 24 years old, a nurse, were acquitted by a jury last night of charges of conspiracy to blackmail other physicians. The jury returned its verdict after two hours of deliberation.

Defense Attorneys James M. Burke and George Crane immediately moved for the dismissal of a bribery indictment against the physician, but Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty refused to recommend dismissal at this time. This indictment charges Dr. Millstone with bribing officials of the state department of registration and education under a former political régime, to allow him to resume the practice of medicine after he had been suspended.

Seek $3,000 from Doctor.

Dr. Millstone and the nurse were alleged to have conspired with Judd E. Edwards of Belvidere, former chief inspector for the state registration department Frank Condon and Cletus Monahan, former inspectors, to extort $3,000 from Dr. Josephine Gabler on the pretext of fixing alleged complaints against her. In fact, no complaints had been registered against Dr. Gabler.

Edwards and Condon are fugitives from justice. Monahan was granted a separate trial when he promised to turn state's evidence. However, after the jury was selected he refused to aid the state.

Millstone Charges Threats.

Dr. Millstone and Miss Ranus took the witness stand yesterday. Dr. Millstone admitted paying $200 to the inspectors after they had threatened to continue in force the suspension order against him. He admitted assisting them in the plot to get money from Dr. Gabler, but said he acted only because of their threats and because he thought he was aiding Dr. Gabler by having the alleged complaints fixed.

Miss Ranus said she was ignorant of the extortion plot. She admitted acting as go-between, but said it was because she thought she was helping her employer. Both defendants said they were victims "of grafting public officials."

SPIKE O'DONNELL SEIZED AS "VAG" IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., April 18.—(AP)—Edward J. [Spike] O'Donnell, Chicago beer racketeer of pre-repeal days, pleaded guilty tonight to a vagrancy charge and was sentenced to pay a $500 fine and serve six months in jail.

The sentence was suspended for two years on the condition that O'Donnell leave town and not return during that period.

O'Donnell was arrested while sitting in a Hollywood beer parlor with several friends of the sports and movie business. He carried $1,000 cash.

Police Chief James Davis ordered his detectives today to round up all known persons of the hoodlum type. He declared the shooting of James [Socks] McDonough, minor underworld character, had disclosed that several former eastern racketeers are here.

"Racketeers with records, whether they have reformed or not," said the chief, "will not be allowed to filter into Los Angeles."

40 FOOT STACK ON OLD FOUNDRY IS BLOWN DOWN

A wavering forty foot steel smokestack on an abandoned foundry in the rear of 2948 Van Buren street was blown down by the wind yesterday. It fell across service wires of the Commonwealth Edison company in an alley behind the building. Firemen removed the stack by cutting it apart with acetylene torches. Residents of the neighborhood said they had notified the city building department of the dangerous condition of the stack several times but were never able to get it removed.

CANADA BUDGET HOLDS TAXATION AT THE OLD LEVEL

Raises Preference for British Goods.

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18.—By extending to Great Britain and the British empire two important additional trade concessions, the Canadian government, in its budget presented to parliament today, endeavors to allay United Kingdom discontent at the workings of the Ottawa trade pacts.

The new budget presents United Kingdom and empire manufacturers with a sweeping additional 1½ per cent tarif preference on all goods by cutting from 3 to 1½ per cent the special excise tax on all British imports. The tax remains at the original 3 per cent in the case of all non-British goods.

Also Hits U. S. Chemicals.

A forecast is also made in the budget of a reduction from 50 to 25 per cent of empire content requirements in a wide range of chemical commodities to qualify them for preferential tarif entry. This will enable the United Kingdom to utilize a wide range of crude foreign products, refine them, and ship them preferentially to Canada to the detriment largely of German and American chemical exporters.

At the same time Canada rebuffs British jute twine manufacturers, who had claimed a breach of the Ottawa trade agreement in respect of jute twine valuations for duty purposes, by specifically increasing tarifs against the British manufacturer by 7½ per cent.

The comparatively few tarif changes in the budget show a general downward trend. Potential benefits to United States trade with Canada are reflected in horizontal reductions in rates on titanium oxide, heavy hollow forgings, glass blanks for processing and jewelry findings and parts for newspaper presses, shotguns and steel pullies.

No New Taxation.

Optimistically termed by Finance Minister Edgar N. Rhodes as a "recovery budget," Canadian citizens and Canadian business generally escape without the addition of a single cent of taxation. The single exception is the Canadian gold mining industry, which, under a new tax of 10 per cent on the value in Canadian currency of gold deposited at the mint or exported, is being compelled to yield a good portion of its reputed $40,000,000 annual profits in gold premium. The tax will not operate to reduce the amount paid by the government for gold below $30 an ounce.

Accepted by many parliamentarians as an election indication, the government cuts from 2 to 1 cent per pound its vexatious sugar tax and specifically notes that the gold tax is to replace this lost revenue.

In his financial survey the finance minister claimed for the dominion a strong financial position, repulsed any thought of debt repudiation involved in a lowering of debt interest rates, heralded a government move to aid economically stricken farmers to refinance domestic debt at lower interest rates, and announced that stabilization of the Canadian dollar must await stabilization between the American and British currencies.

Announcing substantial trade betterment and a $13,000,000 revenue increase, the finance minister nevertheless computed at $135,200,000 the addition to the Canadian national debt on the last fiscal year's operations. He lauded the great increase in Canadian exports to British empire nations during the last year under the Ottawa pacts and noted a $16,000,000 increase in imports from the United Kingdom.

Prophesying continued improvement during the present year, the finance minister reported an increase from 67 to 86.4 per cent in general Canadian economic indices. Specifically comparing the Canadian economic betterment against that achieved by the United States, he undertook to show Canada's slower gains to be more consistently maintained.

COL. FORBES' WIFE REVEALS HE HAS DESERTED HER

Seattle, Wash., April 18.—(AP)—Col. Charles Forbes, veterans' bureau administrator in the Harding administration, was declared by his wife today to have deserted her seven or eight years ago.

Mrs. Kate M. Forbes, a cripple, made the disclosure in testifying in the grand larceny trial of James Ashe, literary agent. Walking to the witness stand on crutches, Mrs. Forbes told how she nearly entrusted the manuscript for a book, including "Hitherto Unrevealed Secrets of the Harding Administration," to Ashe.

She said she had not heard for several years from Forbes, who resigned under fire and served a two year term in Leavenworth penitentiary for defrauding the government. Millions of dollars were alleged to have been wasted under his administration of the veterans' bureau. Forbes declared himself a pauper, unable to pay a $10,000 fine, at the expiration of his prison term, and he was required to serve extra time.

ALICE IS RIGHT!

"Well," said Alice, "it seems that the family is having quite an argument about going to Europe this year."

"You can't go," said the Mad Hatter. "Exchange rates are up and that lets you down."

"That's silly," said Alice. "Things don't cost any more in Europe."

"Pounds, francs, liras," snapped the Mad Hatter.

"But I don't want those things," exclaimed Alice disgustedly. "I don't want to know how much a pound costs, but how much a room-and-bath costs in England . . . not how much a lira is, but how much train fare I have to pay from Naples to Rome."

We agree with Alice, for if you add together all the real items, the total cost of a trip to Europe will be still less than living and travel on any comparable scale anywhere in the world! A room with bath, First Class, in the Aquitania now costs 37% less than in 1926, President Roosevelt's "Year of Normalcy" . . . and the average minimum First Class rate is down by 20%. Cabin Class rates are as low as $234 Round Trip, Tourist Class $188. Railroad rates abroad average 30% less and hotel costs average 36% less. Ask your local agent or send for folder of facts proving European travel cheaper in 1934 than in 1926.

> "The administration of government has become more complex. The opportunities for malfeasance and corruption have multiplied. Crime has grown to most serious proportions. And the danger of its protection by unfaithful officials, and of the impairment of the fundamental security of life and property by criminal alliances and official neglect, emphasize the primary need of a vigilant and courageous press, especially in great cities. The fact that the liberty of the press may be abused by miscreant purveyors of scandal does not make any the less necessary the immunity of the press from previous restraint in dealing with official misconduct." —Charles Evans Hughes.

A NEW AIR MAIL POLICY.

The President has announced a further change in policy toward the air mail service. A commission is to be appointed to study the whole matter of the army, navy, and postal flying services and meanwhile air mail contracts are to be awarded for a year only.

The appointment of another commission will amuse those who can recall the justified derision with which proposals along the same line were received by the men now in power only a few years ago. Otherwise this part of the program is quite unimportant. The significant announcement is that new contracts, to run for a year only, are to be granted.

The administration blundered when it canceled the air mail contracts without giving the companies the opportunity to defend themselves from charges of fraud and collusion. The administration had utterly failed to sense the fact that the commercial air lines of this country had caught the popular imagination. Apparently no one in Washington so much as suspected that flying has become the symbol of progress in the minds of Americans and of young Americans in particular.

It is no accident that Lindbergh is the popular hero of the nation; when the administration abused him the indignant response was instantaneous. It is no accident that the Wings of a Century packed them in all last summer at the World's Fair and will repeat its success this year. There is nothing illogical in the nation's devotion to improvements in communications. The steady improvement in the material comforts of life in this country must be attributed largely to the improvement in transport which each generation has seen. Americans know this even if brain trusters don't.

Accordingly, Americans generally were intensely proud of the achievements of the commercial aviation companies. Starting from scratch, in a few years they had built up the best commercial flying services in the world. Our planes are the best transport ships in the business; our pilots are at least as good as any; the American engines are the best yet designed for civilian flying; the American genius for organization has triumphed over a thousand obstacles. With radio control and emergency landing fields, great progress had been made in increasing safety. The advance in the speed of the service was amazing. The fares were moderate. New York in five hours at the same fare charged by the railroads was the kind of achievement which Americans delight to honor.

It is not clear whether the new administrative order will permit the companies which brought about these accomplishments to regain their contracts. That is the only policy which the American people generally will approve and it is also the only policy which common sense will approve. These companies have proved their competence. They have the equipment and [as the army's fiasco in attempting to carry the mails abundantly proves] the personnel and organization required for an extremely difficult task. It is not likely that any one else will invest the millions of dollars required to duplicate the service in the face of an announcement that the new contracts will run for only a year and particularly in face of the present administration's gross disregard for the contractual rights of the companies.

The government's record in the air mail controversy is a record of blunders. Under the circumstances, the best amend it can make for its slur upon Lindbergh, its sentencing of the army pilots to death, and its hampering of progress in the art and science of flying is to restore the contracts to those who had proved their competence to hold them. If this administration is as candid to admit its errors as it pretends to be, that is what will happen.

BULLYING DR. WIRT.

The well named chairman of the Wirt inquiry committee, Mr. Bulwinkle, remarks regretfully that the committee cannot prosecute Dr. Wirt for perjury but suggests there is no reason why the district attorney and grand jury shouldn't take notice of the case. We know of no reason why they should not, except the reason which does not appeal to Mr. Bulwinkle—namely, that if they have a decent sense of responsibility they will have no disposition to persecute an innocent and honest citizen for the performance of what he rightly considers a public duty. Bulwinkle's charge of perjury is an effort to bully Dr. Wirt and any other critic of the brain trust into silence. His own ethics have been revealed in the accusation against Dr. Wirt he has had to retract, and they are of a piece with those of the other alarmed politicians, Rainey, Foulkes and Sabath, who have made equally ridiculous and malevolent charges against Dr. Wirt.

Mr. Bulwinkle's animus will not discredit Dr. Wirt, but it will emphasize for the public the fact that the inquiry under his charge has no chance of being impartial or thorough. And the American public will come to its own conclusions as to the truth and significance of the issues raised by Dr. Wirt.

A LITTLE MAN IN A BIG CASE.

Judge William H. Holly, one of the new federal District judges in Chicago, has granted the government an injunction directed against Lloyd V. Shissler, who has small milk businesses in Cicero and Lombard. The suit was filed shortly after an administrative board had found that Mr. Shissler had bought milk from farmers in Wisconsin at prices which were not approved by the government. Presumably the case will go up to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Needless to say, the outcome of this litigation is of immense importance. The right of the government to fix prices is involved. The right of the government to balkanize the country into small trading areas may be involved. Constitutional questions of the powers of congress, the powers of the executive, and the powers of administrative boards are raised. Under these circumstances it is of the utmost importance that both sides receive as able presentation as possible.

The government in the hearing before Judge Holly was represented by a former president of the Chicago Bar association, who is known to be one of the abler lawyers practicing at the Chicago bar. Behind him stood a battery of government counsel sent out from Washington, men who have been at work for a year preparing for just such cases as this one. The government's argument was presented with all the skill and adroitness that long preparation and much experience in the conduct of important litigation could give.

Mr. Shissler has a little business and limited means. Obviously he could command no such legal talent as the government mustered against him. To say this is to cast no reflection upon the competence of Mr. Shissler's counsel but only to point out that his lawyers were men of relatively limited experience.

It is to be hoped that the Circuit Court of Appeals, should the case go up, will not be unmindful of the disparity which has just been pointed out. In view of the tremendous importance of the decision in shaping American life for the future, the court would be thoroughly justified in appointing one or more of the ablest lawyers in the district to assist in the defense of Mr. Shissler's property.

Other circumstances give added point to this suggestion. It is no secret that Judge Holly owes his recent elevation to the bench to the influence of the New Dealers. Judge Holly was placed in the unfortunate position of having to try an essentially political case in which his friends were deeply interested. No one who knows the judge would suggest that his decision was in any sense influenced by his friendships. He interpreted the law as he saw it. Nevertheless, Judge Holly's decision is open to the criticism that met Judge Wilkerson's granting of the injunction against the railroad unions a few weeks after he had been appointed judge. Appointment of able counsel by the Circuit Court of Appeals in the Shissler case will serve to still any critics who may think that the cards were in any sense stacked by the government.

Frequently in test cases of this character obscure citizens are represented by the most experienced of lawyers. That is because wealthy men and corporations often find their interest identical with that of the little fellow. This case is different. The big milk companies are not interested in preventing the government from crushing their small and troublesome competitors. Neither is the powerful organization of dairy farmers interested in safeguarding the rights of the independent farmers who want to sell their milk to Mr. Shissler. To assure Mr. Shissler's side of the argument a fair hearing the court would be well advised to appoint counsel to coöperate with his lawyers in the presentation of the case.

Editorial of the Day

TAXATION BY EXECUTIVE ORDER.

[The Peoria Transcript.]

President Roosevelt celebrates his return from the Bahamas by issuing an order under which the display of the "Code Eagle," successor to the "Blue Eagle," will be permitted only to those employers who contribute to the expense of code administration. That is to say, employers will be forced not only to pay the costs involved in higher wages and shorter working hours, but the costs of administering the National Industrial Recovery act.

Moreover, in order to protect employers from racketeering by organizers of industrial groups, the President requires in his order that all code authority rates of assessment and the budgeting of expenditures shall be approved by Administrator Johnson before a penny can be collected. Nonpayment of assessment will constitute violation of the code and subject the violating employer to withdrawal of the Code Eagle not only, but will expose him to a suit for collection at the instance of the government.

The NIRA is exceedingly broad. Under the act the President may cancel or modify any order, approval, license, rule, or regulation, and every code contains an express provision to this effect. There is, therefore, no doubt as to the President's power to require employers to bear all "Blue Eagle" expense. If enforcement is difficult and if thousands of government employés are needed to spy on violators and bring them to justice, the administration need not worry. Employers will pay the bills.

Thus the "self-government" of industry under the NRA becomes largely federal control at the expense of employers. This amounts to a tax. If it is not paid the government has several remedies: it may fine the offender $500 a day, deprive him of "Code Eagle" privileges, and bring legal action against him for failure to pay his code assessments. No greater or other remedies would be available for failure to pay an income or excise tax.

Moreover, under the President's latest order employers must submit to any assessments or budget expenditures approved by Gen. Johnson. The "Code Eagle," having been thus financed, is ready for flight. His expeditions into the ethereal blue may be expensive, but he will be undaunted because he will know that employers will foot any bill that may be presented in his name and on his account.

A SHORT SENTENCE MAN.

Mr. Jones was interviewing applicants for the post of gardener. The one before him did not look promising, but Mr. Jones thought he would give him a fair chance.

"How long were you in your last place?" he asked.

"A month, guv'nor."

"Eh? That's not long. And the place before that?"

"Three months, guv'nor."

"That's better. And the time before that?"

"There weren't no time before that, guv'nor. I got off with a fine."—Exchange.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WE ALL OF US, no matter how we scoff at the thing, have a little bit of superstition under the skin, and we are thrilled at the supernatural. Of course it's all nonsense, but I wouldn't let anybody light three cigarets from one match if I had to knock him down with a club, and if ever I spill salt I always throw a pinch over my shoulder. Not superstitious, you understand, but why take chances? Anyhow, everybody was thrilled over the story from Calgary, Canada, "A Teacup Reader Unites Brothers Parted 62 Years." But on reading the story I think it's what might be called the baloney. It seems that the teacup reader, gazing steadily into the tea leaves, told a man that somebody was trying to find him and that the man got busy and finally discovered a long-lost brother. That teacup reader would be perfectly safe in telling any of us that some one is trying to find us. Right now almost anybody at all can list the following persons who are trying to find him:

Collector for grocery.
Ditto for meat shop.
Ditto for dry cleaner.
Ditto for tailor.
Ditto for milliner.
Ditto for garage.
Ditto for haberdasher.
Ditto for likker shoppe.
Vacation agent.
Solicitor for Home for Destitute Republican ex-Officeholders.
Bond salesman.
Book agent.
High-pressure auto salesman.
Insurance agent.
Friend who wants to borrow five bucks until next Wednesday.
Friend who wants to borrow two bucks until the end of the month.
Cockroach exterminator.
Solicitor for Society for Prevention of Moscow Red from Seizing the Country While We're Attending a Ball Game Some Afternoon.

And a lot more. Oh, many more. Everybody has at least five or six names he could add to the list. That's why I say that looking into a mess of tea leaves in a teacup and telling any one that the tea leaves say that somebody is looking for him is the hooie. It doesn't need any tea leaves to tell us that.

LONELINESS.

There is a loneliness that penetrates,
More chilling than the bleakness of the night
That presses where the glacier isolates
A mountain cairn beneath a pall, jade white;
With greater scope than noonday motes that dance
A tantalizing pattern 'gainst the sun
O'er sand, where only sage and cactus lance
Impress on mind that God and life are one.
There is persistent beating that oft crumbles,
More deadly than the surge of wave and crest
In lone sea caves, where hollow tom-tom rumbles
Reverberate as through the human breast:

That ringing, stinging silence on the heart
Where Fate has doomed a soul to dwell apart.

TROTZKY has been ordered to leave France in six days. No matter where Leon lights, the police usually give him from two to six days to get up and get out. Saving the proletariat from their poverty and their miserable, sordid lives is indeed a noble thing, but usually ends in the Friend of the Downtrodden getting the boot. However, posterity in a couple of hundred years may say nice things about Trotzky. But if Leon could get a nice little farm right now in a pleasant community, where he could raise some chickens and ducks and keep a cow and a flivver, have a few good books to read, and go down to the corner grocery every night and nibble cheese and crackers with the villagers and listen to a jazz crooner on the radio probably he'd be quite willing to tell posterity where it could go to.

IT'S FUNNY what things attract my attention! Maybe I ought to take my attention to an attention fixer and have it coördinated or readjusted or something, but anyhow, right now I have to let my attention romp all around and fasten on anything it likes. One thing my attention got busy with while I was walking down in the loop was a crowd staring absorbedly into the window of a pet shop in Dearborn street. My attention began to hop up and down right away and I took it over to the window. Inside was a small dog of a bright pink color with small black polka dots scattered miscellaneously around his back. The crowd was so big that I couldn't get close enough to read the sign, if there was a sign, telling what kind of dog he was. But after my attention had had enough of the pink hound I opened a newspaper and right away my attention was riveted on an item about fashionable folk (or socialites, as they are now quaintly termed) getting ready to rush over to England to be presented at the king's first court. It must be a nice thing to gaze on King George in his golden crown and ermine cape and silk duds and knee panties, waving his scepter around and all that, but some of us probably get just as excited over the bright pink dog with the black polka dots as others do looking at the king. Sour grapes probably, but, anyhow, I'm going to take my attention down to the loop again today and fasten it on the bright pink dog with the black polka dots. And I'll be glad that I've got an attention that is so easily pleased.

WHITE FLOWERS.

Again the air is rioting
With scarlet birds of spring.
Their clamor in the aureate sun
Disturbs that lonely one
Whose wintry heart was full of
The wild birds of love.

The sky's white flowers bloom again
Between the wind and rain;
Their petals fall upon his eyes
Who under a star lies—
Who hears in fading flight above
The wild birds of love.

MENTALLY DEFICIENT.

IN New York state the expression mentally deficient is used instead of feebleminded as a designation for that very large group of people. They find that of each one hundred persons mentally deficient 20 per cent are idiots, 30 per cent imbeciles, 40 per cent morons, and the remaining 10 per cent is made up of those who cannot fit in because of personality disorders and mental twists that are related to the insanities.

An idiot is defined in the dictionary as a person congenitally without understanding or ordinary mental capacity. An idiot has the brain capacity of a child three years of age or less. He can take care of himself to about the extent that a three year old child can. An imbecile is defined as one who is congenitally weakminded yet not wholly incapable of education. If an older child or a grown person is able to care for himself better than can a child three years old, but not so well as one eight or nine years old, he belongs in the imbecile rather than the idiot class. A moron is defined as a feebleminded person of higher grade than an imbecile, one whose mental capacity does not advance beyond the mentality of a normal twelve year old child.

Some idiots are not capable of feeding themselves or cleaning themselves. However, they may be capable of all the self-care that is normal for a three year old child without being classed as imbecile. If we will recall the physical, mental, and social capacities of children three to seven we get a pretty good picture of what we can expect of an imbecile.

The yardstick for measuring the mentality of morons is the mental, social, and economic abilities of children between seven and twelve or fourteen. Such children have a fair line of abilities but they are not able to hold their own in the contests of a competitive society.

If called on to make their own living, and without any family, neighborhood, or community help, they go hungry and ragged.

The remaining 10 per cent in the New York grouping is composed of people who measure up well enough by intelligence tests and who are not insane, but who show "a marked mental deficiency from the standpoint of trying to live with them." They were peculiar in the reactions—neurotic, peculiar, irritable individuals who could not live in family groups very well.

Idiots do not accumulate greatly in a community because of their high death rate—about four times as high as that of normal people. Idiots rarely live to reach 21 years of age.

Imbeciles have a death rate that is twice the normal. They grow up to be men and women occasionally, but they rarely reach middle life and almost never do they attain old age. As a rule they have to be fed and clothed at the expense of others, but they are usually good-natured and desirous of pleasing, and they are never criminalistic.

The morons have a death rate that is considerably higher than normal and they do not often live to be old. As a rule they are not anti-social, though some of them are. Some of them can make a fair living, though many need help as well as protection.

The group that has personality disorders represents a new part of the mentally deficient group. In most states they are not thought of as being a part of the class although every one realizes how much they need help and how incapable they are of being happy in their homes or of contributing to the happiness of others.

Some students of behavior think they need more help than the morons do. One of them is usually more of a problem than a moron is. There are those who think that, in the course of time, this subgroup, instead of making up 10 per cent of the mentally deficient, will be considered to outrank in numbers the idiots and imbeciles, if not the morons.

Friend of the Insured

The automobile is responsible for more accidents than any other one factor. The National Safety council's incomplete figures for 1933 estimate that 1,000,000 persons were injured, of which 30,500 were killed and 85,000 suffered permanent injuries; in addition property damage due to automobile accidents is conservatively estimated at one-half billion dollars.

The nonfatal accidents, which often result in permanent disability and severe disfigurement injuries, are usually accompanied by lawsuits, and high verdicts in such cases are not unusual. Few individuals or business organizations are financially able to meet these demands. Therefore, the need for protection from the ever present liability due to automobile ownership has made public liability the most important and necessary form of automobile insurance. Every car owner is responsible for the operation of his car and may be held liable for damages to the property of others, as well as for injuries to persons. The basis of negligence may be either in the way the car was operated or in the manner in which the car has been maintained. Most automobile liability policies contain few exclusions and furnish the desired protection, while a few contain many unnecessary clauses, which severely limit the protection and may even enable the company to deny liability due to violation of such clauses.

Every policy should be explained to make sure it gives the protection paid for. Usually liability policies are written for the minimum limits of $5,000-$10,000, meaning that the company's liability under the policy is limited to the payment of $5,000, because of bodily injuries or death to one person or to $10,000 to injuries or death of more than one person, as a result of one accident. It is almost certain that, where an injured claimant with dependents has been prevented from following his profession or occupation as a result of an accident, the judgment will exceed the standard policy limits, in which case the assured would be subject to having his property sold to satisfy the judgment against him. The low cost of increased protection is not generally known to the policy holder, but the added protection will warrant the slight additional premium required. For example, the $5,000-$10,000 limits can be increased to $10,000-$20,000 at only 15 per cent more for double the protection.

IN A TAXICAB.

Janesville, Wis., April 16.—A few days ago I had occasion to be in Chicago.

When arriving in Chicago I took a cab to the place I wanted to go. During the trip we were held up by the red lights a couple of times and during this interim I said to Mr. Taxi Driver, "How's business?" He said, "Not so hot," and with that he reached in his pocket and took out his card on which he writes down the fares and handed it to me and remarked that that was what he had taken in since 7 o'clock in the morning, and it was at that time 1 p. m.

I noticed that the footings made 80 cents. "Well," I said, "that's not so much." "No," he said, "it's a little worse today than usual. I am making about enough to just get by on." He said, "Believe it or not, I was for years one of the assistant tellers in the Continental bank we are just passing. I, with a good many others, was laid off, used up my little reserve in keeping my wife and three children going. Then the city of Chicago or Cook county supported me, or us, for seven months. Then I got a job driving this taxi, and you don't know how good it seems to be independent once more and to be on my own."

I asked him: "Can you still smile?" He said, "I surely can, because I believe we are going to come out of this awful depression and that there is something better for me along the road."

When we got to our destination I discovered that my fare was twenty or thirty cents and I handed him a dollar. He was going to hand me back some change, and I said, "No, no change." "Well," he said, "that's too much for a tip." I said, "It's not a tip; it's a contribution or recognition of a man who has guts, who has a smile and vision, and to whom better things are going to happen."

He said, "Thank you very much," put the money in his pocket, and, believe it or not, he had a tear in his eye.

THE BRAIN TRUST'S BRAINS.

Chicago, April 9.—The enemies of the President are ridiculing him because of the so-called brain trust. Nobody but a man without brains would criticize him for taking counsel with men who have brains.

W. B. MILLARD.

GEN. JOHNSON.

Chicago, April 11.—I was one of those who served under the provost marshal general of the army while Gen. Johnson was there, and saw with my own eyes the brilliant service this man rendered to his country during the war. I feel it my duty to raise my voice in defense of this sterling American.

The big boys in Wall street have no use for Gen. Johnson because they cannot dictate to him. They hate his guts. Here is one man who is too big to be dictated to by any one faction, who has no ax of his own to grind, and who has the interest of the entire country at heart. So now big business wants him replaced by a business man, presumably by a man from their own crowd, who will administer the NRA according to their own liking.

To Gen. Johnson was handed the biggest job a President ever handed to any living man. I know trade associations which cannot keep their own house in order, which have cutthroat competition and unfair trade practices in their own ranks; yet they are loud in their denunciation of Gen. Johnson and the NRA in general. Now multiply the problems confronting a single industry by ten thousand industries, and then again multiply the result by ten thousand cities, and you gain a slight conception of the immense task facing Gen. Johnson. He is the mediator between clashing interests. He must conquer greed, jealousy, hatred and selfishness. It is no wonder that he is the butt of so much criticism. His is a thankless job.

And yet his accomplishments have been great. He has proved himself to be an able, fair minded and capable administrator. No living American could have accomplished more in such a short time. He deserves praise and not censure. The country needs Gen. Johnson. And, when he is gone he will long be remembered, for the principles contained in the National Recovery Act will go marching on and will become a part of our national life.

ON BEHALF OF YOUTH.

Chicago, April 16.—This is just a word in behalf of the youth of America. Your cartoon in Sunday's TRIBUNE, April 15, 1934, is a gross misrepresentation. Instead of stunting our progress and future the President is making it secure, and this country a better place in which to live. The sole aim of youth is not to get rich quick but to work for the good of our country and defend her and her administrators when people and press strive so hard to tarnish her name.

It seems to the writer that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is as nearly a Red paper as it is possible to be, and is not satisfied unless through cartoons or editorials it has embarrassed the President or his helpers.

INSULL LAWYERS GIVE HIS LONDON 'FRIENDS' REBUFF

Tell Them to Keep Noses Out of His Affairs.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 18.—Friends of Samuel Insull in London, it was revealed today, have been told quite firmly by Simmons & Simmons, the former Chicago utilities promoter's London attorneys, kindly to keep their noses out of Insull's affairs in the future.

The friends were informed that their recent activities in behalf of Insull, who is now en route to Chicago to face fraud charges, have done more harm than good. They were also told that no money is required for Insull and that they must not engage in any wildcat scheme such as making a film of Insull's life in order to raise funds for his defense.

Mrs. Insull Gets Orders.

That the legal firm is determined to put an end to outside interference was shown when a brief outline of the plot for the film was sent by registered mail to Mrs. Insull at Athens for her approval. When Simmons & Simmons were informed of this they cabled Mrs. Insull instructing her not to open the registered package "sent her in error," but to return it to the sender, whose name was mentioned.

These instructions were carried out, for today this correspondent was present when the letter, readdressed with an Athens stamp, was produced and he was permitted to read the contents. It was a friendly letter from one of the leaders of the group of friends asking permission of Mrs. Insull to go ahead with the film. The letter told her to cheer up, for, although her husband was virtually en route to the United States, things were "not so black as they seemed."

One paragraph read:

"I am informed by London that you do not need money, otherwise we would have sent you some with this letter."

Friends Are "Quite Hurt."

The determined and almost threatening attitude of Insull's lawyers certainly dampened the enthusiasm of his London friends. They were "quite hurt about it." It also scotched any idea they might have had for a plot to try to obstruct Insull's return to the United States.

The friends are definitly out of the picture, and if the truth were known some of them are not sorry, particularly after it was hinted that they might be required as witnesses in America. There was no truth in this, of course, but it was amusing to watch the panic caused when the suggestion was casually mentioned. One woman said anxiously:

"It isn't true, is it? They couldn't make us go to the United States, could they? We have done nothing wrong, have we? O, I would refuse to go. I would immediately get my doctor to give me a certificate saying I am too ill to travel."

And with that she made a somewhat hurried exit.

"Hush, Hush" London Affairs.

It is obvious by the events today that Simmons & Simmons do not want too much attention drawn to Insull's affairs in London.

It was learned that an offer was made recently to purchase Insull's estate near Reading and the intending purchaser was informed it was not for sale. The request was then made to rent all or part of the estate, but the offer was turned down.

Residents in the vicinity of Insull's estate say the house is haunted. They declare they hear doors banging, windows opening and other strange sounds. The caretaker made a search of the house and found nothing unusual, but the local residents say the noises happen late at night when the caretaker has gone home and they will not go within a mile of the place at night time.

Insull at Sicilian Port.

ABOARD THE S. S. EXILONA AT MILAZZO, Sicily, April 18.—(AP)—Samuel Insull has softened his attitude toward photographers, but he still isn't ready to talk for the films.

It was only a day or so ago that he angrily muttered "this mug is my own" when cameramen clamored for pictures. Today, however, as the Exilona put in at Milazzo to take on 80 tons of olive oil, he altered his stand. He agreed to pose for photographs, but it was "nothing doing" to all entreaties that he "say something" for movie sound apparatus.

Rush Work in Fields

April 18, 1934.

A TYPICAL spring parade took place in the orchard lane today as two cock pheasants and three pheasant hens strolled in meandering style in the sunshine. Other signs of spring are not lacking, for John Rawlings found the season's first guinea hen egg.

Early potatoes have been planted in the garden, but the other garden crops are awaiting the end of the present rush in the fields, where almost ideal weather is permitting plowing, discing, dragging and seeding. Christianson, one of the farm hands, was getting an old walking plow into shape today so that this could help fill in, at least in putting the rest of the garden plot into shape for planting.

One of the new major crops to be tried this year on the experimental farm, and one not usually grown in Illinois, is flax. This crop is to have as ideal conditions for growth as preparation can provide. April is the usual time for sowing and the seed will be in the ground as soon as the field is in good condition. The importance of this early sowing has been discovered by growers in South Dakota, where experience has shown that every week's delay in sowing will cut the yield by two bushels an acre.

Flax is not a peculiar crop in this early sowing, but needs an early start principally for two reasons. One is that it should not be made to compete with weeds, because weed seed reduces the market value of the oil extracted from the seed harvest. Another reason for early sowing is that flax thrives best in cool soil and early planting permits the plants to grow and bloom ahead of the hot weather.

The seed, if planted early, will result in a harvest in midsummer's dry weather, ripening before rains have a chance to bring on a crop of the large summer growing weeds. So Clarence Thurow, manager of the experimental farm, plans to get the flax seeded within the next few days.

As soon as the farm is thrown open to visitors (this will be announced when the experimental farm has been sufficiently prepared), farm and city folks will have access to the picnic grounds on the Fox river, which flows through the farm. A road leading down to the picnic grounds was spread with gravel today so that picnickers this summer will find it safe.

The new colt, daughter of Lady, the Belgian mare, has been given a name. The frisky animal is now known as Queen. Each sunny day since she was born 10 days ago she has held court in the pasture lot with her mother, who takes exceeding care to note every whinny of her long legged daughter.

Railway Strike Paralyzes Greek Lines; Fear Coup

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

ATHENS, April 18.—The sudden outbreak of a 24-hour railway strike in protest against a new workers' insurance law paralyzed the Greek railway system today. Great excitement was caused by rumors of an impending dictatorial coup. The Athens and Piraeus garrisons have orders to remain under arms until further notice. Following the communist successes at Cavalla and Serres in the municipal elections, a steady drift to the left is reported from the countryside.

SALOONKEEPER SLAIN; SUSPECT STRANGELY SHOT

Rockford Racket Ring Is Blamed.

Rockford, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—A Rockford tavern proprietor was dead and a second man whom police link with his shooting was dying in St. Anthony hospital this afternoon following a gun battle here early this morning.

Louis Dal Collo, 35, was shot down in the doorway of his home just after he had closed his tavern, located next door, for the night. Dying, he fired five shots at his assailant, who, police believe stepped out of a car which had been parked in front of the tavern waiting for Dal Collo.

Police a short time later responding to a mysterious telephone call, found Angelo Buscemi, 22, in a car parked outside the hospital with a bullet in his back. He had been stripped to the waist and refused to talk before lapsing into unconsciousness.

Mrs. Dal Collo, sleeping in the front bedroom of the house, was wounded in the arm by one of the bullets fired at her husband which pierced the wall of the house.

Dal Callo's refusal to pay tribute to a racketeering ring was believed to have been responsible for his death. His wife today said that several attempts had been made to collect money from the tavern, all of which had failed.

MOVIES VIEWED AS EXHIBITS ON "BOOP A DOOP"

New York, April 18.—(AP)—A boopless Betty Boop flickered silently across the wall of Supreme Court Justive McGoldrick's chambers today as Helen Kane sought to show that the animated cartoon character had copied $250,000 worth of her "boop-boop-a-doop" style.

Miss Kane, who claims to be the original "booper," is suing Paramount-Publix corporation and Max Fleischer, creator of Betty Boop, for that amount and is seeking an injunction to stifle the "boopings" of what she terms her pen and ink mimic.

Alternately pouting and giggling, the actress-singer watched first the cavortings of Betty Boop and then the filmed versions of how she herself "boops."

Justice McGoldrick also watched, gravely making the notes that will help him to decide whether Betty Boop uses unfair competition.

"It looks silly," Miss Kane whispered about the movie to the reporters, "without the sound."

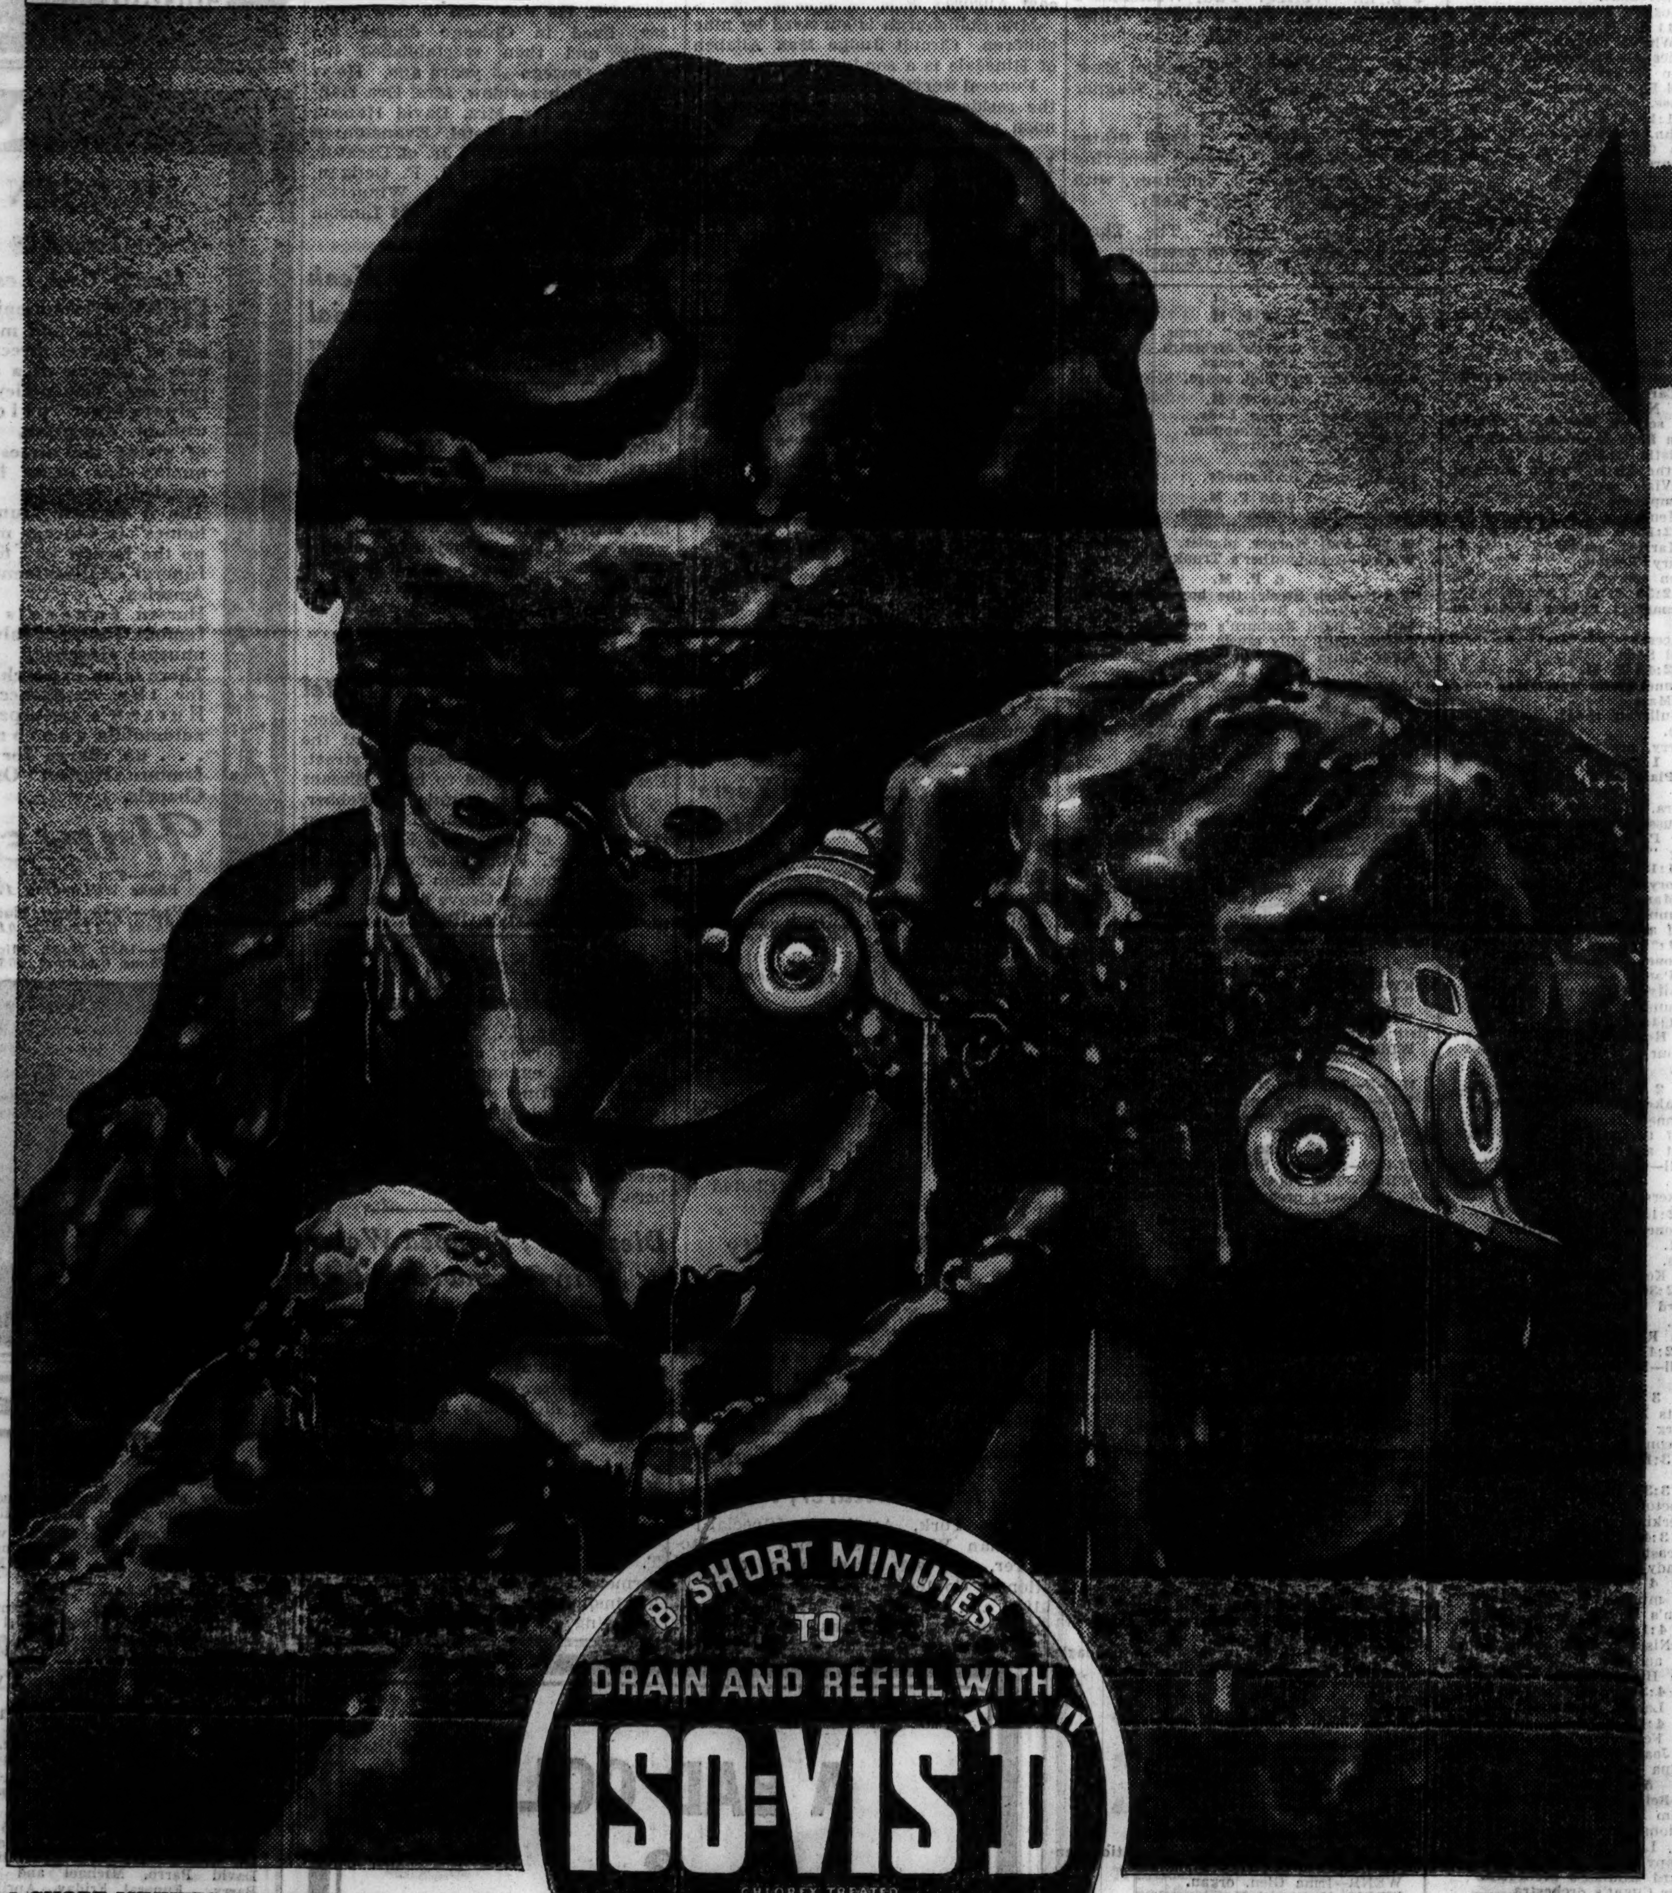
OIL CHANGING TIME IS HERE!



Get rid of SLUDGE the oil eater

... AND SAVE REAL MONEY!

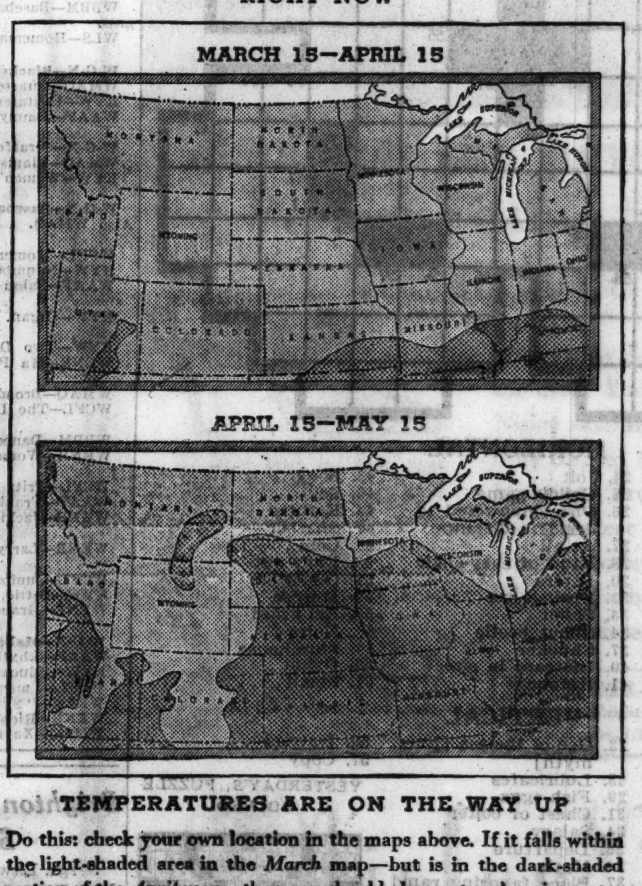
WHY you need, right now, a heavier grade of motor oil is shown by the weather maps, below.

And when you change, get rid of that tireless worker of evil in your engine—Sludge! Sludge fouls oil filters and clogs oil lines... takes the life out of valves, makes them sluggish—and you lose gasoline power. Sludge makes piston rings stick, causing wasteful pumping of oil.

Keep your engine clean, lively and efficient this summer by using Iso=Vis "D", the Anti-Sludge Motor Oil. It will cut down your oil costs—you'll add far less oil between drains—and you'll get more gasoline mileage.

THIS SHOWS WHY HEAVIER GRADE IS NEEDED RIGHT NOW



TEMPERATURES ARE ON THE WAY UP

Do this: check your own location in the maps above. If it falls within the light-shaded area in the March map—but is in the dark-shaded section of the April map—then you should change to a heavier motor oil as an economy measure! The dark-shading indicates that rising temperatures make a heavier grade of oil necessary for efficient lubrication.

Prepared by Standard Oil lubrication experts, these maps are based on U. S. Weather Bureau records, some covering 50-year periods.

The Standard Servisman bases his recommendation of the proper oil for your car on three factors: (1) Weather; (2) Make of Car; (3) and the kind of driving you do. Nothing is left to chance—or guessing.

8 SHORT MINUTES TO DRAIN AND CHANGE

Drive into your closest Standard Oil Station. Your Standard Servisman will drain and change to the proper grade of Iso=Vis "D" in 8 minutes or less. Then you'll be rid of sludge and you'll keep your oil cost to the minimum.

ISO=VIS "D" . . . . 25c a qt.
PLUS FEDERAL TAX . . . . 1c a qt.
TOTAL . . . . 26c a qt.

IT'S CHANGE TIME, TOO, FOR DIFFERENTIAL AND TRANSMISSION LUBRICANTS

Spring-time is the time to heavy-up on lubricants that protect your differential and transmission gears. Standard Stations have correct lubricants for this very purpose. And Standard Servismen are expert in the complete lubrication of any make of car—old or new. A Standard Specified Lubrication job means correct lubrication at every point.

DETROIT SLAYER OF WIFE DIES OF HEART AILMENT

E. J. McCann Succumbs in Michigan Prison.

Marquette, Mich., April 18.—[Special.]—The final chapter in a Detroit murder case, which attracted nationwide interest, was written in the Marquette branch prison last night when Edward J. McCann, 53, died of heart disease.

McCann was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife, Laurier, slain on Sept. 1, 1933.

McCann apparently was in good health at 9 p. m. when a guard passed his cell, but 20 minutes later he was heard groaning. The guard notified the hospital, McCann was placed on a stretcher and died before entering the hospital.

Friend to Claim Body.

Arthur Desjardin of Detroit, a friend, will arrive here tomorrow to claim the body. McCann and his wife had quarreled over her drinking. During the altercation she threw a glass of whisky in his face. He smothered her to death and then dismembered her body, throwing the head in a garbage can. Wrapping other sections of the body into newspapers and throwing them out of his car near Redford, a Detroit suburb, he believed he had balked identification of the body. Fingerprints taken by U. S. immigration officers 10 years before when Mrs. McCann entered this country from Canada led to identification of the body. The head was never found.

McCann was seen at a Chicago relief station on Oct. 20 last year by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Loretta Hickman. She notified the police, but when they arrived McCann had gone.

Woman Causes Capture.

Two days later she again encountered him, notified the police, that time causing his arrest. McCann waived extradition, was returned to Detroit and given a life sentence. The state has no death penalty. McCann has been employed in the prison overall factory and had a good record as a prisoner. Last January he was confined to the hospital for five days because of his heart.

WOMAN CLAIMS RECORD ON HER 45 DAY FASTING

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sarah Whitman, a 61 year old teacher of a health system, and the mother of seven children living at 75 Riverside drive, has completed a fast lasting forty-five days. That became known today. Mrs. Whitman said she believed she had set a record for women.

A vegetarian, Mrs. Whitman said whenever she got hungry she would take a sip of cold water, and that restored her as would food. She has practiced fasting during the last eighteen years. In 1919 she was suffering from asthma, she said, and cured herself by going on a fast for thirty-five days.

During her latest fast she said she moved about continuously in her apartment and never felt the least bit tired.

The fast, started March 3, was ended last night, she said, because her son, Ben, became a little nervous. She then took a half glass of fresh grape juice and half a glass of olive oil. She said 18 years ago she weighed 180 pounds, against little over 100 now, with better health at present.

Louisa is one of several men and women arrested and charged with recruiting girls from the training school to fill vice resorts. He confessed some of the operations of the ring and aided the state at the trial of his former associates, who were convicted.

Tea Time Talk Turns to Bows to British King

Mrs. Edward Miller-Mills to Be Presented.

BY JUDITH CASS.

"IF all the interesting topics that make luncheon and tea conversation these balmy mid-April days there is none more engrossing than the annual question, "Who is to be presented at the English court?" Although the official list will not be forthcoming from the royal palace in London for at least another week or ten days, news of those who will bow at one of the May or June drawing rooms is gradually becoming known.

One of these is the lovely Mrs. Edward W. Miller-Mills, who before her marriage was Marion McClelland, daughter of Mrs. Thomas S. McClelland. Although Mrs. Miller-Mills has spent most of her time since she was married searching out hidden corners of the world, she still calls Chicago home.

The beginning of this week she arrived to visit her mother and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Florian D. Wallace, before sailing for London the beginning of next week. Mrs. Miller-Mills will make her bow before King George and Queen Mary at the second drawing room this season on May 16.

Elizabeth Chase to Be Bride Today.

Not because it will be a large wedding, but because the bride and bridegroom are members of well known Chicago families and because the bride is one of the most popular young women in society, the center of social interest today is the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Chase and Louis F. Swift Jr.

The marriage will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence in Lake Forest of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, with only the families and a few friends present. More have been invited to the reception that will follow. Mr. and Mrs. Swift will leave after the reception to motor to Fort Worth, Tex., where they will live.

Mrs. Walter P. Paepcke of 999 Lake Shore drive will be the hostess at a luncheon meeting of the Scribblers today at which Harold Stark will give the program. Mr. Stark and his bride, the former Inez Cunningham of Chicago, arrived in the city yesterday from their wedding trip in the south and are at the Lake Shore Drive hotel for a few days.

They plan to spend the summer in Mr. Stark's beautiful old home, Hill Forest, in Aurora, Ind., with frequent visits to Chicago to see their friends and the Fair, of course.

Luncheon at Fair for Titled Visitors.

Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes will give a luncheon today in the Administration building at A Century of Progress for the duchess of Northumberland and her daughters, Lady Elizabeth Percy and Lady Diana Percy, who will pass through Chicago on their way from San Francisco to New York.

The three titled Englishwomen spent just an hour here in January on their way west, but they will be here all of today, making the Stevens hotel their headquarters.

Among those whom Mrs. Dawes has invited to meet them today are her three daughters, Mrs. Robert Sherman, Mrs. Beverly Jefferson, and Miss Helen Dawes, and Mrs. Tiffany Blake and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank.

Mrs. Batholomay Osborne, not long at home from a vacation cruising in the West Indies, will tell the members of her box committee of the Chicago Grand Opera company today at a luncheon meeting about the plans for next season, plans she learned earlier in the week at a meeting of directors of the company of which she is one.

The meeting is to be at 12:30 o'clock at the Electric club. There are several additions to the box committee of last season, members of the Friends of Opera, which as an organization is giving its stamp of approval and active backing to the new opera company.

Harold H. Swift is entertaining a group of friends tomorrow night at dinner and later taking them to the ballet. Just as they did when the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe was here earlier in the season, a number of socialites are going to every performance during the ten days the incomparable troupe is here.

Italy-America Society Will Meet Tomorrow.

Members of the Italy-America society have been invited to the attractive apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris at 20 Cedar street at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening for a "conversazione." Robert Hall McCormick and Mrs. Walter Kirk will give the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris are giving a cocktail party Saturday for Col. Stewart Roddie of England, the author of "Peace Patrol," who will be here just for the one day.

The charity fund of the Harris school, which pports a nurse of the Visiting Nurse association, will benefit from the proceeds of a lecture tomorrow evening in the school assembly room at the Webster hotel. "Art" Young, lecturer, writer, and adventurer, will be the speaker. He is a hunter of big game with bow and arrow and has been a companion of Carl Akeley on several African hunts. Mrs. Walter Wolf is chairman of the charity fund and Mrs. Charles Garfield King is the treasurer.

Mrs. King is one of a committee in charge of the annual meeting of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, which is to be held in the ballroom of the Blackstone on April

A NEWSPAPER man was in Detroit the other day interviewing Mr. Henry and Mr. Edsel Ford, and was shown over the plant. As they watched the cars come down the assembly line, acquiring bodies, engines, and wheels as they progressed, the newspaper man voiced a thought that had occurred to him.

Musing—
Rehersal—
Descendant—
Irish—
Helpful.

"I wonder what they would do if a chevvie came along," he mused aloud.

The answer of the Messrs. Ford is not reported.

STOCK-AND-BOND NOTE. Rudolph Reuter, who has an eye for quips and oddments, stopped in at Orchestra hall the other morning while the Civic orchestra was rehersing. He was interested that Mr. Stock was conducting while a soloist named Miss Bonds was rehersing with the orchestra.

SOME days ago we mentioned the Irish patriot, Robert Emmet, who, before he died on the gallows, made a plea for Ireland's case and concluded with the charge that "When Ireland takes her place among the nations of the world, then, and not until then, let my epitaph be written." We added that his epitaph would be written on a monument to the patriot to be constructed at the Irish village at the World's Fair. Perhaps you would be interested in the information relayed by A. M. Masser that a direct descendant of Robert Emmet will enter the University of Chicago as a freshman next fall. He is Robert Emmet Jr., now a senior at Edgewood school, Greenwich, Conn., and his father, Commander Robert Emmet, is stationed at San Pedro with the Pacific fleet. Young Mr. Emmet will be out to visit the Fair before he enters college.

THE Irish come in for several amusing quips at the beautifully costumed and authentic historical play, "Richard of Bordeaux," now appearing in the loop. When England's Richard II., played by Dennis King, comments to the earl of Oxford that at least he has succeeded in achieving what no one else has, good-will and peace in Ireland for 200 years, the earl answers:

"The mistake you make is to imagine that the Irish want peace."

AND when Richard, who is an idealist and prefers to spend money on cultural pursuits instead of on war, says to his queen that now that peace with France has been achieved, perhaps he ought to do something about Ireland, Anne asks:

"Isn't one always doing something about Ireland?"

JACK GARDINER tells of the hurried young woman who rushed into a La Salle street florist's saying the boss had sent her out to buy a plant for his wife, but she couldn't remember the name of it.

"What was it like?" asked the florist.

"Well, it was a name like an Irish expression, I remember that," she vouchsafed.

So the florist got out a begonia, and the relieved young woman hastened back to her office with it.

Lord Lionel Hallam Tennyson, grandson of the late poet laureate of England, and his bride, the former Mrs. Carroll Elting Donner of Chicago, arrived yesterday morning on the Santa Fe Chief from California and departed a few hours later on the Twentieth Century of the New York Central. They spent their brief stay at the Blackstone hotel. The couple were married on Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting, at Montecito, Cal. They expect to sail for England tomorrow on the Mauretania and will make their home in Wales.

Spring Theme at Wedding of Anne Robinson

The wedding yesterday afternoon of Miss Anne Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ives Robinson, to Frank Green Osborne, son of Mrs. W. Irving Osborne, was the essence of springtime, for it was entirely white and green from the decoration of the church to the pure white of the bridal gown and the ice-green organza dresses of the bride's attendants.

The Rev. Dudley Stark read the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock in St. Chrysostom's church. The guests were impressed by the serene beauty of the church, which had been hung with greens with further decorations of calla lilies and white stock. The bride was lovely in a classical gown with long straight sleeves and a fan shaped train four yards longs. Mrs. Osborne had lent her the old rose point veil which hung from a lace cap with a tiny seed pearl halo. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Joseph A. Vance Jr. of Detroit, a cousin of the bride and her matron of honor, and Mrs. Ruth Seanor, Miss Helen Dawes, Miss Joy Fairman and Mrs. Charles F. Eimes, the bridesmaids, were all gowned alike in ice-green organza with monks' capes of satin that fastened in front and fell in two trailing panels behind. Their halo hats and gloves were of the same colored organza, and they carried lavendar tulips and sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson gave a wedding reception after the ceremony at their apartment, 229 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Robinson, at the head of the receiving line, was gowned in beige crêpe and lace with a large brown hat and brown accessories, including brown orchids. Mrs. Osborne wore a combination of black lace and chiffon.

Mr. Osborne and his bride left for a wedding trip to Bermuda last night. They will be at home this summer with Mr. Osborne's mother in Evanston, and later they will take an apartment.

Swedish Group Sings Stirring 'Cross of Fire'

BY EDWARD MOORE.

For the observance of a spring concert the Swedish Choral club turned last night to a work not heard as often as it should be, Max Bruch's cantata, "The Cross of Fire," and presented it at Orchestra hall.

Its merits are marked. It tells a story in the manner of Sir Walter Scott of a Highland nobleman summoned to war just before his wedding by the symbolic fiery cross, his departure, the battle, and his triumphant return. To this tale there is much lively, fairly obvious, but always romantic music, with several good solos, admirably sung last night by Marion Claire, soprano; Raymund Koch, baritone, and William Russell, bass, and a long series of choral sections written in the manner that the Swedish Choral club sings to perfection.

For the fine, sturdy tone of this organization has long been a subject of favorable comment. There is never any hesitation or dragging by the singers when a stirring passage is under consideration, and "The Cross of Fire" is fully of stirring passages. Harry T. Carlson, the conductor, and the chorus were in one mind over their interpretation, and the audience gave long continued and enthusiastic response to their performance. There was an excellent accompaniment by the Woman's Symphony orchestra and the organist, Stanley Martin.

"The Cross of Fire" takes an hour in performance, and for the second half of the concert there was a mixed and equally agreeable program. The chorus sang the "Resurrection" section from Liszt's "Christus" and "Lord Now Victorious" from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Good Morning!

You dial your number . . . And you get a WRONG number . . . Again you dial . . .

To your ear comes a sound that combines all the annoyances of a "busy" signal, a rooster crowing in your ear at daybreak, the rasping of a file and the persistent tap-tapping of the bridge-bore's finger nails on a card table. . . .

Your justifiable complaint to the smile voiced operator brings a "trouble shooter" into the picture. And a "trouble shooter," as you probably know, is the phone company's Mr. Fixit. . . .

In this movie Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie are "trouble shooters." And do believe me when I say that their perambulations 'mongst the volts, wires and "hello" girls provide as tasty a dish of laughter and excitement as had been dished up for many a day.

A murder, an earthquake, a bank robbery, a sizzling romance between Mr. Tracy and Miss Cummings, and a sort of Greek chorus affair 'twixt Mr. Oakie and Miss Judge add much tang to the concoction which is served up with lavish garniture of crisp wise cracks.

The story idea was a good one, and it has been excellently worked out. The acting is A1 throughout, direction rings the bell, and, while you may cock an eye occasionally at the plausibility of the action, you'll be impressed with its speed, zip and ingenuity.

As for that Mr. Spencer Tracy—I'm getting such a comfortable feeling about him. Becoming so sure that he's never, never going to disappoint me. Because, you see, he never has.

See you soon!

Mrs. Roosevelt Tells School Girls of Need for Unselfish Citizens

New York, April 18—(AP)—Government today needs "citizens with character to produce public servants with character," Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told pupils of the fashionable girls' schools of New York at a meeting for her today at the Spence school.

"And back of its public servants, it needs individuals who are willing to be unselfish and who look at the world, not as a place to get all they can, but to make as many people as possible have a happy and pleasant life," she asserted.

She urged her listeners to occupy themselves with something that interested them.

"I think the time has come to an end," she said, "when we can get to the top by stepping on the dead bodies of other people. We get further by coöperation than by fighting for ourselves alone."

New Handbags Ablaze with Bright Colors

You Can Buy Them to Match Your Scarf.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Costume accessories are splashy trifles this spring.

New handbags are streaked with blazing stripes of color; others blaze with high shades of coral rose, citron, bright orange, kelly green, and a stunning shade of wood violet, and some almost bon bon shades of yellow, green, and pink.

These new colored bags come in smooth and semi-rough fabrics, nice matching bits for smart wool suits and dresses or tweeds. Some of them are lined with linen or crash, some with corded silk, and some with plain dull textured cottons.

The most interesting of frames are the blocky, light colored wooden affairs, or composition stuff in chalky white, or bold shades of blue and color; anything that contrasts the colors of the fabric.

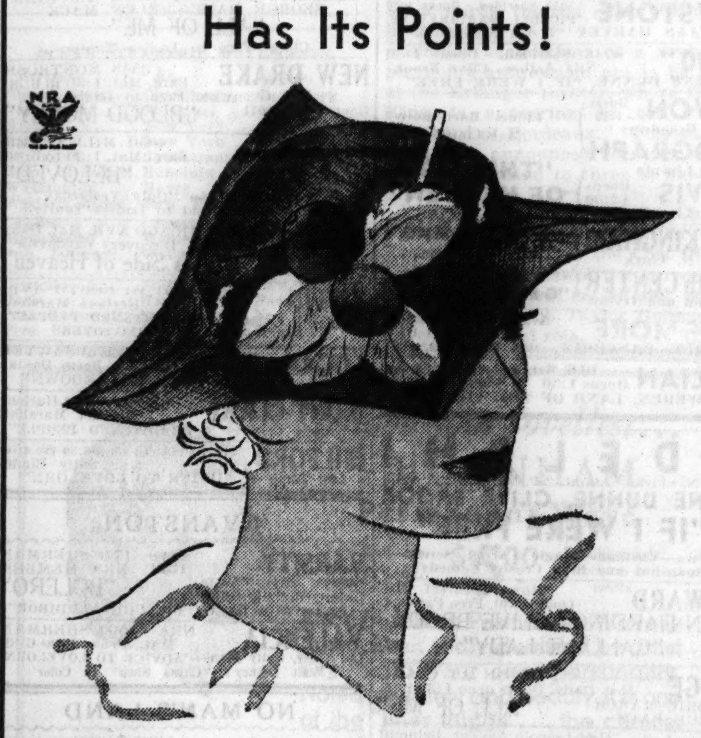
Some of the best color contrasts are available in the newest bags of string. Bags in all kinds of unusual shapes and styles are made of extraordinarily good looking colors in fine string.

You can easily find a bag and scarf that are perfectly matched—all of the wildest checks and plaid effects in taffeta are obtainable—the black and white squares, the cherry red and blue and black combines, the slightly dizzy zebra zigzags, and the smaller patterns for the shopper, with "thumbs down" for designs that are too big.

The scarfs are fringed or they come in ascots, in trim squares, in triangles, and with sufficient length to tie a rakish bow under dimpled and non-dimpled chins. These bags and scarf combinations can magically transform the most dated of one piece dresses or suits, as well as coats without fur.

Fashion photograph . . . A new white fabric beret that will see much head service during spring and summer, for it is larger than the last season's models and slants dashingly in a new 1934 manner over the eye. The tucked top formations are as new as the very large and accommodating hat box also photographed. From a Chicago shop.

On the Square, This Hat Has Its Points!



YOU only have to glance at it to see that! When you look further you'll see that all four points are fashion points—from the one that droops coyly over the right eye to the one that turns pertly up in back. Of baku with two rosy apples in front. Priced at $15.

SYNOPSIS.

Dorinda Quarles is found stabbed to death after a dinner party in her Paris apartment. Unscrupulous, Dorinda had served a drug to her fourteen guests, which was provided by one of them, Bannister Mowbray. Helen Roderick, who was a friend of Dorinda's mother, Lady Agatha, discovers the crime early next morning, and all the guests, except Dinah Blake, a young American artist, lying about in deep sleep. Tommy Rostetter, a journalist, was Dinah's dinner partner. Dinah's engagement to Christopher Loughton, in the American embassy, was, according to gossip, broken on account of Dorinda. Dinah returns two days later, her memory a blank, to the apartment she shares with her cousin Hallie Pemberton. She had been sleeping in the studio of absent friends. Tommy persuades her to pretend an engagement to him to prevent a jealousy motive. Dorinda's stepfather, Basil Jethro, celebrated Oxford scholar, was her guardian and trustee. The two were on unfriendly terms. Dorinda had told Dinah that she suspected Jethro of giving her mother an overdose of a drug. Tommy engages a room at the hotel where Jethro had stopped the night of the murder. He suspects Jethro and searches for proof. Bannister Mowbray's lifeless body is found floating in the Seine. The verdict is suicide. His roommate, Ronald Cleeves, tries to die by gas, but is rescued. Neither had anything to gain by Dorinda's death.

INSTALMENT XXXIV.

DARK WOODS.

"Did Monsieur Cleeves seem anxious?" inquired Tommy.

"He kept going to look out of the window," said the manservant, "but he said nothing, and about noon he sent me out on an errand to buy a bottle of gin and some siphons."

"And then?"

"It took me some little time to get what I wanted. When I got back there were two officers hammering at the door, and the instant I let them in with my key we smelled gas. He was in the kitchen, monsieur, lying before the gas oven. I was sure he was dead, for his face was the color of plaster, and he neither stirred nor groaned. It's my belief he'd heard about his friend over the telephone and rushed at once to take his life."

"But if no one else was here, how do you know he was rung up?"

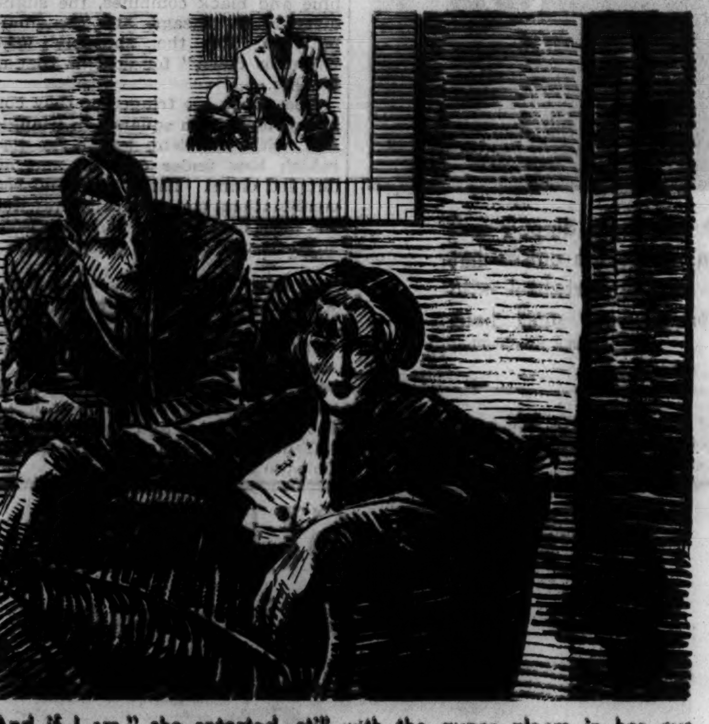
"Because the woman across the hall heard the telephone ring and stopped almost immediately, showing it had been answered."

"And you can't tell me anything in the way of conversation which passed between them?" Tommy asked.

"I don't understand English, monsieur, but I feel certain they were often discussing the murder on the Ile St. Louis. I think, too, the matter of money must have worried them, for," lowering his voice, "it's quite undeniable neither of them had a sou. Since they came here my wages have not been paid and they owed so much to the butcher, the baker, and the wine merchants that there was great trouble getting credit. When my own master comes back he will find bills all over the quarter besides the gas, electric, and, maybe, the rent."

"As bad as that, was it?" exclaimed Tommy with kindling eyes.

"Ah, very bad, monsieur. I believe the young one kept expecting some remittance, because whenever an English letter came he tore it open, took a quick look inside, and flung it into the fire. One could see he was furious."



"And if I am," she retorted, still with the queer gleam in her eyes, "whom have I got to thank for it?"

"Any letters lying about?"

"No, the police searched, but could find nothing."

Tommy left the apartment feeling that there was much to think over but that his were not the brains to do the thinking.

To the two American women immured in the Val de Grace flat the tidings brought breath taking astonishment. Hallie Pemberton trembled so violently that her glasses tumbled from her neat nose.

"Those men!" she gasped, turning dull red with triumph. "O, I knew they must have had some hand in it! Think, Dinah, think what this will mean to us! If only Tommy—I mean Mr. Rostetter—would come and tell us about it!"

Dinah shared her cousin's wish. She had come to depend on her make-believe lover, to draw strength from the presence of one who to her represented a sort of combined father and brother. From Virginia cables came daily offering advice, help, but there was only Tommy to whom she could say what she liked without fear of being misunderstood, only Tommy who would never condemn, who could treat her darkest moods with a whimsical common sense which had somehow enabled her to preserve her balance.

As soon as he arrived Hallie bombarded him with questions, but it was plain he had little to offer in the way of elucidation.

"It's leaked out, now, that Cleeves did hear the news over the telephone. A reporter rang him up."

"But it will help Dinah, won't it?" urged Hallie with desperate appeal.

He patted her shoulder sympathetically. "Whether it does or not," he answered, "she's well on the way to being released. What's just happened certainly can't make matters worse for her. One must wait and see the interpretation put upon it."

He paused, struck by something enigmatic in Dinah's expression.

"What's bothering you?" he asked gently.

"You are lynx-eyed!" She tried to laugh. "Well, then, it's this: Mowbray may have seen he was going to be held partly responsible, because he gave us the drug. Maybe he knew I did it."

"You didn't do it! How could he——?"

"How can you be sure he wasn't awake?" she asked quietly. "He's used to drugs, they might take slow effect on him."

He chided her for stupidity, but in his heart he knew her reasoning to be sound. Mowbray had been left free solely that his movements might be watched. Sooner or later he would have been clapped into jail, and perhaps—who can say?—the charge against him would have been far more grave than simple violation of the drug act. That he might actually have witnessed the stabbing was an idea it would be hard to erase now Dinah had introduced it.

"At any rate the judge hasn't got an inkling of any such event. You're safe—safe as houses."

"And if I am," she retorted, still with the queer gleam in her eyes, "whom have I got to thank for it?"

Before a red fire of boulets, Tommy sucked hard at his pipe and glanced abstractedly at the front page of L'Ami du Peuple, outspread on his knee. He knew every word of the three statements it contained, none of which supplied him with fresh matter. Indeed, it was the very absence of enlightening comment which made him study them with a probing eye, trying unsuccessfully to decide what, if anything, lay behind their curt, reserved phrases.

First came the meager admissions finally drawn from the prostrate Cleeves, who, defending his dead friend from every criminal implication, swore emphatically he knew of no real reason why the latter should have taken his life. Yes, he had helped Mowbray to escape from the taxicab the two of them occupied, the spot chosen being close to the Concorde Metro station. Mowbray had declared he had an appointment and did not wish to be spied upon by the police, but what the appointment was he did not say, and Cleeves had not asked. He, Cleeves, had not tried to elude pursuit. He had strolled about the grande boulevards, stopped for a while at a café, and returned home to find Mowbray still out. That was all, except that he denied all knowledge of how Mowbray obtained his drugs. The subject had never interested him.

The earl of Conisbroke was even more laconic. He declared his belief that the foregoing statement was true in every detail, that his son's record at the university had been above reproach, and that it was Ronald's deep love of the classics which had drawn him into close friendship with Bannister Mowbray, whose scholastic achievements were well known. He was told that Mowbray and Ronald had been engaged in writing a speculative treatise on the Delphic Mysteries, and it was the disappointment caused by the ruin of this joint labor, coupled with personal grief for the loss of one he deeply admired, which had precipitated the unfortunate young man's attempt at suicide. As soon as permission was granted, Lord Conisbroke proposed to take his son for a long cruise. Ronald's nerves had received a double shock, from which it would take time to recover.

The third interview was with Basil Jethro. It was dignified, frank, and absolutely noncommittal. The philosopher had no theories to offer. He deeply regretted his inability to assist the police but, hampered as he was by total ignorance concerning the private relations of his late stepdaughter, he was reluctantly obliged to stand aside and, though he put it less vulgarly, keep his finger out of the pie.

Words, words! Was the man's gigantic brainpower lavished entirely on the abstract?

Mrs. Edward Miller-Mills to Be Presented.

26 at 12:15 o'clock. Dr. J. L. Biggar, national commissioner, Canadian Red Cross society, will be a guest. Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. C. Morse Ely, and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine are the others on the committee.

The Carl Brickens will entertain a large party of friends at a buffet supper at their home Sunday evening preceding the concert the University of Chicago Symphony orchestra is to give in Mandel hall. The orchestra is to play a symphony composed by Frederick the Great of Prussia never before played in Chicago.

Garden Party to Benefit Cradle.

On Tuesday, April 24, from 5 to 10 o'clock, there is to be a garden party for the benefit of the Cradle in Evanston, and the weather won't matter in the least, as it does at most garden parties, for the party is to be in the galleries of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

Mrs. Howard W. Fenton has arranged to take over the opening of an exhibition of five perfect rooms arranged by House and Garden as a benefit for her favorite charity, and a large terrace is being built on which to serve refreshments to those who go to view the rooms that evening.

Young women interested in the Cradle, dressed in gay summer clothes and garden hats, will pour at the tea and coffee urns and serve claret punch. Mrs. Louise De Koven Phelps, who is chairman of the Chicago auxiliary of the Cradle, is assisting Mrs. Fenton with the arrangements and is in charge of a table setting contest in which some of society's most noted table setters will compete. Mrs. Phelps' sister, Mrs. William McCormick Blair; Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Mrs. John H. Hamline Jr., Mrs. J. Andrew King, Mrs. Lloyd A. Laflin, Andrew Rebori, John Root, and Thomas C. Tallmadge are those who have agreed to take part in the competition, which will be judged by Richardson Wright, who is coming from New York especially for the affair. He is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton while he is here.

New Membership Class at Post and Paddock.

When the Post and Paddock club reopens on June 25 for the thirty day season of the Arlington Park Jocky club there will be a greatly augmented membership at this attractive place where society gathers during the season at Arlington. When the club originally was founded the persons who joined the Post and Paddock paid $10,000 each and liked it, too!

This fee never has been lowered, so to meet the demand for privileges for younger members and as a result of the depression years, a new lot of associate members are to be admitted this year. They will have the same clubhouse privileges as do regular members, but they will pay only $550 each.

Laurance H. Armour again is president of the Post and Paddock; Thomas E. Wilson is vice president; Lawrence F. Stern, secretary, and Charles F. Glore, treasurer.

Tell Engagement of Mary Grubbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buckley of Brookmoor, Barrington, yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Grubbs, to Carl Dautel of Evanston. This is pleasant news to the many friends of both young people, for Miss Grubbs, petite and vivacious, is a very popular person. She attended the University School for Girls. Mr. Dautel is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Corwith Cramer, who returned early last week from a winter in Florida, are at home in Lake Forest in the home of Mr. Cramer's mother, Mrs. Ambrose Cramer. The elder Mrs. Cramer, who has been in Jamaica for the last few months visiting her daughter, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, and granddaughter, Joan Ryerson, is sailing late this month for New York and will be at home the first week in May. Mrs. Ryerson and Joan will accompany her.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell are leaving tomorrow for the west. They will go by train to Denver where they will meet their aero car and drive to their California home via Arizona. As soon as they reach Santa Barbara Mr. Mitchell will begin making plans for the trek to the Rancho Juan y Lolita in the Santa Ynes valley which a group of men make on horseback each May and which is a never to be forgotten experience, so those who have done it say.

Mr. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. John Payne Kellogg, and Mr. Kellogg and their three children are arriving at home this afternoon from a southern vacation. The children had a happy time at Boca Grande while their parents had a more exciting and busy time exploring the Maya ruins of Guatemala.

Mrs. Thomas J. O'Gara returned recently from St. Paul, where she visited her daughter and son-in-law, the Frederick K. Weyerhausers. Mr. and Mrs. Weyerhauser came down with Mrs. O'Gara and spent a day or two here with her before going on to New York, where they will spend several weeks.

Mrs. T. Philip Swift and her mother, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, have returned from the Virginia Hot Springs and New York.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. James Stillwell of Judson avenue, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Fullerton, to Robert Dwight Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Parks of Boston, Mass.

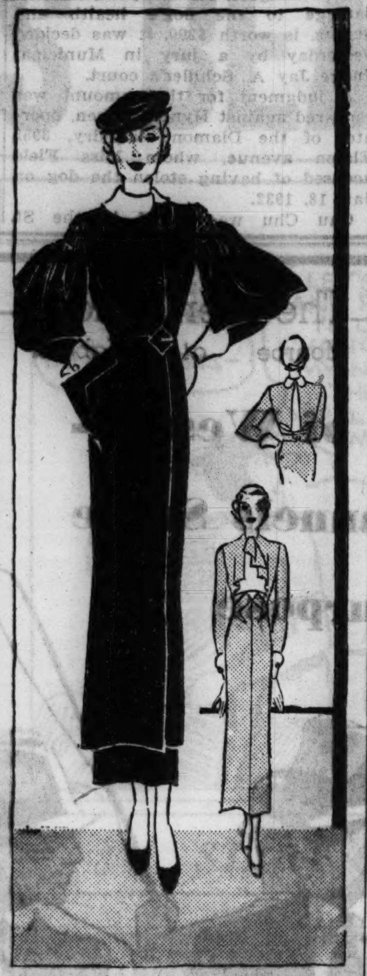
Blackford's Beauty.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This four patch block dates from the opening of the 19th century, and is constantly bobbing up in all parts of the country, always under the name "Blackford's Beauty." That fact alone would differentiate it from scores of quilt paterns that are known by various titles.

Black and White Ensembles Still Leaders in Paris



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The black and white daytime ensemble is every woman's friend, and for this reason it is kept on in Parish fashions this spring as in every other season. The silk ensemble in black is being worn and shown here, made fresh and dainty and smart by white details.

This Jean Patou black silk crêpe ensemble is one of the smartest in the black and white formula. The coat is three-quarters length, fastened down the left side of the front, and has full elbow length sleeves, shirred at the top and bloused over the elbows. It has a small white piqué turnover collar and is held at the waistline by a diamond shaped piece of black leather and a silver tongue. It pockets its personality in a big, jutting pocket on the right hip.

The black silk crêpe frock has a vestee of white piqué that shows under the bolero front of the blouse, and at the back the bodice is slit to show white piqué. There are big white piqué cuffs that show with and without the coat.

The skirt has a center front seam and is built up above the waistline at the top by set on pointed bands. There is a self-material belt across the back, set at the normal line.

Massage, Done Correctly, Is Big Beauty Aid

Kneading and Pounding Is Detrimental Method.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

They do say that no other beauty pursuit among women is subject to as much controversy as massage. Facials, that is. You're either for them or against them, it appears. The funny thing, however, is that the women who are against them conversationally are rarely, if ever, pursuers of this form of beauty upkeep. The women who practice facials are strong for them.

Well, my observation is that women who give their faces and throats and hands that daily care implied in a massage look it. They look cared for. They look better groomed, and even their faces look younger.

I do believe that, formerly, there were some pretty crude forms of facials administered by so-called professionals. That was when women were inclined to believe anything they heard in a beauty parlor. The heavy handed kneading may rightly be accused of doing more harm to tissues and muscles than no care at all. But today, in a salon of any reputation, operators have to know something about skin, bone, and muscle structure, and they practice their knowledge with a great deal of cleverness.

The woman who cannot afford professional treatment has learned, too, that the rough way is not the way of good massage work. She knows that the trick of a good facial is to get a glow in the face from stirred up circulation. To get this she knows she needs only light slaps and taps. She does not have to knead, and pummel, and break down tissue instead of toning it.

Cream she needs in her home facial work to prevent friction and at the same time to cleanse more thoroughly. In giving herself a good home facial she first cleanses with a cream, then washes this off with soap and warm water, then a cool rinse, and then a massage cream [of a little heavier substance than the cleansing cream]. This latter is what she works with while she slaps and pats until the circulation stirring is announced with a warm glow. A few minutes of this, the cream wiped off, and an astringent used, and the face so treated just does look beter.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We've been on the lookout lately for a liquid powder base that really worked well. We have a notion that in warm weather a lot of women whose skins say it with oil might abandon cream foundations and take to something lighter—unless, of course, they're hardy souls going in for exposure to the sun, in which case they'll need more protection.

You'll find a foundation lotion of which we're greatly enamored in one Chicago beauty shop and at the cosmetic counters of the same department store. It's like—but actually is not—a liquid powder, an almost transparent liquid when the powder is settled at the bottom. It must be shaken well before using and it is applied sparingly and skilfully to the face with a pad of cotton saturated in water. The excess moisture of the cotton pad should be gently squeezed out so that just a suede like film of the foundation is left on the face. As it dries this film can be smoothed a bit with the finger.

It makes a pleasant powder base, we found, if it is used properly and if you're not so impatient as to slap your makeup on before it is entirely dry. The powder made by the same cosmetic concern takes to it beautifully—and their powders are individualized, one for dry and one for oily skins, each in a good range of shades.

We use so much and so many creams in experiments of one kind and another that recently we found our skin with what for us is rare indeed, an overdose of oil. We changed from creams to this liquid foundation and found it excellent. It has its good points for normal, oily or the kind of skin that is known as a "combination," usually with slightly oily patches down the nose and chin and aggravating dry areas on the cheeks.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

THE TWO NO TRUMP OPENING BID.

In concluding my explanation of this important bid, I wish to remark that it is the only opening bid in my system which is to some extent a "scale bid" or "quantitative bid"—by which I mean a bid which announces approximately both the maximum and the minimum playing strength of the hand, and calls on the partner also to give his whole message in one bid [unless able to make a slam forcing jump suit response]. Sometimes you may need this bid for hands very different from the examples given; it is your resource whenever you are afraid to bid one because a pass would probably cause the loss of a game, while a forcing opening bid would mislead the partner and so risk an impossible slam contract being arrived at should your partner be strong enough to eliminate from your hand the few losers which a forcing opening bid by you would apparently enable him to count immediately. Never use this bid with a completely unprotected suit in the hand; but with unusual hands such as

Sp.—A x Di.—A x x
Ht.—K Q Cl.—A K x x x x

or

Sp.—K x Di.—K x
Ht.—K x Cl.—A K Q x x x x

I would bid two no trumps in spite of their freakish composition. If my partner is weak, I am taking the best chance for game. If he is strong, I can make a jump takeout in my long suit in response to any other minimum reply to my original bid. Even if hands of the above type contain nine laydown tricks in themselves, do not bid three no trumps because this opening bid is, as you will shortly learn, reserved for a different purpose, and you would not be able to correct the misinformation you would thereby be giving your partner.

I like to feel that this bid allows wide scope for initiative and imagination when unusual hands with the stipulated all-round protection have to be steered between the Scylla of a lost game as the result of a pass by the partner if the opening bid is only a one bid, and the Charybdis of a hopeless slam contract reached in consequence of an unsound opening forcing bid.

My System Gives Scope for the Brilliant Exceptional Bid.

Little Johnny Rau, winner of a national contract championship with Billy Barrett when their combined ages were 40, does not miss many opportunities to depart from the strict letter of the system when he foresees an advantage likely to be obtained from an exceptional bid, and can subsequently guide the bidding back to the normal channel should the developments appear unfavorable.

With this hand:

Sp.—Q J 10 Di.—Q J
Ht.—A Cl.—A Q J x x x x

he opened the bidding third hand in the South position with one no trump, not with the natural one club bid. Had North bid two hearts, Johnny would have bid and rebid his clubs, but the partner's response was two no trumps. He held

Sp.—x x x Di.—K 10 x x
Ht.—K x x Cl.—K x x

Feeling sure that his clubs would be established [if the king had to make against him] before the weak spot could be stripped of protection, South bid three no trumps. Now West doubled eagerly, being on the lead with

Sp.—A K x x Di.—A 10
Ht.—Q J 10 x x x Cl.—x

and not suspecting a seven card solid club suit. The North hand redoubled, having three kings—strong support for a rebid Sims no trumper. The heart was opened; declarer immediately forced out the ace of diamonds. West continued with the hearts instead of cashing the ace king of spades. So Johnny made his contract redoubled with three overtricks. There is no game in clubs.

[Copyright: By Public Ledger.]

When possible to do so briefly, Mr. Sims will answer specific inquiries on contract that are addressed to this newspaper. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The Stage

Mme. Maria Jeritza's engagement in the operetta, "Annina," at the Grand Opera house has been extended for a third week, or until April 28. In other words, the box office business is flourishing.

Similar suggestions of a revival of playgoing enthusiasm are to be found at the Erlanger theater, where Dennis King is appearing in the drama, "Richard of Bordeaux." This engagement was announced for two weeks, but an extension to three is likely.

The next première on the Chicago stage calendar will be that of "Big Hearted Herbert," at the Cort theater April 29. This comedy, a current hit in New York, will be offered with a new cast in which Taylor Holmes will have the central rôle.

Color Sketches of Orient Win Praise of Critic

Clara Park Has Character Sketches of Trip.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Two exhibitions are making the week gay. In the Cordon club, Fine Arts building, an exhibition of oriental sketches by Clara Cahill Park is of interest. They are character notes made by Mrs. Park on an extended journey that took her to India, Africa, Japan, Russia, England, and Honolulu. In each country she sketched in color the dominant types.

The East African subjects are the most intriguing. Some with feather headdress, others with beads and shawl, a few as nature made them, these dark skinned people stand out as vivid matter for a painter's brush.

Particularly intriguing, even lovely, is the East African "Mother and Child," a beautiful, simple composition, effective in line and color. The "Gold Mine Worker" is a stunning piece of characterization and so are "Brandy" and "Zulu Rickshaw Man." The little Negress in Puritan garb, "Lucy Learning to Be Civilized," is amusing and sweet.

There is fine work found among the Japanese sketches and among the portraits from India. The several architectural studies are delightful in color and the few landscapes are well done. Mrs. Park is a colorist and an able interpreter. The exhibit is worth seeing.

From the Cordon club to the William R. Moore studio, 40 Bellevue place, is a long step, but the exhibit there of the interiors newly executed for Yale colleges is so interesting the effort is well repaid. The Yale plan is patterned after Oxford and a decidedly English flavor permeates the several beautiful new buildings.

One exterior is influenced by the architecture of South Carolina, lovely lines, light and shade, and an atmosphere of drawling southern hospitality.

The little modern note struck in one entrance hall interior comes as an anachronism; it is as though a cowboy strode through a church flourishing his lariat.

Punishment Not Answer to Child's Faults

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Punishing isn't the answer. When you're confronted with undesirable behavior in your children spanking and depriving them of things and scolding won't do any real good, even if they work for the moment.

You must try to find out why things are as they are—and at the same time keep up a warm and friendly relationship. I frequently receive letters like the following—and frequently about little girls, too. This is only the gist of the communication:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I'm confronted with a terrible problem! The bringing up of my 8 year old daughter.

"I'm at my wits end trying to find a way of making her behave, but nothing helps. I've tried physical punishment. Then I've tried taking away the things she likes best to eat.

"Now don't misunderstand. She is an exceptionally bright child. She gets A in schoolwork almost every month and she skipped last term.

"I don't say that I have an awful lot of patience with her. I haven't because I have another baby and I can't spend so much time with the older one."

Here is obviously a completely wrong management. The child has two people "floored" and can see that she has. What is needed cannot be put into a short article but our new booklet, "Living with Our in Betweens," would help and also both our Obedience and Patience booklets.

One other suspicion I have and that is that this child's companions are not desirable.

Also perhaps the mother is allowing the new baby to deprive the daughter of much interest and affection. What this little girl needs now more than anything else is approval and praise, loving treatment, and interesting occupations for her mind and hands at home. She is bright and should be helped to a rich development.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers — a weekly radio feature — will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 2 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

If "there is a destiny that shapes our ends," culinarily speaking, chances are that it will turn out to be an aluminum mold or a glass one or one of earthenware. For, while perhaps foods were made to be "et" and not ogled at, deny it if you can that the whole gamut of dishes tastes better if looking well. And one of the best ways I know of lending them swank is to mold them whenever the occasion permits.

Unless you're thinking in terms of baked egg mixtures, molds must mean to you—gelatin. Get it plain and granulated or flavored and slightly sweetened. That delightful place, the department store, will supply every sort of mold from a whaling big fish for mousse to wee heart forms for meat garnishes. Or custard cups, pans, or jelly glasses will pinch hit in a noble way.

In figuring out the ingredients consider the gelatin flavor first—or work it vice versa. Either contrast or harmony is the notion—coffee gelatin and cubed pork just don't seem to hit it off well together! But let's let recipes talk:

MOLDED CHICKEN MOUSSE.

1 cup chicken stock or milk, scalded
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 two ounce jar pimientos
1 cup cooked chicken, minced
1 cup cream, whipped
1 dozen ripe olives

Pour the stock or milk, stirring constantly, into the beaten yolks. Return the mixture to the double boiler and cook with stirring till the custard just coats the spoon. Soak the gelatin five minutes in the cold water and when the custard is cooked dissolve the gelatin in it. Add the seasoning and chicken. Chill until it begins to thicken, then fold in the stiffly beaten cream. Have ready one big mold or numerous smaller ones, rinsed with water, then garnish on the sides and bottom with the ripe olives and the pimientos, cut in fancy shapes. Many of these small, dainty cutters may be picked up at the department stores or a little practice, a sharp knife, and scissors will do the trick. A fish mold, of course, is most convincing. Pour the mousse mixture into the waiting molds and chill until firm. Then unmold by dipping the pan a moment in hot water and shaking it gently. Garnish this fellow with watercress or lettuce and serve with a cold lemon sauce or, more perfect yet, with a:

SOUR CREAM CUCUMBER SAUCE.

Peel, chop, and drain a cucumber. Beat one-half cup of heavy cream until foamy but not stiff. Add very gradually one teaspoon of vinegar, beating steadily. Fold in the seasoning and the cucumber. All the ingredients for this sauce should be quite chilly before commencing.

COST OF RUNNING N. Y. IN 1932 WAS $67.77 A PERSON

City Spent 489 Millions, Census Figures Show.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—New York City's expenditures for operation and maintenance of its general departments amounted in 1932 to $499,204,290, or $67.77 per capita, as against $65.48 in 1931 and $25.64 in 1917, according to financial statistics of the city corporation for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1932, made public today by the census bureau.

The per capita for 1932, however, was increased by additional payments for security against old age want, for relief of unemployed, and for work made available for unemployment relief, principally in parks. These expenditures, it was stated, were partly offset by subventions from the state for these measures, amounting to more than $15,000,000. The per capita figures for 1932 are based on an estimated population of 7,218,100.

94 Millions Debt Interest.

Payments for the operation and maintenance of public service enterprises in 1932 [water works, markets, docks, street railways, ferries, and toll bridges] amounted to $18,074,226; interest on debt, $94,081,460; and outlays for permanent improvements, including those for public service enterprises, $154,320,614. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments and public service enterprises, for interest and outlays, were $755,680,589. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

The total revenue receipts were $660,402,682, or $91.49 per capita. This was $59,042,707 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $95,277,907 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. These payments in excess of revenue receipts were met from the proceeds of debt obligations.

Huge Tax Increase.

Property taxes represented 69.2 per cent of the total revenue for 1932, 70.8 per cent for 1931, and 73.1 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property taxes collected was 289.3 per cent from 1917 to 1932, but there was a decrease of 5.3 per cent from 1931 to 1932. The per capita of property taxes collected was $63.35 in 1932, $68.08 in 1931, and $32.36 in 1917.

Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 5.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1932, 5.6 per cent for 1931, and 9.1 per cent for 1917.

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding Dec. 31, 1932, was $2,240,584,192. Of this amount $1,137,237,125 was for public service enterprises and investments.

CURRY DEFIES FOES TO MAKE HIM QUIT AS TAMMANY CHIEF

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—John F. Curry today defied his enemies to try to oust him as leader of Tammany Hall.

"I said last week that I had no intention of resigning, and that still stands," Curry said.

He declared flatly that the insurgent district leaders did not have enough votes to control the executive committee.

His announcement, made in his office at Tammany hall came after the insurgent group had announced the accession of two more leaders—Marshall Ingram, leader of the 7th assembly district, and Mrs. N. Taylor Phillips, co-leader.

These, theoretically, gave the insurgents a clear majority of the executive committee's twenty-three votes.

Curry, however, intimated that some of the insurgents had backslid.

He said that he conferred only this morning with some of the "rebels," and indicated that they had assured him of support. He declined to give their names.

Langer Order at Issue; He Charges Plot.

Mott, N. D., April 18.—(AP)—State's Attorney J. K. Murray of Hettinger county today said he was preparing warants for the arrest of three National Guardsmen said to have acted under orders of Gov. William Langer.

Murray said the warants would charge Capt. Klinfelter and Privates A. Remillong and R. C. Ehlie with assault with deadly weapons and with extortion. He said the Guardsmen forcibly removed a farmer named Peters from a farm he had rented after the purchase contract of Frank Stricker with a Minneapolis firm had been canceled.

In the absence of declaration of martial law, Murray asserted, the Guardsmen had no legal power to act as they did. The case may test the governor's order halting evictions as Stricker had to leave the farm he was buying.

Charges Business Plot.

Bismarck, N. D., April 18.—(AP)—Gov. Langer, indicted by a federal grand jury on two charges, today charged "big business interests" are seeking a nullification of his various moratoria by his removal from office.

He called "absurd" the federal charge he interfered with proper administration of an act of congress.

Referring to the other charge, that of conspiracy to exact political contributions from federal employés, the governor said "the quicker this is brought on for trial, the better I will like it."

Hopes for Reëlection.

Striking out at "big business," Langer said that "regardless of what big business interests may do," he will be renominated in June and reelected in November.

"If the only way the big business interests figure they can get rid of the moratoria is to remove me," he said, "they are right. I knew the penalty that would be inflicted when I declared the moratoria and I am fully prepared to pay it."

Still in effect are Langer's proclamations declaring a moratorium on mortgage foreclosures, evictions, and on business debts.

An appeal to the United States Supreme court has been taken from a federal district court decision voiding Langer's moratoria on wheat and beef cattle.

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was erroneously stated in THE TRIBUNE yesterday that Mrs. Rubie Riddiford Powner is the daughter of Arthur B. Riddiford of 237 South Grove avenue, Oak Park. Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr., counsel for Mrs. Powner, explained yesterday that she is the daughter of the late W. H. Riddiford of Oak Park and a niece of Arthur Riddiford.

Due to erroneous information furnished by the City News Bureau, it was stated in THE TRIBUNE yesterday that William Weber had been elected as one of the three trustees in Arlington Heights. George Schaefer was elected to that post, leading Weber by twenty-three votes.

AWARDED $200 FOR ONE YEAR'S LOSS OF A DOG

The loss to Miss Marie Field, 2421 Arthington street, of the companionship and affection of Chu Chu, her prize Pekingese, for one year, and the damage to the dog's health and nerves, is worth $200, it was decided yesterday by a jury in Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller's court.

A judgment for that amount was rendered against Hyman Cohen, operator of the Diamond laundry, 3955 Elston avenue, whom Miss Field accused of having stolen the dog on Jan. 18, 1932.

Chu Chu was found in the St. Louis home of Cohen's son, Lester, last Feb. 6. Cohen, taking the stand to defend himself, declared he found Chu Chu on the street and thought the animal was a stray. He added that he had been very kind to Chu Chu and treated him for sore eyes, and then sent him to the pleasant home of Lester Cohen.

End Detroit Series Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Zeke Bonura yesterday smashed a couple of homers in an effort to shake off the White Sox losing habit, but the big Italian's heroics were in vain. When the afternoon's meeting with the Tigers was over the Detroiters were the victors, 6 to 5, and the Sox were reflecting on a losing streak which has extended through five exhibition games and the two American league games played to date.

Frantic efforts were being made last night to get George Earnshaw rested enough to start against the Tigers with the hope that the nectar of victory may be tasted ere the Tigers move on after today's game. But George was still a bit weary from the two innings he pitched in Tucson, Ariz., on April 6 and also one inning against the Cubs last Saturday, so Fonseca has Phil Gallivan standing by in case the big Swarthmore hero can't get ready.

Gives Sox the Lead.

Bonura's homers, both enormous swats not very far to the right of the center field bleachers, caused great enthusiasm at the time they were stroked, for the first one, knocked with Jack Hayes on base in the third inning, tied the score at 2 all and the second one gave the Chicagoans a 3 to 2 advantage in the fifth.

It is an unhappy fact that Bonura was not the only gent to test out the range of the revised Comiskey premises. Goose Goslin cracked one with his boss, Mickey Cochrane, on base in the first inning, and Gerald Walker negotiated a very distressing maximum drive with two on and one already home in a sixth inning blowup of Wyatt, who previously had allowed only three hits. He allowed three singles, a double and the aforesaid homer in the big bogging down tableau in the sixth.

Blast Sorrell Out.

Rogell and Gehringer were easy outs at the outset of the contest, but Manager Cochrane wheedled Wyatt for a pass. At this juncture Goslin socked his homer, a line smash which hit in the seventh row of the right field stand, Cochrane scoring ahead of him. Walker doubled to left, but Chamberlin threw out Greenburg.

Hayes got a nice line single with one down in the Sox first, but Bonura let a third strike whizz by and Rogell tossed out Simmons.

Owen's Triple Wasted.

Owen wasted a triple in the Tiger second. After Doljack had fanned, Owen drove the ball to the center field wall. Sorrell was called out on strikes and Rogell flied to Swanson. In the Sox half Ruel doubled to center after two were out, but died on second when Chamberlin fouled to Cochrane.

Things were moving along in a rather routine manner just before Bonura put on his run tying act. Gehringer, Cochrane and Goslin had been retired in the Tiger half of the third and Wyatt and Swanson had gone down in the Sox half. Then Hayes walked. Bonura looked a bit grim as he strode up to the plate, possibly remembering that in the opener he did not get the ball out of the infield and that he had fanned in his first appearance yesterday. At any rate Zeke dug in on Sorrell's second pitch and drove his No. 1 homer into the right center stands at a point only 20 feet to the right of the center field bleacher. Hayes scored ahead of him. Simmons followed with his first hit of the 1934 campaign, a single to right, but Sorrell threw out Appling.

Duplicates His Drive.

The Tigers also were retired in order in the fourth and fifth innings which

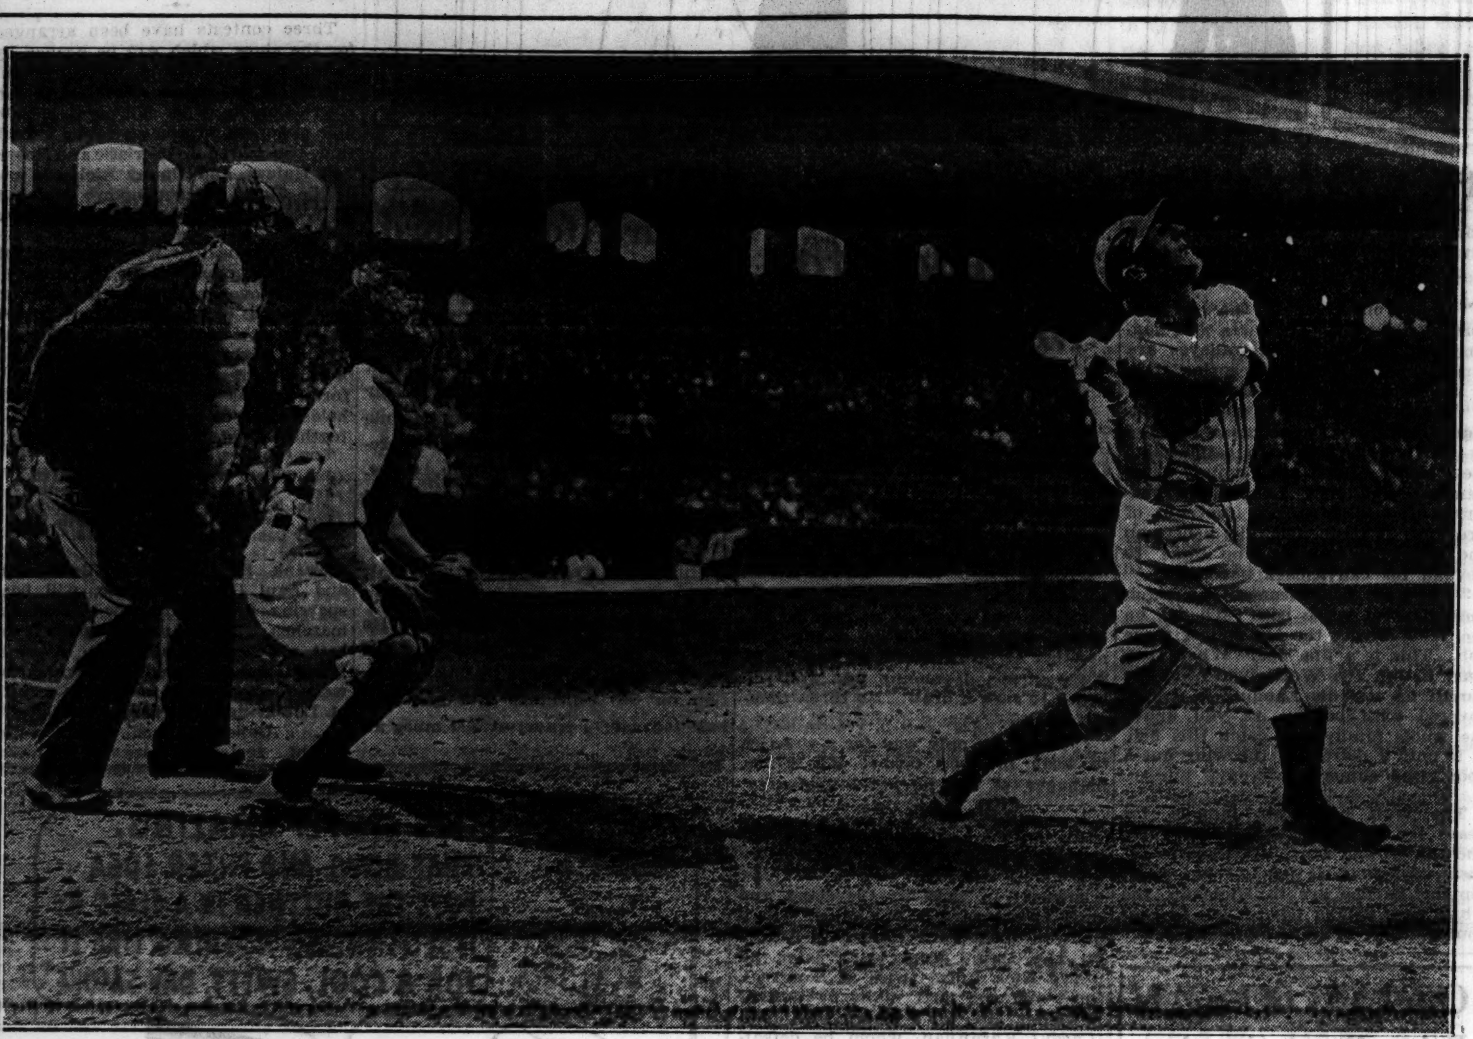
START OF COMISKEY PARK HOME RUN BARRAGE



Goose Goslin, Detroit outfielder, drives out a home run with a mate on base in the first inning of yesterday's game, which the Tigers won from the Sox, 6 to 5. Later Zeke Bonura of the Sox took the cue and hammered two round trip smashes. Then Gerald Walker of Detroit caught the spirit of the day and pounded out a circuit drive that accounted for three runs. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

FOXX GETS IN HOME RUN RACE WITH 2 DRIVES

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics pulled away to a fast start in his quest for the 1934 home run honors in the big leagues today by hitting two over the fence against the New York Yankees.

Foxx's pair of homers were two of sixteen hit today by batsmen in the major leagues. Chick Hafey of the Cincinnati Reds and Zeke Bonura of the Chicago White Sox also poled two homers each.

Chuck Klein, hard hitting Cub, and Joe Medwick, Cardinals' outfielder, kept pace with the leaders, each driving for the circuit for the second time in two days.

Babe Ruth of the Yankees joined the home run parade, driving the ball out of the park and into a window of a nearby house for his first of the season and 684th of his career.

Opening Game in Albany Forfeited as Fans Riot

Albany, N. Y., April 18.—(AP)—The opening game of the International league baseball season here went to the Toronto Maple Leafs by forfeit today when Albany fans broke up the battle in the tenth inning by throwing cushions and bottles on the field. At the end of the regular nine innings the score was 8 to 8. Toronto scored 5 and the Senators collected 3 in the tenth when the demonstration broke up the contest, officially giving Toronto a 9 to 0 decision.

Dempsey on Secret Mission, Fans Believe

Jack Dempsey, the former world's heavyweight champion, yesterday made what boxing fans termed a mysterious visit to Chicago.

He came in from the southwest on an early morning train, was greeted at the station by Charles W. Bidwill, president of the Chicago Stadium Operating company, then for a few hours dropped out of sight as far as his old Chicago friends and acquaintances were concerned.

Early in the afternoon Dempsey and Bidwill appeared in Benton Harbor, Mich., called on Dempsey's old friend, Floyd Fitzsimmons, jerked the latter into their car and disappeared again.

Late last night prominent citizens of Benton Harbor dined them at the Benton hotel.

Whether Dempsey, who has a share of Max Baer's contract and who seems to be able to say when and where Baer will fight, was here with a promotional venture in mind or just to enjoy himself on a nice spring day in Chicagoland no one in his party would say.

WIFE RUSHES TO RESCUE OF 320 POUND WRESTLER

Cleveland, O., April 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Man Mountain Dean, wife of the 320 pound wrestler, climbed into the ring here tonight to show a few fancy holds to Farmer O'Dell, her husband's 285 pound opponent.

While 5,200 fans yelled for action, Referee Bryan Downey quieted Mrs. Dean, who believed O'Dell was treating her husband too brutally.

Disqualified, Dean started to leave the ring, then returned to punch O'Dell when the latter began an argument with his wife. Police and fans separated the two giant wrestlers, the match went on and Dean scored the only fall of the bout, throwing the whole thing into a tie.

STOEFEN, SHIELDS WIN 2 MATCHES IN NET TOURNEY

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 18.—(AP)—Led by Frank X. Shields, America's first ranking player, and Lester Stoefen, also a member of the Davis Cup squad, favorites, swept through two rounds to fill seven of the quarter final brackets as the fourteenth Mason and Dixon tennis tournament opened today. The start was set back two days by rain.

Only two of the nationally known stars failed to reach the quarter finals. Wilmer Allison, playing only one match, trailed the field and plays Charles Lockhart of Pittsburgh tomorrow for his bracket. The veteran Davis Cup doubles player, George Lott, defaulted his second round match to W. C. Wright of Philadelphia after defeating another Chicagoan, H. S. Campbell, 6-1, 6-2, in the first round. Lott decided to follow the example set by Stoefen at Pinehurst last week and get some rest by playing only in the doubles.

Along with Shields and Stoefen in the quarter finals were J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, N. J., Marcel Rainville of Montreal, Wright, Bryan M. Grant of Atlanta and Berkeley Bell of New York. All of them won their places by straight set victories.

FOXX GETS TWO HOME RUNS, BUT YANKS WIN, 11-5

Ruth Smacks First Hit—It's a Homer!

Philadelphia, Pa., April 18.—(AP)—The home run kings of the past and present, Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx, hit their first homers of the season today as the New York Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 11 to 5. It was the Yankee's first victory.

Both held hitless in yesterday's opening game, Foxx connected for home runs in the second and fourth innings, and Ruth hit the 684th homer of his career in the eighth. The bases were empty each time.

Ruth's homer sailed over the right field fence and across the street where it struck on the roof of the porch of a house and bounced into an open window.

Despite the performances of Ruth and Foxx, the batting honors of the day were captured by Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher, who hit a homer, two doubles and a single, accounting for six of the Yank's eleven runs. Score:

BUNCH HITS OFF VANCE TO WIN FOR GUY BUSH

Klein Hits Second Home Run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Cincinnati, O., April 18.—The Cubs today made Dazzy Vance feel every one of his 41 years. They hit the old fellow without respect for age or previous service and piled up their second straight victory over the Reds. The score was 8 to 4, and for a good portion of the afternoon Cincinnati suffered under the prospect that Guy Bush might administer the same sort of one hit treatment to which Lon Warneke subjected them yesterday.

The firing against the withering Vance during his eight inning tenure was concentrated, and that's what made run production easy for the Chicagoans. There were ten hits off the pitcher who in previous years figured he was having an off day if a dozen Cubs didn't fold up on strikes. Of the ten hits only two were wasted. The eight others off Dazzy produced as many runs. One of these was Tiger Klein's second homer of the season. It occurred while a mate was on base awaiting developments in the seventh.

Hafey Breaks Spell.

The suffering the Reds underwent before the pitching of Bush is easily explained. The Mississippian set out as if he would be satisfied with nothing less than a no hit performance. For four innings not a man reached base. Then in the fifth Chick Hafey broke the spell as well as a window pane in a nearby laundry by driving a homer over the left field wall.

That was the only Red hit and Hafey was the only Red to reach base in seven innings. Then Bush slowed down a bit and the lustre of his performance was dimmed by five hits in the eighth and ninth. One of these was another home run by Hafey.

Babe Fails Again.

Of the Cubs who are expected to hit occasionally there were only two who were unable to enjoy the presence of Vance or of Allyn Stout, who was on the job in the last inning. One of the nonproducing pair was Gabby Hartnett and the other was Babe Herman, who wanted to make amends for the four strike-outs in which he figured yesterday. The Babe was up five times and on each occasion runners were on base. But he was helpless unless you care to give him credit for a puny roller that became an error and started the Cubs on the way to four unearned runs in the third.

The Cubs gave Vance some uncomfortable moments in the first inning, but subsided before accomplishing anything. English opened the game with a single to left, his first hit of the season. A fly to left finished Billy Herman, but Klein handcuffed Bottomley with a line single, English going to third. Babe Herman rolled to Bottomley, who scooped up the ball and tagged the Babe coming down the line. This maneuver prevented English from sneaking home from third. Then Stainback lofted to Shiver.

English Hits Again.

The attack that grew into four runs off Vance in the third started with English's double against the left field wall. Billy Herman coaxed a pass from Vance. Klein was easy on a grounder to Bottomley. Babe Herman poked a soft roller to Bottomley, who fumbled. English scored on the error. Then Vance was showered freely. Stainback swung at a bad ball and knocked a single into center, Billy Herman scoring. Grimm beat out a hit to Piet and the Babe scored. Jurges completed the rally by singling to score Stainback.

English was up again in the fourth and took a hand in another scoring transaction. The run production, however, was limited to one. Woody did his bit in this instance by drawing a pass with one out. The hit and run was called, and Billy Herman made good on the order by pushing a single to right, English going to third. Woody scored while Klein was being retired on a grounder to Piet. Then the argument was conducted quietly until Hafey came up in the fifth with his first homer, giving the Reds their first run of the season and the first hit off Bush.

After Billy Herman's single in the fourth Vance spent a couple of pleasant innings, but his fun was suddenly

Two-Day Meet Will Be Held at Springfield.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Illinois Seniors' Golf association will hold its annual spring tournament May 24 and 25 at the Illini Country club, Springfield, Ill., according to an announcement yesterday by Charles F. Thompson, president of the organization. Other officers include H. S. Burpee of Rockford, first vice president; William F. Bode of Exmoor, second vice president; George J. Pope of Skokie, third vice president; C. B. Spaulding of Olympia Fields, secretary, and William V. O'Brien, treasurer. The directors include Hobart P. Young of Indian Hill, James C. Murray of Barrington, Ernest H. Hicks of Skokie, Elmer A. Eulass of Calumet, and Walter S. Carr of Knollwood.

The Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, with an eye to players who find the mineral water on many courses distasteful, plans to use bottled spring water on a majority of its member courses during the 1934 season.

Golf balls are probably the only items in the game this year which will sell at increased prices, an increase which probably will obtain only in the higher grade varieties, according to an official of a national sporting goods firm. Top grade wood clubs will undergo a reduction, while irons will remain at the same level as last year. Lether caddy bags also can be purchased at 1933 figures.

The 75 cent ball which sold at $8 a dozen last year will bring $9 this year, due to increased labor costs and a higher premium on crude rubber. Other grades will go at the same prices as last year—the 25 cent ball at $3 a dozen, the 35 cent ball at three for $1, and the 50 cent ball at $6 a dozen. A definite trend toward higher priced balls was evident during the winter season recently concluded, particularly in Florida. The depression produced great popularity among the cheaper grades, with a subsequent falling off in the sale of 50 and 75 cent balls.

Top registered woods, which retailed at $52 for a set of four in 1933, can be had at $48 a quartet now, a reduction of one dollar per club. The second line of woods has been cut from $11 to $10 a club, and the third variety from $8.50 to $7.50. Irons will sell at $75 for a set of nine, $67 for eight and $50 for six, involving no reduction from last year's figures. The lowest price on lether caddy bags will be $11, with $25 as the top figure.

The golfer who purchased fresh clubs last year can congratulate himself now, particularly those who bought economically. In 1933, a number of discontinued lines of formerly high grade clubs could be had at bargain prices, but these are practically unobtainable now, due to the run on them last year.

Archie Hambrick, the sturdy little Zanesville, O., pro who bats twice his weight, having long since established himself as a terror in driving competitions with bigger men, is now stationed at French Lick Springs, where he scored an immediate hit with all present.

The Northwestern University Golf team is hereby nominated for the 1934 conference heroism award on the basis of efforts during practice. Coach Ted Payseur has spent considerable time with his players already, bringing them out to Kildeer or many a bitter day for trial rounds, and such has been the wind that the boys who were not on the tee sheltered themselves by stretching out back of bunkers until the others had driven off. The team is captained by Bob Brown, who finished fifth in the Big Ten tournament last year. Other candidates include John Curtis, Bill Flynn, Harold Fink, Tom Saielli, Burt Gookin, Art McIntosh, and Harold Hurt. The team will open its season Saturday against Armour Tech at Kildeer. The conference meet will be held at Evanston on May 23 and 24.

HANDLEY, HORNE NAMED N. U. MAT, SWIM CAPTAINS

Captains in two sports were elected at Northwestern university last night. The swimming team named Don Horne, breast stroke star, as next year's leader, and Perd Handley was elected captain of the wrestling team.

Horne has been one of the leading breast stroke performers in the conference for the last two years. His home is in La Grange, where he starred as a high school swimmer.

Twelve letters were awarded to members of the swimming team. They are Art Highland, Frank Lennox, Bill Rollinger, Don Horne, Bernard Hahn, Chip Taylor, James Wilkie, Jerry Miller, Ernest Kohlmeyer, William McCurdy, George Hallenbeck, and Barney Marlowe.

Handley, who hails from Auburn, Neb., was a finalist in the 145 pound division in the Big Ten wrestling championships this spring. Dan Kaufman, graduating captain, was awarded the Stuteville trophy, awarded each year to the man winning the most points in conference competition.

Woods and Waters By Bob Becker

Although Wisconsin does not open the wall eyed pike fishing season until May 25 in practically all of its waters, the famous Wolf river, one of the fishing sections which is not governed by the law under a list of "excepted areas," has been furnishing good wall eye fishing recently. Wolf river is the stream which flows into Lake Poygan, the famous duck lake southwest of Appleton and northwest of Oshkosh. It is the same stream that annually lures hundreds of white bass fishermen since the spring run of this species furnishes plenty of sport.

Wisconsin has a special open season for a few of its lakes and rivers which makes it possible to catch wall eyes and white bass in the Wolf river before the season opens elsewhere.

The law reads: "There shall be no closed season for hook and line fishing except for large and small mouthed black bass, sturgeon, and trout in any of the following described waters: In the waters of the Mississippi river, etc." In the list of the exceptions you find the waters of Lake Winnebago, the Wolf river at Poygan, and several other fishing areas, which are specifically listed in the Wisconsin game laws.

John C. Burns, a Wisconsin sportsman, writes that he saw about 200 boats filled with fishermen at the Fremont bridge the other day, all taking advantage of the early spring fishing in the Wolf river.

"The Wolf river is the original home of the pike," he writes. "I honestly believe that more walleyes are caught in the Wolf each spring than in any other stretch of fishing water in the country. In days gone by Chicago fishermen used to come up here by the trainload just to catch pike. Ideal places to fish are Fremont, Gills Landing, and New London. A majority of sportsmen stay just out of Fremont. This includes the fishermen and later the hunters who come to Poygan for canvasback shooting.

"Hundreds of fishermen can catch their limit of white bass each day on the Wolf during the big run of these fish. This is a fine fish. When they start to hit, the Wolf river from the mouth up to Gills Landing is simply covered with boats. As you know, the whole family can catch this fish. It is only a matter of throwing out a good sized shiner."

The Wolf has been famous for years for its great white bass runs, and the crowds which assemble to get their strings of 25 fish. What smelt dipping parties are to Michigan the white bass fishing parties are to that country west of Lake Winnebago.

Our Lady of Angels Wins West Section C. Y. O. Swim Meet

Our Lady of Angels captured first place in the west side trials of the C. Y. O. swimming meet at the K. of C. clubhouse last night, replacing St. Anne as the west section champion. Our Lady of Angels scored 31 points, edging out Ascension of Oak Park which gathered 28 points. Resurrection took third place with 21 while St. Anne scored 18 points to place fourth.

Swimmers who finished in first or second place last night qualified for the C. Y. O. swimming championships which will be held at the Lake Shore Athletic club Tuesday night.

Two records were equaled last night by west side swimmers when Edward Jarosik tied his own mark in the 25 yard junior breaststroke, and Frank Quinn swam the junior backstroke in 16 seconds flat to tie the mark established last year by Richard Kiley.

Busy Londos Is Ready for Mr. Garibaldi

Jim Londos is in perfect physical condition for his wrestling bout with Gino Garibaldi at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. He always is. Each struggle puts him on edge for a succeeding bout one or two days later. He seldom appears in a gymnasium. If he does it is only to do limbering up exercises.

Londos has engaged in 10 matches since he was awarded a disputed decision over Garibaldi in a previous meeting at the Stadium a month ago. None of his opponents was even allowed to earn a draw. He threw them all.

"That's the only way for a wrestler to keep in good form," Ed White, manager of Londos, said yesterday.

Jim Keeps Busy.

An idea of a wrestler's routine can be obtained from Londos' four bouts this month. On April 4 he threw Chief Chewacki in 25:59 at Cleveland and then entrained for St. Louis, where he won from Dick Shikat in 1:10:33 on the 12th. Four days later he tossed Nick Lutze twice at Montreal, Que., and the next night he was at Lewiston, Me., for a match with John [Casey] Kasanjian, whom he defeated in 32:51.

In an attempt to prevent a recurrence of the last match between Londos and Garibaldi when the latter knocked himself out by missing a flying tackle and landing outside the ring, Joe Foley of the Stadium announced that the press bench will be moved back and a thick padding will be laid on the floor.

Marshall Meets Olson.

The card is expected to bring out some of the best wrestling this season. Everett Marshall meets with Clif Olson in a supporting bout. Others will bring together Joe Malcewicz and Hans Kampfer, Jagot Singh and Sun Jennings, and Jack Smith and Ernest [Dutch] Hefner.

Approve Salt Lake Course for Record Trial by Campbell

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 18.—[Special.]—The shore of Great Salt lake was described as suitable for Sir Malcolm Campbell's new automobile record attempt by his American representative, William F. Sturm, today. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will seek to raise $10,000 for the British driver's attempt.

Sturm will confer again with Salt Lake City officials before returning to his headquarters in Indianapolis. He said the course, which is nearly 100 miles west of here, is in proper condition for Sir Malcolm's four and one-half ton car to travel at 300 miles an hour.

It will be Engel's first match since Dec. 20 when he lost a disputed decision to Geno Salvatore at Arcadia Gardens. Prior to that he held Tommy Corbett of Omaha, Neb., to a six round draw at Marigold on Dec. 11. Day was awarded a hairline verdict over Engel last Oct. 23 after six rounds.

Day will be making his first Chicago appearance since his return recently from a tour with his stablemate, Champion Barney Ross. He engaged in four bouts on the tour, winning three and losing one to Tommy Corbett at Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 7. Bob La Monte, C. Y. O. welterweight champion, has signed to make his professional debut in a four round preliminary at Marigold. His opponent may be Bob Crowley.

Al Woznica is to wrestle Tony Hajdich.

Phil Kenneally, who whipped his lightweight opponent in the intercity Golden Gloves matches with New York last month, will meet Chester Rutecki in a feature bout on the amateur program tonight at C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. Al Soukup, a former Golden Gloves flyweight titleholder, meets Frank Balange in a featherweight contest. Other bouts:

Dazzo engages Freddy Miller, featherweight champion, in a title conflict at Louisville, Ky., Derby eve, May 4. . . . Gene Higgins, junior welterweight, yesterday canceled a match with Eddie Chinski on the Leo Rodak-Eddie Shea card at White City Monday because of a tooth infection.

Dick Sisk, south side welterweight, was forced to cancel a match with Frank Knauer at Duluth, Minn., next Tuesday because of a broken hand. . . . Frank Misko, Saginaw, Mich., middleweight, has signed to oppose Billy Miller on the Karl Ogren-Tony Bruno program next Wednesday at Milwaukee, Wis. . . . King Dowdey, Birmingham, Ala., 160 pounder, sparred two rounds yesterday with Solly Dukelsky.

Henry Rothier, 147 pound boxer, has accepted terms for a 10 round main bout against Iowa Joe Rivers at Cedar Rapids on April 27. Rivers fights Eddie Ran at Eau Claire, Wis., tomorrow. After the battle Ran is to go to Fargo, N. D., where he is booked to meet Sherald Kennard at 10 rounds Tuesday. Joey Kaufman, New York 135 pounder, boxes Johnny Stanton for six rounds. Kaufman will substitute for Danny Neenan tonight at St. Paul against Babe Daniels.

GIANTS DEFEAT PHILLIES, 6 TO 2; GET 4 IN EIGHTH

Fred Fitzsimmons Yields Only 5 Hits.

New York, April 18.—(AP)—The world champion Giants almost duplicated their opening day victory today, defeating the Phillies, 6 to 2, with Fred Fitzsimmons pitching nearly as effectively as Carl Hubbell yesterday and Blondy Ryan collecting four hits.

Fitzsimmons, the veteran right hander, held the Phillies hitless for four innings and runless for seven innings. The knuckle ball hurler yielded only five hits. The Phils scored in the seventh and ninth innings.

Austin Moore kept pace with Fitzsimmons for seven innings, but blew up in the eighth when the Giants put four hits together to account for four runs. Score:

Bonura Hits 2 Homers, but Sox Lose, 6-5

led up to Bonura's No. 2 homer. Zeke came up after Hayes had been thrown out and socked almost a duplicate of his No. 1 homer. Simmons lined to Goslin and Appling fanned.

The 3 to 2 advantage which Bonura's second homer gave the Sox did not prevail long. Gehringer opened the Detroit sixth with his first hit of the season, a single to right, and stopped at third when Cochrane slapped a double off the right field wall. Goslin singled to right, Gehringer scoring and Cochrane stopping at third. Goose took second on the throw to the plate. At this juncture Walker was so unkind as to knock the ball into the left center stand, only a few feet to the left of the center field bleacher. This accounted for three runs. Greenberg fanned, Doljack singled to center. Then Owen popped to Hayes and Hayes threw out Sorrell.

Drive Sorrell to Cover.

The Sox drove Sorrell to cover in their sixth, but Bridges stopped them with the tying run on third. Haas opened with a single to right and stopped at second on Ruel's single to left. Chamberlin also singled to left, scoring Haas. Bridges relieved Sorrell as Uhalt went up to bat for Wyatt and Lyons was put on second to run for Ruel. Uhalt walked, filling the bases. Swanson flied to Walker, scoring Lyons and putting Chamberlin on third. Hayes and Bonura then fouled to Greenberg.

Heving took over the pitching chore in the seventh and easily retired Rogell and Gehringer. Cochrane singled to right, but Goslin fanned and was thrown out by Shea.

Simmons Hits Again.

Simmons opened the Sox seventh with his second hit, a single to left, but Appling tapped into a double play, Gehringer to Greenberg. Haas doubled off the left field wall. The hit also was wasted because Shea was tossed out by Bridges.

Walker launched the eighth with a single to left and stole second standing up. Greenberg walked and the runners moved up on Doljack's sacrifice. Owen was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Bridges hit into a double play, Chamberlin to Hayes to Bonura.

Seven Pitchers in Two Days.

Gaston made it seven pitchers in two days for the Sox when he went in for the ninth. Milt retired Rogell and Gehringer, but Cochrane, given life when Chamberlin was slow starting on his foul popup, showed his appreciation by smacking out a double to right center. Goslin then singled over second, Cochrane stopping at third. Walker forced Goslin Appling to Hayes.

Hayes was safe on Rogell's fumble to start the Sox ninth, but Bonura hit into a double play, Owen to Gehringer to Greenberg. The game ended with Simmon's pop to Greenberg.

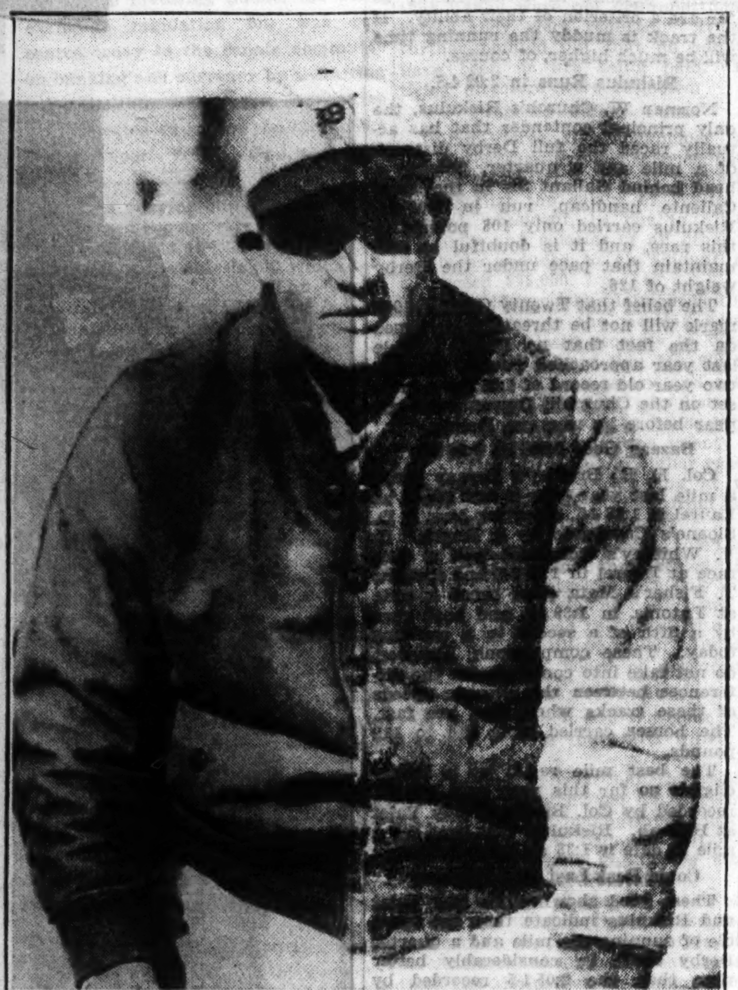
PHILLY PITCHER MISSING



Frank Pearce, pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, who has been missing since Tuesday. Club officials yesterday expressed the fear that he has met with an accident.

Tigers Name Rowe to Face Sox in Final

School Boy Rowe, who was out many weeks last year with a sore arm, is slated to work for the Tigers in the series final with the White Sox this afternoon. If Fonseca doesn't employ George Earnshaw, who threw several balls in the bullpen yesterday he is certain to go with Phil Gallivan, the mature rookie from Buffalo.

The Sox played their first errorless game of the spring yesterday. The best efforts were catches by Bonura. Evar Swanson had six putouts against the first three men in the batting order.

Of the four homers in yesterday's contest all but Walker's, the longest of the four, would have been homers under the former Comisky park dimensions. Walker's was only slightly to the left of the centerfield wall, he therefore getting advantage of most of the 14 foot move up of the home plate.

Folks who have been worrying about the hitless character of the Sox catching staf, have found no food for I-told-you-sos in the first two games. In the opener Merv Shea made two singles in four times at bat and yesterday Muddy Ruel knocked a double and a single in three times at bat.

Disappearance of Pearce Worries Philly Officials

Philadelphia, Pa., April 18.—[Special.]—No communication was received here today from Frank Pearce, 27 year old pitcher, who failed to meet the Phillies baseball club when they boarded a train for New York yesterday morning to open the major league season. His mysterious disappearance caused apprehension among fellow players and other friends.

Officials of the hotel where the club had been staying said they did not know when Pearce left. They said other members of the club, however, had taken his baggage with them when they checked out. Fears that he may have met with an accident led to a check of hospitals, without result.

Cubs Bunch Hits to Whip Vance, 8 to 4

halted when the rambunctious Klein stepped up to do his bit of fancy swinging in the seventh. The inning started with Billy Herman singling to center and going to second when Hafey fumbled. The first pitch to Klein was a slow one right over the plate. Klein didn't want to see any more. He timed his swing perfectly and the ball sailed away to come down eventually beyond the 377 foot sign in right field. The tottering Vance was able to set down the next three batters.

One hit was enough to produce another Cub run in the eighth. Jurges led off with a drive that bounced off the center field flag pole and made three sacks on it. He couldn't get home on Hartnett's infield out, but did manage to make the journey while Bush was being retired on a hopper to Bottomley.

Get Out of One Hit Class.

It was Bottomley who finally got the Reds out of the one hit class. He singled to center to open the eighth. Shiver and Lombardi lined to Klein and Babe Herman, respectively. Then Slade punched a single into right. Johnny Moore, ex-Cub, was permitted to bat for Vance and singled to center, Bottomley scoring and Slade hustling to third. This slight disturbance subsided when Comorosky flied to Babe Herman.

Hafey's second homer came in the ninth with one out and Piet on first as the result of a single. Bush put a quick stop to this by inducing the next two batters to pop up.

DerringerOpposes Malone in Final of Series Today

Cincinnati, O., April 18.—[Special.]—Paul Derringer who was the champion losing pitcher of the majors last season will face the Cubs in the third and final game of the series with the Reds tomorrow. Derringer compiled 27 defeats during 1933 but many of them were well pitched affairs in which he suffered because his mates couldn't produce runs. Pat Malone will be the Cubs' starter.

The Reds have discovered they couldn't make use of Beattie Feathers, former football star at the University of Tennessee. The young athlete was taken to training camp and tried as an outfielder, but today was given his release.

Ki Cuyler who has an infected hand as the result of trying to give himself a clubhouse manicure, wasn't released from the hospital last night as scheduled. The infection has subsided but the doctors preferred to keep him as a customer until this evening.

Chuck Klein's single in the first inning was such a terrific drive that it ripped through Jim Bottomley's hands and knocked his left thumb out of joint. Umpire Bill Klem yanked the thumb back into place and Sunny Jim continued with his day's chores.

The Cincinnati fans still are under the impression the season opens and closes the same day. There were 30,247 present for yesterday's inaugural but today the attendance dropped to 2,500 which was just about what was expected.

The new owners of the Reds are stepping right out and building for the future. They now have working agreements with four minor league clubs where youngsters can be developed. The four clubs are Wilmington, N. C., in the Piedmont league, Toronto in the International, Beckley in the Mid-Atlantic and Bartlesville in the Western league.

IMPROVE YOUR IRON SHOTS IN THESE 3 WAYS . . .
Not until you have tried Bristol PYRAMID Irons will you get the most out of your iron shots. In these new clubheads of advanced design, and in these only, you will find all three of these vital aids to distance, accuracy and control.
1 The WEIGHTED SOLE
2 The PYRAMID BACK
More power, because of the pyramid back, which places the greatest weight on each head directly behind the point of impact.
3 The ADJUSTED WEIGHT
More distance and top spin with long range clubs—more loft and back spin with short range clubs. The adjusted weight does this. As the depth and loft of the blade increases the pyramid weight falls lower.
"Whip-It" Shaft
PYRAMID Irons come with the regular Bristol Steel Shafts or with the new, popular "Whip-It" Steel Shaft for irons. Has more whip without losing accuracy.

WEST POLOISTS TO REST MOUNTS FOR TITLE SERIES

New York Horses Due Here Today.

The Chicago Riding club trio of Herb Lorber, Bill Nicholls, and Lieut. Larry Smith yesterday mapped out a campaign of comparative rest between now and game time Saturday night when they play the New York Athletic club's Winged Foots in the first match of a series for the senior championship of the national indoor polo tourney at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

This plan was adopted to save the highly prized mounts for the hard game that is anticipated. All of the western horses are now at their peak an their riders are guarding them against injuries as well as against risking staleness from too much work.

Eastern Horses Due Today.

The string of 24 ponies from New York will be unloaded today at the 51st street Hyde Park siding of the New York Central lines and walked over to the armory stables. They left New York yesterday.

Word was received from headquarters of the Indoor Polo association in New York that members of the eastern teams plan to depart for Chicago this afternoon.

The Cleveland Riding club threesome of A. Z. Baker, Bill Fergus and Hank Evinger, western junior champions, will return to Chicago tomorrow morning for their game Saturday with Boulder Brook, the eastern title holders. Maj. Ollie Gates will accompany the team as an alternate.

Bates to Officiate.

The showing of the Boulder Brook outfit made up of Merrill Fink, Edward Ford and Joseph Loeb, with L. F. Brigham as alternate, was the surprise upset of the eastern title matches. In Saturday's game Cleveland will be given a two goal handicap by reason of rating 7 goals as against 9 for Boulder Brook.

George A. Bates has been named referee for the championship matches.

Beats National Anthem in First Start of Year.

Baltimore, Md., April 18.—[Special.]—Law Suit, owned by J. W. Y. Martin of Worthington Valley, Md., won the Combat purse, feature of the afternoon's races at Havre De Grace. It was the colt's first race of the year and he appeared in perfect condition.

Law Suit won by three lengths from National Anthem, while four lengths back was Believer, owned by Mrs. L. Viau. Law Suit, favorite in the betting, paid $7 for $2 straight tickets. He covered the six furlongs in 1:14 3-5 over the track which was heavy during the early races, but appeared dried out for the featured event.

A sunny day, the first since the meeting opened last Monday, attracted a large crowd. Among the also rans were White Bird, the only one in the field which had started this year; and Snappy Story and Gitapp, which were named for the Preakness. White Bird finished last.

Jocky Alfred Robertson sent Law Suit into the lead near the stretch, where he passed up National Anthem. White Bird set the early pace, but tired badly. Believer finished an easy third over Gitapp.

KING CARESS PAYS $57.

San Bruno, Cal., April 18.—(AP)—King Caress, almost overlooked in the betting, won a head to head race with Anapola in the feature race at Tanforan track today and paid his backers $57. The winner made the mile and 70 yards in 1:45 3-5.

From the start the two horses raced together, neither being able to get an advantage over the other. Grover Williams on King Caress barely managed to get his mount under the wire first. The favorite in the meeting, Lady Riaf, was third, a length and a half behind the winner.

King Caress paid $23.60 to place and $8.80 to show. Anapola paid $6.80 and $3.80, and Lady Riaf $3.40.

FIXING TO BOOT 'EM HOME

Eligibles Haven't Shown Requisite Speed.

Louisville, Ky., April 18.—(AP)—To predict the time in which a race will be run is a precarious undertaking, but it is extremely improbable that Twenty Grand's record of 2:01 4-5 will be eclipsed in the sixtieth running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs May 5.

However, if the track is fast on Derby day it is likely that the historic race will be run somewhere around 2:03 or 2:04, if speed records of the leading eligibles in actual racing so far are a criterion of their ability. If the track is muddy the running time will be much higher, of course.

Riskulus Runs in 2:02 4-5.

Norman W. Church's Riskulus, the only principal contender that has actually raced the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter, finished a head behind Gallant Sir in the Agua Caliente handicap, run in 2:02 4-5. Riskulus carried only 108 pounds in this race, and it is doubtful he can maintain that pace under the Derby weight of 126.

The belief that Twenty Grand's 1931 mark will not be threatened is based on the fact that no Derby eligible last year approached Twenty Grand's two year old record of 1:36 for a mile, set on the Churchill Downs track the year before he won the Derby.

Col. E. R. Bradley's Bazaar raced a mile last year over a fast track at Laurel in 1:38 4-5, defeating Mrs. I. D. Sloane's Cavalcade by a length. C. V. Whitney's Collateral won a mile race at Laurel in 1:39 3-5 and Charles T. Fisher's Mata Hari raced a mile at Latonia in 1:39 4-5 and beat that by a fifth of a second in a workout today. These comparisons, however, do not take into consideration the differences between the average speeds of these tracks when they are fast. The horses carried from 110 to 119 pounds.

The best mile raced by a Derby eligible so far this year was 1:36 3-5, recorded by Col. Bradley's Boy Valet at Hialeah. Riskulus' best time for a mile to date is 1:38 at Agua Caliente.

Could Beat Last Two Winners.

These good showings by Boy Valet and Riskulus indicate they are capable of running the mile and a quarter Derby route in considerably better time than the 2:05 1-5 recorded by Bradley's Burgoo King in winning the 1932 Derby over a fast track. Bradley's Brokers Tip raced the distance in 2:06 4-5 last year, but the track was only good.

JOB INCREASE REPORTED BEST IN 14 YEARS

419,500 Employed in One Month.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—(AP)—The greatest increase in employment since 1920 was registered in March, Secretary of Labor Perkins said today. The bureau of labor statistics estimated private industries had taken on 419,500 men last month and since March, last year, 2,750,000 workers had found jobs.

The weekly payroll of industry was estimated to have increased $12,904,000 in March and $79,000,000 weekly during the year. The gains, Miss Perkins said, were widely distributed among the manufacturing and nonmanufacturing industries.

The industries covered by the bureau of labor statistics normally employ only 20,000,000 of the 49,000,000 gainful workers of the country and for this reason, the labor secretary said, do not indicate all of the employment changes that occurred.

Points to Railway Gains.

She cited reports of class 1 steam railroads to the interstate commerce commission which showed a gain of 23,000 workers between February 15 and March 15 and an increase of 10,000 in employment on public works projects.

The largest employment increase—10.8 per cent—was shown in Michigan and was attributed primarly to gains in automobile manufacturing and retail trade.

Employment for March, 1934, was listed at 80.8 per cent of the 1923-1925 average, compared with a 77.7 per cent showing in February. This was the first time the bureau of labor statistics used the years 1923-1925 for figuring employment. Under the former basis, figuring 1926 employment as 100, the index for March this year would be 76.4 per cent, compared with 73.5 per cent in February.

GAINS IN ILLINOIS.

Contrary to the customary trend employment and wages in Illinois expanded in the month ended March 15, according to figures made public yesterday by the state department of labor. Based on the records of 2,394 firms reporting to the department there was an increase of 3.9 per cent in the wages paid during the period and a gain of 2.4 per cent in the number of workers employed. It was the second consecutive monthly gain in each index.

Records of the department, which date back to 1923, show the average loss in employment in the February-March period is 0.2 per cent and the average decline in pay rolls 2.3 per cent.

Gains recorded during the month lifted the indices for both employment and pay rolls well above the March, 1933, levels. Compared with last year's figures employment was up 24.9 per cent and wages were up 39.3 per cent. The significance of these figures is somewhat doubtful because the 1933 figures are for the period during which the national banking moratorium went into effect.

Reporting firms include both manufacturing and nonmanufacturing concerns. Manufacturing industries alone made an even more favorable showing than the aggregate of all firms, reflecting the spurt in industrial activity which took place during the period. Increases of 3.3 per cent in the number of workers and 4.6 per cent in wages paid was shown by the 1,214 manufacturing concerns reporting their figures. The pay roll advance was the fourth consecutive monthly increase shown, while the gain in employment was the second for this group of companies.

Trend Contra-Seasonal.

Ordinarily as shown by the eleven year records of the department pay rolls of industrial concerns decline about 2 per cent from February to March and employment increases only 0.1 per cent. Thus seasonal factors alone could not account for the expansion shown in both items.

Among manufacturing groups the textile industry reported outstanding gains.

Nonmanufacturing companies reporting showed increases of 0.9 per cent in the number of jobs and 3 per cent in pay rolls for the period.

The weekly wage of employés of all reporting firms in March averaged $21.54. The average weekly wage of male workers was $23.29 and of women $14.40.

Roosevelt Gets Mills' Old Post; It's George E.

New York, April 18.—(AP)—George E. Roosevelt, investment banker, was elected a member of the Southern Pacific company's executive committee today, succeeding Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, who had resigned. Mr. Roosevelt was recently elected to the railroad's board of directors. Paul Shoup, vice president, said March earnings of the company were above the same month of 1933 and also higher than February, 1934, adding that the upward trend had continued in the first half of April.

Charge Grain Collapse Fault of Morgenthau

BY PAUL POTTER.

HENRY MORGENTHAU JR.

Charges were launched by a committee of Chicago Board of Trade members here yesterday that the federal administration is directly responsible for the drastic declines in grains this week, causing losses of millions to farmers, by failure to boost the tarif on rye importations from Poland. The charges were contained in a letter addressed to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and sent by P. R. O'Brien for the exchange members.

The effect of the Morgenthau ruling April 11, in which he declined to raise the tarif on Polish rye even though that country is paying bounties for rye exports, has been to cause such concern in the grain industry over possible further actions of this sort in other commodities as to shake the markets of the nation, it was pointed out.

Charges Violation of Grundy Act.

O'Brien in his letter charged that Morgenthau had not obeyed the terms of the Grundy tarif act of 1930, in section 303 of which it is mandatory that the secretary of the treasury raise duties on crops on which the exporting nations pay a bounty. He charged the administration with knowing these facts for months, but by delays permitted millions of bushels to come flooding into the American market and causing general price declines in all grain markets.

"In your published order," says the letter sent to Morgenthau, "you say domestic stocks of rye are inadequate to supply the demand. This is contrary to fact. From the present supplies on hand and with average domestic disappearance there is shown to be at least an 8 million bushel carryover into the new crop.

"Imports of rye into the United States are practically the same as will be our carryover July 1. Therefore, dumping under government bounty forced down prices in a manner wholly unjustified."

Supply 16,347,000 Bushels.

Latest reports show a visible supply of 11,347,000 bushels of rye, with 4 million bushels additional stored at Albany and 1 million bushels in farmers' hands, or 16,347,000 bushels. The new crop comes on in 90 days.

In the face of an unusually bullish government report that only 27,000,000 bushels was expected from American farmers in 1934, the price started declining the morning Morgenthau's refusal to raise the tarif of 15 cents a bushel became known.

In spite of this bullish factor rye has dropped from 62⅞ to 53⅞ cents, wheat from 85½ to 77 cents, corn from 50½ to 40 cents, and oats from 32 to 24½ cents on the exchange. The concensus is that hundreds of potential grain buyers have become fearful of importations of foreign crops and of the effect of the rye imports on uses for other grains.

Foreign Rye Cheaper.

Rye is used largely as feed, as breadstuff, and for alcohol. About 5 million bushels of it were needed by the distillers who have since found they can get the foreign rye cheaper at the seaboard than to buy the American grain. Had there been a shortage of rye, it is contended, distillers would have used more corn, the bakers more wheat, and feeders more corn, oats, and barley.

One of the indirect effects of this market decline in grains, it was charged, has been the loss on paper to the taxpayers who have financed through the government the storing of 260 million bushels of corn on central west farms. The drop in prices of corn alone has caused a loss of 26 millions on this stored supply since Morgenthau's order was announced, or a loss of $40,000,000 from the price paid farmers when loans were made.

200 CELEBRATE DISTRICT NATL. BANK OPENING

The District National bank, successor to the old Central Manufacturing District bank, opened for business yesterday in the quarters of the old institution at 1110 West 35th street. Clarke Washburne, president, said that deposits received during the day exceeded expectations of officials.

Marking the opening of the bank, 200 representatives of Chicago banks and industrial concerns attended a luncheon at the Commercial Manufacturing District club. The district until yesterday had been without banking facilities for more than a year. The old bank remained closed after the national moratorium last year.

Atlantic Refining Earns 23c a Share in Quarter

New York, April 18.—(AP)—The Atlantic Refining company reported net profit for the first quarter of 1934 totaled $613,000, equal to 23 cents a share after interest, depreciation, taxes, and other charges. This compares with loss of $3,127,000 in the same period last year.

ALTERED STOCK BILL PRESENTED SENATE GROUP

Puts Control Up to New Commission.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—Unrecognizable as the same measure which was once labeled a menace to the entire investing public, the stock exchange regulation bill was presented today to the senate committee on banking and currency by a drafting subcommittee. The full committee was expected to report the bill to the senate floor without important changes.

Many a senator blinked his eyes as he regarded the entirely rewritten bill. It was a bruised and battered stranger compared to the drastic bill which was so proudly introduced as an administration measure months ago. Despite its backing, the bill was subjected to many a hard blow as it pursued its way through lengthy hearings.

Rule Up to Commission.

In its present form the bill provides for the appointment of a commission of five members by the President to regulate the nation's stock exchanges.

It is this provision which is expected to cause the most trouble when the house and senate try to agree on the regulatory measure. Representative Sam Rayburn [Dem., Tex.] wants the federal trade commission to have jurisdiction over the stock market bill. It is considered probable that the house will yield on this point in exchange for a senate agreement to specific margin provisions, fixing a maximum of 45 per cent, which are in the house bill.

Removal of the regulation from the federal trade commission to a separate commission was considered a victory for the stock exchanges. Slashing of the margin requirements also weakened the measure which President Roosevelt insisted "have teeth in it."

Blow at Brain Trust.

Complete revamping of the measure heralded another defeat for the brain trust and another display of the senate's growing rebellion against too drastic legislation.

Members of the New York Stock exchange had insisted that a commission named by the President rather than the federal trade commission be the administrative power as had been planned by the group of young liberals who are generally understood to have drafted the original act.

The bill's arbitrary 60 per cent margin requirements had also been attacked as forcing the dumping on the market of nearly a billion dollars of securities, depressing the market, and creating, probably, the necessity for liquidating more securities. And the margin requirements fell by the wayside in the senate measure, at least.

Roosevelt View Uncertain.

Whether President Roosevelt will be satisfied with the legislation remained a problem.

"The law must be so severe that speculation, even as it exists today, must of necessity be drastically curtailed," he wrote to Senator Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.] three weeks ago. "Speculation can be blamed for the 1929 boom and resultant slump."

While the law itself will not be as severe as the President may have hoped, his power to appoint the members of the regulatory commission may satisfy him, it was pointed out. He may even transfer one or two members of the federal trade commission to the new commission, it was explained, and name other commissioners who may be depended upon to enact stringent rules for the exchanges. The law provides that not more than three members of the commission may be of the same political party.

Am. Telephone Board Defends Salary Policy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 18.—The board of directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph company defended vigorously the salaries paid executives of the corporation in a formal statement read to stockholders at the annual meeting today. The statement came in response to protests by several stockholders against the amount of compensation paid to some of the higher executives.

"If we could get better men by paying more money, it would be wise to do so," the directors asserted, adding the board feels that the salaries are in no way disproportionate to the size and importance of the company and that "they were not disproportionate before they were reduced." It was further pointed out that no bonuses have been or are being paid. Retiring directors were reëlected.

Proposes Salary Cuts.

Julian Pierce, the stockholder who led the barrage against salaries, came forward later with another resolution asking that the salary of Walter S. Gifford, president, be cut to $75,000 annually and salaries of all other officials be reduced to an amount not to exceed $25,000.

Stockholders who launched their protests came to the meeting armed with data disclosed recently in Washington which showed that Mr. Gifford received $212,000 as salary and other compensation last year. As listed in the Splawn report to the house interstate commerce committee twenty of Mr. Gifford's aids in the higher executive positions were receiving at the end of 1932 salaries ranging from $74,250 down to $20,000.

Mr. Gifford, who presided, ruled him out of order, and then stated that out of 680,000 stockholders only nine letters and thirty-one notations on proxies had raised the question of officers' salaries, all of which had been referred to the board of directors.

Report of Board.

Mr. Gifford then had the clerk read the statement of the board, which, in part, said:

"The board feels that the results which may be achieved by successful and competent management justify its policy and it believes that such management earns and saves many times the money involved.

"The record of this business both before and during the depression is proof that the public, employés, and stockholders have had great benefit from the abilities of the management, and it is the considered opinion of the board that their salaries have been and are reasonable, considering the results and the magnitude of the responsibilities."

The board also asserted in its statement that salaries were "fixed on the basis that it is necessary for the Bell system with its essential service to maintain itself as an institution of opportunity for the best brains and ability of the land."

The meeting was attended by approximately 400 stockholders.

RYERSON VOTES 25 CENT DIVIDEND AS TRADE GAINS

With sales for the first quarter of this year nearly 100 per cent higher than those in the like quarter of 1933, the directors of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., yesterday declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on its common stock, payable to stockholders of record April 23. The last payment made by the company was 25 cents a share on Dec. 28, 1933. Prior to that the last payment was made on Nov. 1, 1931.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the company, said that yesterday's action was taken when net operating results for the first quarter showed earnings sufficient to warrant the payment of a dividend at this time. He explained that it is the intention of the board of directors to declare further dividends from time to time in the event the earnings for the remaining quarters of the year warant such action.

Sales of the company to date for April are reported to be comparing favorably with those in March, which month showed the best net earnings so far this year.

AUBURN REPORTS LARGER LOSS FOR FIRST QUARTER

The Auburn Automobile company yesterday reported a consolidated net loss of $857,395 for the first quarter of its fiscal year ended Feb. 28. In the first quarter of the preceeding year the company reported a deficit of $577,466.

"Difficulties of getting quantity productions on our new models from circumstances entirely beyond our control, have seriously delayed deliveries and consequently income," W. H. Beal, president, said.

A vastly improved showing is expected because the retarding factors have been eliminated, he added.

MAKE LARGEST STOCK OFFERING UNDER NEW ACT

Issue of 3¼ Million Due Next Week.

What is said to be the largest piece of industrial financing to be made since the securities act went into effect last July, is to be undertaken next week by the Glenn L. Martin company, airplane manufacturers of Baltimore, according to an announcement made yesterday. The company proposes to publicly offer 325,000 shares of common stock, its first public financing since the concern has been 100 per cent owned by Mr. Martin, the founder.

According to the registration statement recently filed with the federal trade commission at Washington, the stock will be offered for public subscription at $11.50 a share. The company will receive $10 a share for a total of $3,250,000. The underwriters are Otis & Co. of New York and Cleveland and the offering is to be made through a nation-wide syndicate, including Stein Bros. & Boyce of Baltimore and Hammons & Co. of New York.

Deal Marks Eaton Return.

The Martin announcement discloses the return to national financial affairs of Cyrus S. Eaton of Cleveland, who in the days preceding the crash was an outstanding figure in the financial scene. Eaton, who is the principal member of Otis & Co., is recalled for his successful battle to block the attempted merger of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. Here in Chicago his effort to edge into the Chicago utility picture is given as one of the reasons for the downfall of the Insull régime since Insull spent millions in attempting to block the move.

The Martin company has been continuously under the management of Mr. Martin since he organized it in 1909.

Build Huge Flying Boats.

Besides being engaged in building aircraft for the United States government, the company is now building three giant flying boats for the Pan-American Airways, Inc., which, it is stated, will exceed in size, capacity and range any of the flying boat type of equipment now being operated by Pan-American.

The company also is building 48 bombers for the United States army, which are capable of a speed of 200 miles an hour or more. The prospectus states that the company proposes to develop its flying boat business in the commercial field immediately because of the increased demand for this type of ship.

Steel Mills at 8 Month Peak; Power Production Increases

Week's Output Rises to 52 Per Cent of Plant Capacity.

Steel ingots are being produced at the highest rate since mid-August, or 52 per cent of capacity, against 49½ a week ago, reports Iron Age. Mills in all of the manufacturing centers either maintained steady operating rates or improved them last week. At Chicago the rate rose 4 points to 54.

Iron and steel makers are heavily booked for the second quarter, and the outlook for the industry seems most favorable, according to the review. Some mills have accumulated such large commitments that if buyers specify completely against their contracts, the producers will be pressed to turn out tonnage.

Some steel manufacturers are already urging their customers to give shipping instructions, in order to avert the congestion of releases toward the end of the quarter. The contract most in favor with the mills stipulates that buyers order their material in approximately equal monthly amounts.

Stronger Impulse Needed.

Iron Age concedes that unless there should be a stronger impulse in industry much of the pig iron and steel for which consumers have contracted prior to the effective dates of price increases will meet consumers' needs not only for the second quarter but part way through the third quarter also. On the one hand steel producers are anxious to obtain releases in more or less steady monthly quantities, and on the other consumers have wanted to forestall price increases and contract for steel at the lower prices.

Some confusion in price revisions have developed out of the conflicting views of steel manufacturers, observes the Iron Age. Effective dates for some price changes have been moved ahead, in some cases until next week, because various mills have delayed following the lead of those which first announced increases.

Railroad Releases Increase.

Heavier releases have been coming from the railroads. Both in number and tonnage, orders for car material have been gaining. Purchases of track materials have been large. In the final week prior to expiration of the code provision allowing deliveries until Aug. 31, contracts placed for steel rails called for an aggregate of 75,250 tons.

The New Haven brought 25,000 tons, the Baltimore and Ohio, 35,000; the Norfolk and Western, 10,000; the Maine Central, 4,200, and the Pere Marquette, 1,050.

The reduction of discounts on standard and line pipe is equivalent to an increase in price of about $7 a ton. Oil well goods have been raised $6 to $7 a ton. Billet steel reinforcing bars have been increased $3 a ton, and alloy steel bars $2 a ton, instead of $1 as originally announced.

Total Stands 16.5 Pct. Above Record of One Year Ago.

National electric power production recovered last week, though not to the level it had attained at the close of March after four weeks of continuous expansion. The margin over output in the corresponding period of 1933 was a little larger than that shown in the preceding week. In the Chicago district, output was slightly less than in the week ended April 7, but its lead over that of the parallel week of 1933 was greater.

Production of electric energy in the United States for the week ended April 14, according to the Edison Electric institute, amounted to 1,642,187,000 kilowatt-hours, compared with 1,616,945,000 in the preceding week and with 1,665,650,000 in the week ended March 31.

Margin of Gain Widens.

The excess over the total of 1,409,603,000 kilowatt-hours in the corresponding period of last year was 16.5 per cent, in contrast with 15.5 shown by output for the week ended April 7.

Electric output for the Chicago district declined seasonally to 96,801,000 kilowatt-hours from 97,196,000 in the week ended April 7. Nevertheless the margin over the total of 87,684,000 kilowatt-hours in the parallel week of 1933 was 10.4 per cent, compared with 9.1 shown for the preceding week.

KILOWATT HOUR OUTPUT.

Week ended	1934.	1933.	% increase.
April 14..	96,801,000	87,684,000	10.4
April 7....	97,196,000	89,065,000	9.1
March 31..	100,356,000	88,502,000	13.4

Western District Lags.

Last week's gain over output in the corresponding period of 1933 was greater than the preceding week's throughout in the country except in the western part.

The increase in New England was 16.5 per cent, against 16; in the middle Atlantic region 12.5 against 10.5; in the central industrial region 22.4 against 21.3; in the southern states 15.5 against 14.3; on the Pacific coast 14.3 against 12.9.

On the other hand, the margin for the west central region fell from 11 to 10.2 and for the Rocky mountains from 20.8 to 16.8.

Charles F. Meyer Joins American National Bank

Charles F. Until recently and for eight years Mr. Meyer was assistant vice president and trust officer of the National Boulevard bank of Chicago.

HOLC SHAKEUP LIKELY TO BRING CRIMINAL SUITS

Graft, Office Parties Are Charged.

JOHN H. FAHEY.
[Acme Photo.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—(AP)—Officials of the Home Owners' Loan corporation are planning to proceed against a group of major and minor employés of several of its state organizations on charges ranging from forcing workers to contribute to political funds to use of the offices for drinking and dancing.

Criminal prosecutions will be involved in some cases. They will be undertaken at the instigation of John H. Fahey, chairman of the corporation as part of the reorganization campaign he undertook when he assumed office last November.

Expect More Resignations.

At the same time it was disclosed that more resignations of corporation state managers, who are charged with the work of taking over distressed mortgages in the various states, are imminent. There have already been six such resignations, authoritatively described as "requested," under Fahey's régime.

The charges to be preferred involve in one case an important official who was said to have required employés to donate a portion of their salaries to the state political campaign fund. In another, where a similar charge is made, it was said further that after closing hours the doors of the home loan offices were locked, liquor brought in, and a dance orchestra hired for general revelry.

RETAIN PATRONAGE POWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—When patronage is involved, the wishes of President Roosevelt mean little to the house of representatives, it appeared today, as the lower body of congress acted to slide a full government guarantee under the sagging bonds of the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Missing from the legislation as the house gave its final approval was an amendment removing all jobs in the

New York, April 18.—Domestic corporation bonds pushed into new high ground for the year on the stock exchange yesterday. Foreign loans pointed higher, while long term United States government obligations were irregular.

Volume of trading increased on the advance, totaling $15,069,000, as against $14,518,000 the previous day.

Speculative Groups Buoyant.

Industrial and utility bonds led the advance in the domestic group with gains of 1 to 5 points. In the rails, issues of speculative ratings showed the principal advances, although bonds legal for investment by savings banks and trust funds in this state were by no means neglected.

In the foreign group, German loans which had been under pressure for several days reversed their trend, a number rallying a point or more. German government 7s and 5½s jumped 3¾ and 2 points, respectively.

Argentine Issues Strong.

French government and municipal loans were firm in quiet dealings, while United Kingdom issues receded fractionally. Active buying of Argentine government loans was a feature of the Latin American group, resulting in gains of 1⅛ to 2⅛ points which carried these issues into new high ground for the year.

United States government bonds closed the day down 10-32ds to up 3-32ds points in dealings of but $1,589,600. In general best prices for the day were registered at the opening and the lows at or near the close.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly discuss the financial standing of Minneapolis-Honeywell?—M. G. C.

Answer: One of the foremost manufacturers of heat control equipment, Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company ordinarily finds its greatest source of business among owners of residential properties. During recent years it has branched into the refrigerant control and air conditioning control fields. A substantial amount of business is obtained from factory and office structures. The company also manufactures products which control pressure, combustion and other factors for manufacturing processes.

During the last few years when building construction has been at a standstill practically all the company's business has come from modernization programs and replacements. The company has been benefited by the aggressiveness of public utilities, which carried on an intensive campaign during 1933 to replace coal furnaces with those using gas.

	Net sales.	Net income.	Inc. per com.shr.
1933	$4,494,000	$831,000	$3.77
1932	3,637,000	190,000	.51
1931	5,441,000	681,000	2.90
1930	5,272,000	962,000	5.06

Current position at the close of 1933 was strong. Cash assets alone were more than five times total current liabilities.

Retirement of a small issue of bonds on Feb. 1, 1934, eliminated funded debt. Capitalization consists of 14,369 shares of $100 par 6 per cent preferred and 197,468 shares of no par common.

Effective May 15, 1934, the stock will be on a quarterly dividend basis of 50 cents a share. On Feb. 15, 1934, a regular dividend of 25 cents and an extra of 25 cents were paid. Disbursements in 1933 totaled $1 a share. The common pays 25 cents a quarter. An extra of 25 cents a share was paid on Feb. 15, 1934. Extras in 1933 totaled 50 cents.

The preferred deserves a fairly high rating. The common is medium grade.

Seaboard Oil.

Investors' Guide: I have 10 shares of Seaboard Oil company stock on which I have never received any dividends. I see by the paper that they pay dividends. I moved to another part of the city and they might have lost my address. What shall I do?—G. M. H.

Answer: Dividends on stock of Seaboard Oil company [Delaware] since 1934 aggregate $1.30 a share. We suggest you get in touch with the company. Its address is 39 Broadway, New York City.

RAILROAD CHIEF ASSAILS U. S. AID TO COMPETITORS

Tells Trade Body New Deal Is Unfair.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Although the New Deal government is engaged in an economic war against surpluses, including cotton, wheat, corn, and pigs, it is not only making no attempt to curtail the surplus of transportation existing in this country but is helping to extend various forms, Harry Guy Taylor, commissioner of western railroads, said yesterday in a talk before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house. L. E. Muntwyler, general chairman of the industrial trafic council, also spoke, discussing trafic problems affecting Chicago.

Mr. Taylor asserted that there is a surplus of transportation in this country involving at least 30 billion dollars in investment and no attempt has been made to control it. Increasing this great surplus, he said, are the huge appropriations being made for the construction of additional highways and waterways.

Says Rails Are Adequate.

Mr. Taylor said that the railroads themselves could easily handle every ton of freight offered for transport and every passenger and, excluding the trafic on the great lakes, could have done so in the peak year of 1929. The cost of maintaining this huge transportation surplus, he said, is being carried by taxpayers.

Mr. Taylor declared that it is not possible for a beneficent government to create a substitute for the initiative of the private individual through whose efforts this country has reached its high state of development.

"Some people say that if the railroads would quit whining and devote their efforts to improving themselves they would have no cause for worry," Mr. Taylor said. "But what can they do when the government is giving such great help to their competitors.

Assails Truck "Subsidies."

"All of us know that the truck and the bus are here to stay. They properly should form a part of our transportation system, but we believe that where they are used there should be economic justification for it. As it now stands motor vehicles using public highways are in effect receiving subsidies which give them a real advantage over the railroads.

"Either the regulation exerted over the railroads, which imposes a great burden on them, should be relaxed, or an equivalent form of regulation should be placed over their competitors. If the railroads are given a free chance with their competitors they will give a splendid account of themselves."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL CUTS LOSS 75% IN FIRST QUARTER

North Western, C. & O. and Others Show Gains.

As a result of the increase in revenues during the first quarter of this year the Illinois Central system was able to effect a sharp reduction in its deficit for the quarter compared with last year, L. A. Downs, president, told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday.

He said that operating revenues for the first 1934 quarter were $2,797,000 in excess of those for the same 1933 period. As a result the net deficit—after charges—amounted to only $684,000, compared with the deficit of $2,360,000 incurred in the same quarter last year.

Efficiency Is Increased.

Mr. Downs, in discussing the annual report, details of which were revealed some time ago, emphasized the efficiency with which the road was operated last year. He said the operating ratio was 70.4 per cent, the best record since 1916, when the ratio was 70.1 per cent. The average for all roads last year was 72.7 per cent. The operation ratio is the relationship between expenses and revenues.

The pamphlet report issued at the meeting disclosed that the system had a net income of $158,901 after charges, compared with a loss of $3,505,943 in 1932. The preliminary report placed the net at $113,861.

C. E. Kuck, assistant secretary of the company in the New York office, was elected a director, succeeding John W. Auchincloss, who resigned after forty-five years of service. All other directors were reëlected.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western, yesterday stated that preliminary estimates place the road's first quarter deficit after charges at slightly more than $2,500,000. This is about $2,300,000 less than the loss in the like 1933 period.

C. & O. Profit Rises.

Net income of the Chesapeake and Ohio for the first quarter of 1934 totaled $7,040,496, or 92 cents a share on common stock. In the same period of 1933 net income was $4,487,470, or 59 cents a share. The net income was after taxes, sinking fund requirements, and charges.

As a result of the sharp improvement in March coal traffic resulting from cold weather and industrial improvement the road was able to report a net income for the month of $3,087,592, equal to 41 cents a share. In the same month of 1933 the road earned 16 cents a share.

For the first time since March, 1930, the gross for the month topped the ten million dollar mark, totaling $10,146,138.

Net income of the Louisville and Nashville railroad for the first two months of this year was $1,142,362, equal to 97 cents a share, compared with $202,036, or 17 cents a share, in the corresponding period of 1933.

Wiggin Under Fire.

An increase of revenue of more than $2,850,000 for the first quarter of 1934 was reported today to the stockholders of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the annual meeting. It was the first session in which complete harmony has reigned in nearly a quarter century. No criticism of the road's management was voiced, the directorate was reëlected unanimously.

A small group of stockholders considered presenting a motion to force the resignation as a director of the railroad of Albert H. Wiggin of New York. They discussed the matter with Mr. Pelley, who admitted that, if the motion was made, he would be forced to present it to the stockholders. The group headed by Arthur S. Barnes of Bristol, Conn., finally agreed to let the matter drop.

ILLINOIS COAL OUTPUT IS 34 PCT. ABOVE YEAR AGO

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—(AP)—The bituminous coal code and a general readjustment of freight rates were credited by Director James McSherry of the state department of mines and minerals today for a 34 per cent increase in the March production of Illinois coal.

During March, 4,237,250 tons of coal were mined, compared with 3,140,271 in March, 1933. Production has been generally higher for several months in Illinois.

McSherry said the 148 working mines employed 35,863 men last month, 1,618 of them working in fourteen strip mines which produced 572,871 tons of coal.

Owens-Illinois Profits and Employment at Peak

Toledo, O., April 18.—(AP)—Coincident with the report that earnings of the Owens-Illinois Glass company have reached a new all time peak for the twelve months ended March 31, at $6,983,489, or $5.77 a share on common stock, William E. Levis, president, told stockholders at their annual meeting today that employment is now at a new peak with more than 10,000 workers on the pay rolls. A 36 hour week is being put into effect with a 10 per cent wage increase, he reported.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 2.73 cents for spots. Refiners were said to be ready to pay this price for sugars in position to suit, but nothing was firmly offered below 2.75c. Sales reported were 18,000 bags of Philippines for April shipment at 2.76c, 49,500 bags for late May arrival at 2.75c, and 36,000 bags for July arrival at 2.77c to outport refiners and operators. Futures moved irregularly and after declining from initial advances of 1 to 2 points to 2 to 3 points below the previous close rallied again and closed net unchanged to 1 point lower. Sales were 17,900 tons, including 5,100 in exchanges from near to the more distant positions. Prices follow:

Senate Republicans Attack Sugar Control Bill and AAA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—Republicans in the senate opened fire today on the administration sugar bill and the agricultural adjustment administration. They sought at least to expose, if not to halt, a measure which would add sugar to the long list of regimented "basic farm commodities," which seeks to put into effect a regulatory scheme comparable in scope to that embodied in the Bankhead cotton control bill now awaiting the President's signature.

They sought to avoid adding to what they asserted was a sure deficit of half a billion dollars in the first year's financial operations of the AAA.

Two midwesterners reputed to harbor presidential ambitions were the administration's chief assailants.

Vandenberg Leads Off.

It was Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] who charged that the sugar bill with its production quotas and its penalties was being forced on the American beet grower; who asserted that the aim of the bill was to help Cuba at the expense of the domestic producer; who declared the American sugar industry was being forced to take the bill under threat of "a double-barreled gun"—one barrel, a proposal to lower the sugar tariff, the other, to take the limit off Philippine sugar imports.

It was Senator L. J. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.] who charged Secretary of Agriculture Wallace with an attempt to deceive the people concerning the cost of the "planned agriculture" envisaged by the brain trust.

Replying to a recent press release in which Mr. Wallace said treasury figures showed income from processing taxes to be 9 million dollars more than AAA expenditures, the Iowa senator intimated that the farm secretary had purposely omitted items amounting to millions of dollars. According to returns to date, he explained, processing taxes would bring in a total of less than 350 million dollars by June 30, while expenditures as estimated by the AAA itself would total more than 850 millions.

Brain Trusters Nation Busters.

"If they are no better at social reform and national planning than they are at figuring out a financial statement," said Senator Dickinson, "how long will it take the brain trusters to become the nation's busters?"

The sugar bill, which is scheduled to reach a final vote before the end of the week, was lauded by its sponsor, Senator Edward P. Costigan [Dem., Colo.]. The only way to save the 80,000 farmers engaged in raising sugar beets and cane, he declared, was to make sugar a basic commodity, levy a processing tax, and place a quota upon domestic production and sugar imports.

The measure makes the secretary of agriculture the country's "sugar commissar," Senator Vandenberg declared.

"It means," he said, "cutting back one of the most important cash crops in sixteen states in order to help Cuba. It means penalizing the American sugar grower in order to stabilize the National City bank, the Chase National bank, and Hayden, Stone & Co., who have financed most of the Cuban sugar interests."

CANADA ESTABLISHES 10 PCT. TAX ON GOLD DEPOSITED FOR SALE

OTTAWA, April 18.—(AP)—A 10 per cent tax on gold deposited for sale at the Canadian mint was announced today in the annual budget message of Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

He emphasized that the impost, which will be put into effect tomorrow, will not operate to the extent of reducing the gold price below $30 an ounce. Gold was quoted today at $34.94.

[Gold stocks dropped sharply at the close of the Vancouver stock exchange session on receipt of news regarding the new measure.]

In announcing the tax before the house of commons, the minister said it was designed to replace revenue lost by the reduction of the sugar tax from 2 cents to 1 cent a pound. A number of minor changes were made in the income war tax act primarily to remove inequalities, and the sales tax will remain at 6 per cent. The Canadian gold production in 1933 aggregated 2,947,618 ounces.

"The fact that since our abandonment of the gold standard the price of gold in Canadian currency has risen from $20.67 an ounce to approximately $35 must be kept in mind," the finance minister said. "This is an increase in the selling price of the product of our mines of about 70 per cent.

"Furthermore, the extraordinary increase in the profits which accordingly accrue to gold producers finds its origin in circumstances entirely external to this particular industry. That is to say, the reason for this increase in price is to be found in the chaotic condition of world currencies, the depreciation of our dollar in foreign exchanges, and the devaluation of gold by certain countries."

CRUCIBLE STEEL DIVIDEND IS NOT LIKELY FOR YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 18.—Even with continued expansion of business it will be a year before the Crucible Steel company can pay dividends on preferred stock and two years before payments can be made on common shares, H. S. Wilkinson, chairman, declared at the stockholders' annual meeting today. He added that the company's position would not be jeopardized with regard to its funded debt by any dividend payments. No payment has been made on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred since the first quarter of 1932, and accumulations at the end of 1933 amounted to $12.25 a share.

"We stated to our stockholders one year ago," said Mr. Wilkinson, "that we were economizing in operations, had adjusted salaries and were rotating employment to meet a very serious condition in the industry. We gradually are restoring our employés to full time and to full pay at the 10 per cent wage increase. We have paid all outstanding obligations except our bonds and have redeemed and retired all maturing bonds, together with all interest. In addition, we have more than $1,000,000 cash, which is gradually increasing."

Retiring directors were reëlected. Mr. Wilkinson said the company is operating currently at more than 50 per cent of capacity.

GERMANY CURBS REMOVAL OF CASH OUT OF COUNTRY

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 18.—The German mark, like the Russian ruble, became a purely domestic currency today when the government issued a new decree which prohibits removal from the country of mark bills or domestic gold coin and which further limits the amount of cash of any kind that may be taken out or sent out of the country to fifty marks monthly per person. Travelers leaving Germany will have to exchange their mark bills at the border.

The new decree—the eighth affecting foreign excange—goes into effect May 1. At the same time, in another decree, the government assumed virtual control over credit and securities held by German citizens abroad. All transactions with them are made subject to approval. Even emigrant credits are put under additional restrictions.

These drastic measures, like the embargoes decreed against the purchase of a number of foreign raw materials are motivated by the precarious foreign exchange position of the Reichbank which has reduced the official note coverage to 6.8 per cent and is likely to force it even lower.

REALTORS FIND DANGERS IN U. S. HOUSING PLANS

New Flats Not Needed and Hurt Market, They Say.

BY AL CHASE.

Contemplated federal housing projects not only will prove financial failures, leaving Uncle Sam holding the bag for American taxpayers to help fill, but in addition will knock the convalescent real estate market back into the corner out of which it has just begun tottering, according to some of Chicago's leading real estate operators. They all agreed the building of unwanted and unneeded apartments not only will hurt flat properties but will harm the entire real estate market.

According to Albert H. Wetten, head of Albert H. Wetten & Co., one of Chicago's best known real estate firms, federal housing will do as much to create new slums as it will to reclaim present blighted areas. He pointed out that if a new federal housing project is erected in a slum area, it at once will draw from nearby homes which in turn will gradually depreciate with poorer type tenants until a new slum is created.

Snarls Tax Situation.

Several important property owners and real estate men declared that the dumping of more apartment housing into a community already overbuilt and suffering from thousands of vacant flats will add another snarl to Chicago's already tangled tax situation by forcing down the ability of property owners to pay their taxes.

Murray Wolbach, a large real estate operator and property owner, warned Public Works Administrator Ickes that if he saddles Chicago with a lot of unneeded housing projects, there may be a kickback in the shape of smaller income taxes, as well as lower property taxes.

"Washington doesn't seem to understand that if the Chicago landlord is faced with stiff competition in the way of new, low priced apartments and his rents go down as a result of it, his income naturally goes down and so does his income tax," said Mr. Wolbach.

Mr. Wolbach also pointed out that a landlord cannot pay his property taxes if he cannot rent his apartments.

Wants Safe Recovery.

"The Chicago real estate market is just beginning to get back on its legs," said Mr. Wolbach. "Why should Washington trip it up by erecting apartment buildings that aren't wanted or needed? Why not let things take their natural course? Then recovery will be normal and safe."

"I don't believe the federal government should enter into direct competition with a distressed commodity such as Chicago real estate," said John C. Bowers of John C. Bowers & Co., realtors, and vice president of the Chicago Real Estate board. "It will only work an additional hardship on real estate. If the government really wants to do something for the building trades let it match funds, dollar for dollar, with our local builders toward new construction."

CROWLEY URGES BANK CHARTER CONTROL BY FDIC

Hot Springs, Ark., April 18.—(AP)—Authority to control the chartering of banks by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation was advocated tonight by the chairman of its board, Leo T. Crowley, whose address was read to the executive council of the American Bankers' association by L. E. Birdzell, general counsel of the corporation.

The council previously had endorsed federal guarantee of deposits, and urged passage of the pending bill in congress to extend the term of the temporary deposit protection program.

Crowley, unable to attend the council, urged also that bankers consider the advisability of a more unified control of banking, as against the present system.

As to the chartering of banks, Crowley pointed out that the last decade has seen the failure of over 10,000 banks in the United States. He added that "an effort should be made to discourage the rechartering of this large number of banks, which rechartering is, unfortunately, going apace at the very moment."

vast home loan corporation from the political spoils field and placing them under the merit system. Although the President had sanctioned and even urged the amendment, a job-hungry house refused to retain it in the bill, forced the senate to forego the idea, and wrote finis to the plan by its action today.

The HOLC measure, one of the essential bills on the administration program, is designed to speed up federal home loan operations by guaranteeing bonds of the Home Loan corporation in full.

Bill Guarantees Principal.

Officials of the corporation attribute the notorious failure of the government home lending program to the fact that bonds offered to mortgage holders in exchange for mortgages are backed only as to interest by the federal treasury. Under the new legislation HOLC bonds will be guaranteed also as to principal by the government, and will assume a status equal to all other federal securities. In this way officials of the administration expect to make the bonds sufficiently attractive to mortgage holders.

The day's debate on the conference report brought a new condemnation for the Illinois branch of the HOLC. Taking the floor in support of the bill, Representative Adolph J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.] declared that irate Illinois congressmen "have been assured that the red tape surrounding the corporation in Illinois will be abolished without delay."

"I serve notice now," the Chicagoan warned, "that unless we obtain the same treatment as other states the HOLC is going to hear from us in no uncertain terms. We will not tolerate conditions as they are any longer."

CITIES SERVICE 1933 NET PROFIT SHOWS DECLINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 18.—The Cities Service company reports for 1933 consolidated net profits of $3,854,033, compared with $5,465,740 for the previous year.

Current assets were shown in the balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1933, as $87,601,755 while current liabilities amounted to $66,454,653, an excess of $21,147,102. As compared with a year before, the excess of current assets over current liabilities increased by $4,487,491. Total assets declined from $1,288,104,833 to $1,281,987,981. Cash in banks and on hand at the end of 1933 amounted to $26,771,086, while marketable securities were held with a market value of $830,845. Inventories of crude and refined oil amounted to $24,906,227, as compared with $18,039,355 at the end of 1932, these figures representing the market value.

The company reported a reduction of $11,471,962 in notes payable and of $2,694,253 in long term funded debts. The debt reduction was accomplished with a decline of only $1,594,285 in total cash balances.

Henry L. Doherty, president, said that he has always held and still holds the largest common stock interest in the company. This statement was prompted by rumors that Doherty had sold his holdings.

HEARING DELAYED ON J. L. MARKS CREDITOR OFFER

The hearing of J. L. Marks & Co., bankrupt partial payment stock selling house, before Federal Referee Edmund D. Adcock, was postponed yesterday to April 25, when a new composition offer will be made to creditors.

The plan now under consideration provides for a possible maximum payment of 50 per cent of claims of all creditors. A cash payment of 3 per cent, it is contemplated, will be made when and if the plan is accepted, 2 per cent in guaranteed notes due six months after acceptance of the plan, 5 per cent in 12 month guaranteed notes and the remaining 40 per cent in eight unguaranteed notes maturing at six month intervals.

The guaranteed notes, it was indicated, would be indorsed by a responsible party who would operate the business which had been conducted by Marks.

Farm Commodity Price Indices Are Unchanged

Washington, D. C., April 18.—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics reported today prices received by farmers remained at 74, while prices farmers paid for commodities were unchanged at 120 per cent of 1910-'14 figures, from March 28 to April 4. Lower prices for wheat, corn, hogs, lambs, milk, eggs, and tobacco were offset by higher prices for cotton, fruits, hay, cattle, calves, and horses.

Officers also were reëlected. R. S. Pruitt, who formerly had the title of secretary and general counsel, was made vice president and general counsel. L. D. Seymour was made a member of the executive committee to succeed Mr. Young.

Stockholders and directors ratified plans for the new operating company, American Airlines, Inc., which has been formed to bid on air mail contracts. A $2,000,000 subscription for stock in the new company was authorized.

MOVE TO BLOCK MUTUALIZING OF PEORIA LIFE CO.

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—(AP)—A writ to prohibit Circuit Judge John M. Niehaus from assuming jurisdiction over the Peoria Life Insurance company, now in receivership, was asked of the Supreme court today by Attorney General Otto Kerner and Ernest Palmer, director of insurance.

The petition also asked that an order entered by Niehaus April 16 be stayed to prevent the receiver of the insurance company from being dispossessed of the title of the Peoria Life assets.

The Niehaus order transfers the title of the assets from the receiver to the Peoria Mutual Life Insurance company in an endeavor to liquidate the Peoria Life Insurance company, the petition states.

DOLLAR VALUE RISES SHARPLY AGAINST POUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 18.—The dollar scored substantial advances against non-gold currencies today and gained slightly on the gold group. In London the pound closed 2½ cents lower, the sharp loss there being attributed to reports from Washington that the President was cold to the silver plans proposed in congress and that no further inflationary plans were in the making.

On the New York market the pound fell 1¾ cents to close at $5.13⅝. The Canadian dollar eased moderately. Against the French gold franc the dollar advanced 2 points, indicating a worth of 59.36 cents. The franc sagged from 6.60025 cents yesterday to 6.60 today.

London reported that approximately $2,756,587 in gold was purchased at an equivalent of $34.87 a fine ounce.

The New York Federal Reserve bank announced imports of $51,100 from India and Gautemala. There were no exports and gold stocks held under earmark for foreign account increased $13,700.

Two Officials Elevated by Marquette Cement Co.

Marquette Cement Manufacturing company announced yesterday that D. S. Colburn, formerly assistant to the president, has been made vice president, and that L. W. Saxby, formerly purchasing agent, has been made assistant to the president.

EARLY INCREASE IN U.S. TRADE WITH HUNGARY REMOTE

Political Barriers Offer Biggest Deterrent.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 18.—An inquiry into the possibilities of increasing American trade with Hungary leads directly into the central European bog of trade wars, exchange restrictions, and the political schemes of various adjacent countries to adjust the economic life of the Danube valley to protect their own frontiers or to keep a rival from expanding.

Politics is the coefficient of trade. And this now centers around the tug of war between France and Italy on one side and Nazi Germany on the other to dominate central Europe economically. Most bankers, traders and economic experts now believe that to increase American trade with Hungary under these conditions will be no easy task, and that any increase at all will apply to relatively small sales.

Cotton Largest Import from U. S.

Our exports to Hungary now consist of 93 per cent raw materials, 82 per cent being raw cotton. A small increase in trade both ways might be brought about through the sale of Hungarian wines in the United States and also of special food staples which appeal to the large Hungarian colonies in American cities. The Hungarian wine quota to the United States has been raised recently to 150,000 gallons. But whether this would lead to Hungarian buying of more of our machinery in return, at least for the moment, still remains a matter of doubt to trade experts here.

There are too many factors affecting trade adversely at this time to make the country inviting to American exporters. To begin with, we have the unhealthy condition of selling Hungary four times as much as she buys from us. Moreover, Hungary can make better trade bargains with her immediate neighbors, who are willing to favor her for political reasons. She has had trade wars with Austria and Czechoslovakia, but these have been patched up and during the last two years she has concluded commercial treaties or agreements with France, Turkey, Poland, Greece, Germany, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, and Italy.

Shipping Difficulties Large.

In the way of trade between the United States and Hungary are also many shipping difficulties. Goods reach Hungary through the Adriatic ports of Trieste or Fiume, or through Hamburg and Bremen, and must cross a couple of frontiers before they reach their destination. There is also the fact that Hungarian exports, which she must exchange against purchases from us, are raw materials for which we have little use. Last year's exports from Hungary to the United States were worth five million pengoes, or a little more than a million dollars. They were for 50 per cent plant and oil seeds, red peppers, dried peas, herbs and malt. Forty-one per cent were finished and unfinished goods.

But the worst obstacles in the way of trade between the United States and Hungary are the ban on what are considered luxury goods and anything not regarded as a strict necessity, and the difficulty in getting payments through the exchange restrictions and blocked accounts. Since 1931 the Hungarian National bank has exercised complete control over foreign exchange and over foreign trade, the effect of which is that no payments can be made to foreign creditors except with the sanction of this bank.

MANY STOCKS RISE IN MORE ACTIVE TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 18.—The optimistic viewpoint was the vogue in speculative Wall street again today and closing stock market tables showed further improvement in the shares of the country's leading corporations. The gains were slightly more pronounced than those of yesterday's rally measuring up to 1 and 2 points in a long list of assorted issues. The turnover also stepped up to around 1,553,000 shares.

Outside of another issue of favorable midweek trade reports and hopeful utterances by a number of corporation executives at annual stockholders' meetings, there was nothing of sufficient importance in the day's news to prompt buying. The financial community has been entertaining a strong feeling for several days, however, that given an even chance the market is ripening for a real rally.

Control Bill Is Deterrent.

The chief deterrent to progress continues to be uncertainty over the fate of the stock exchange control plan in congress.

There were indications in today's trading that leaders of the bull move were making a bid for a speculative following. A group of stocks usually trotted out as leaders in such a campaign were bid up quite actively at intervals, but the "demonstrations" failed to bring out the hoped for following. The public may be on the buying side but it shows no special disposition to bid for stocks with uncertainties still beclouding the picture.

Selected issues got the popular play. Rubber shares reached forward in easy fashion, United States Rubber preferred rising more than 3 points to the best price in four years. Crucible Steel preferred claimed more than 7 on the hint given by the chairman that consideration might soon be given to paying dividend arrearages.

National Lead Up 12 Points.

National Lead, usually a back seater, ran up 12 points on top of its gain of yesterday.

Reports of substantial forward buying of steel in anticipation of higher prices did the steel shares no harm.

The midweek power output figures brought mild activity into the utilities group. American Telephone moved up easily, adding more than 2 points. Recent strength in Telephone has been attributed chiefly to a spillover of investment demand from bonds and preferred stocks.

MANUFACTURERS IN CHICAGO AREA EMPLOY 419,228

An aggregate of 419,228 persons is employed by the 1,402 manufacturing concerns in the Chicago metropolitan district which have pay rolls of 50 workers or more, according to a survey made public yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Of the total, 290,400 of the workers are men and 128,828 are women.

The association's industrial department has published a booklet listing the names of all the manufacturing concerns in the area which has at least 50 employés. Each concern is listed according to the product it manufactures, its address, the number of employés. Other large Chicago employers in the nonmanufacturing field are also listed in an appendix, but the number of workers in this group is not given.

The survey showed that of the larger industrial concerns, 57 are employing 1,000 workers or more each and 642 are employing between 100 and 500 persons, both men and women.

The figures do not include the large working forces of railroads, hotels, stores, wholesale establishments, building enterprises, and other nonmanufacturing lines.

COARSE GRAINS RISE, BUT WHEAT MOVES LOWER

Downturn Is Caused by Late Selling.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation in the grain markets apparently ran its course earlier in the week, and prices averaged higher yesterday with coarse grains closing at fair net gains and wheat at a loss of ¾ cent after having advanced nearly 1 cent over Tuesday's final quotation.

Commission houses were fairly good buyers of all grains early, and the purchasing of corn and oats continued until the close, but support in wheat vanished late in the session. The May option dropped 1¾ cents from the top and closed within a fraction of the bottom at 77¾ to 77⅞ cents. Corn was ⅛ to ¼ cent higher, oats were up ⅜ to ⅝ cent, rye was unchanged to ½ cent higher and barley ¼ cent lower to 1½ cent higher.

Market Not Excited.

There was none of the excitement and violent price changes yesterday such as featured the trading of the two previous days. Part of the buying was regarded as based on the belief there should be a natural rally after a break of more than 10 cents in wheat and about 9 cents on corn and oats within a week. At the high point yesterday wheat was 2⅜ to 2½ cents above the low on Tuesday, while corn had rallied 3⅜ cents and oats 2⅜ to 2¾ cents. Wheat held above the finish of the previous day until shortly before the close when several commission houses as well as local operators turned sellers and disclosed a lack of support. Many of the early buyers went out of their lines on the way down.

If the trade had any lingering doubt as to whether liquidation was really being effected recently it was effectively dispelled by the official report of the grain futures administration, which showed the open interest in all grains had contracted 22,063,000 bushels between the close last Friday and the close on Tuesday to a total of 259,692,000 bushels. Corn and oats accounted for 14,500,000 bushels of the reduction.

Weigh Crop Estimate.

Routine news was again lost sight of as an influence in shaping the trend of the markets, and there was nothing in the news from Washington that attracted much attention other than an estimate which indicated the probability of a 1934 wheat crop of 732,000,000 bushels.

Winnipeg wheat market continued to hold within an extremely narrow range and closed unchanged to ⅛ cent lower. Export sales were estimated at 500,000 bushels in all positions. Liverpool finished ⅛ cent higher to ⅝ cent lower.

No further evidence of a foreign demand for American corn was noted and bids at the seaboard were reported 2 to 3 cents a bushel below sellers' views. Two cargoes of Argentine corn sold equal to 48 cents per bushel c. i. f. London for May and May-June shipment. Country offerings of cash corn to arrive were again extremely small, while the domestic trade bought 110,000 bushels from local handlers.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Demand for butter was less active and prices steady to ¼c lower yesterday. Receipts, 7,975 tubs. Fresh eggs were in liberal supply and ¼c lower. Receipts, 27,853 cases. Live hens were steady to ½c lower; springs and fryers, 1c lower; broilers, 1@2c lower and old roosters ½c lower. Receipts, 2 cars and 33 trucks. Potatoes somewhat easier. Receipts, 157 cars with 454 cars on team track.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was more active today and prices were firmer on increased covering and buying of September and October by western interests, promoted by the firmness of cotton, and lard, the steadiness of crude oil, and advances in tallow and greases. Final prices were 5 to 8 points net higher. Sales were 112 contracts, including 72 in the way of switches. Bleachable spot nominal; May closed 5.25c; July, 5.46c; September, 5.67c; October, 5.75c.

STEERS ADVANCE AGAIN DESPITE INCREASED RUN

Top Price Highest Since Nov. 9, 1932.

A heavy run of short fed steers from nearby feeders who were anxious to capitalize on the bulge in the cattle market did not halt the rise yesterday The top at $8.15 was a new high mark since Nov. 9, 1932. Hundreds of the steers sold here yesterday at $7 to $7.75 cost only $3 to $4 as feeders a few months ago. Some of these sales represented the biggest margins of profits obtained in the cattle feeding business in recent years, many farmers tripling their initial investment by getting rapid gains in weight as well as big price margins over the feeder price.

Sharply higher prices for beef stimulated buying of cattle by packers again yesterday. Some cuts of beef have advanced as much as 3 cents sinec a week ago.

Cattle Top Is $8.15.

The Hygrade Food Products corporation paid the new $8.15 top yesterday for 18 steers averaging 1,301 pounds. A good showing of these weights reached the $8 line, while most of the heavy steers were grouped at $7.50 and above. Considering the quality, some of the plain steers carrying weight show 50 cents or more advance over a week ago. Not many cattle weighing under 1,000 pounds were of the quality to bring more than $7.50, with top grades of 1,300 to 1,400 pound averages 25 to 75 cents above the best sales of 800 to 1,000 pound yearlings. Only a few weeks ago the latter brought the premiums.

Yesterday's top for 1,043 pound yearlings was $7.75. Most action yesterday centered in the weighty beef steers. Yearling stock was barely steady.

Lambs Break 25 to 40 Cents.

In view of further sharp advances in the wholesale market for dressed lamb yesterday's break of 25 to 40 cents in live lambs, which came late in the afternoon, took the trade by surprise. The run was short and sellers had held out all day for $10 and higher for choice wooled stock. However, packers finally obtained the supply mostly around $9.60. Shorn lambs at $8.15 to $8.25 also showed the loss. Dressed lamb carcasses advanced to a top of 19 cents.

A mild rally was scored in hogs, both the top and general average prices showing 5 cents gain at $4.05 and $3.85 respectively. Further gain in the wholesale pork trade at some of the eastern points was not reflected in buying by eastern packer representatives here, but generally, there was a slightly healthier undertone to the market. Four packers buying for the government obtained 2,700 "relief hogs" costing mostly $3.90 to $4.

LARD FIRM; TRADE SHIFTS TO DEFERRED DELIVERIES

While a good part of the trade in lard futures yesterday consisted in selling of the May future and purchases of July and September by longs, with packers and carriers doing the reverse, the market showed a firmer undertone.

Aggregate trade was only fair, with the close unchanged to 2½ cents higher, the former on May. Cash lots were unchanged at $5.85 for regular and $5.75 for loose and leaf. Bellies were nominally unchanged with cash lots steady at $8.00. Prices:

COTTON HIGHER, ALTHOUGH SELLING CUTS EARLY GAINS

Cotton prices advanced early yesterday on the passage of the Bankhead bill by the house late Tuesday, but scattered liquidation appeared on the advance and toward the close increased pressure appeared, with the finish around the lowest levels of the day.

Chicago closed 2 points lower to 1 point higher, while other markets were 1 to 3 points higher. A good part of the trade toward the last consisted of changing between the various deliveries.

Spot cotton held steady, with New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston at 11.80 cents per pound. Prices:

MEN.

If you live on the South Side or South Side Suburbs, let me set you up in a profitable business of your own, backed up by our prosperous company.

I have been in this territory exactly seven months, and have already set one hundred and forty-six men up in business for themselves, between Cadillac, Mich., and Mattoon, Ill., and still have thirty-four opportunities left.

I am in control of this territory of a business unique in character, merchandising an electrical unit that has no competition for which there is an ever increasing demand.

If on a personal interview you can satisfy me that you are honest, reliable and trustworthy, and really have a desire to succeed, willing to study and are teachable, you may be the very man I am looking for.

Our business is very profitable. Many of our associates earning as much as $50 on percentage basis in a single day, and after they become experienced handling our business receive a sizeable monthly income, not regulated by seasons, as ours is a year around business.

Selling experience not necessary, as if you are selected you are thoroughly trained at no expense to you. Some of our most successful associates never sold anything before joining us.

We stand all the expense of your business, such as rent, light, heat, telephone, help, etc., and in addition to giving you merchandise on open account, carry all of your time payment paper.

You do not invest one cent with us. We finance everything.

Our business is depression-proof, as same has increased every month of the last four years, with 1933 our busiest year. We have thousands of satisfied customers in this territory and are considered one of the country's outstanding organizations. There are no strings connected with this offer, and if you can meet the above requirements you will be granted a personal, confidential interview, which will quickly determine our mutual interests. Apply Thurs. between 11:00 and 2:00. Suite 430, Hyde Park National bank bldg., 1525 E. 53d-st. Ask for E. T. Lovell.

DURING THE COMING YEAR THERE will be employed among North and Northwest Side men of good character approximately 80 men to meet the demands of this steadily growing business. I have been given an April quota of 10 and am still to employ and train in our methods 7 more men.

I shall be glad to interview men personally between 26 and 46 years old. I prefer men who head families and they must live in some of the residential sections of the parts of Chicago I have named. I saw a $106.00 comm. check just passed to a man who joined us 22 months ago. This was for last week's work. I have seen larger checks passed out this week—and knew that a man who settles down to this work with determination and does as we teach him can become financially independent. There is no investment, deposit or purchase required.

Leading in the world in its particular field of electric unit manufacture and distribution, this company is willing to spend time and money in developing men who are responsive to opportunity without respect to past experience.

If keenly interested call Thursday, April 19, Room 215 at 1046 Wilson-av. Be sure not to be late!

ATTENTION, MEN (3)!

A large growing organization of International reputation, now well established in the American market with Electrical unit, can use clean-cut, ambitious men over 25 years and under 55, fair education and ability to make money. We train you if you qualify. Steady work, good pay to start, floaters and ad chasers need not apply. Average earnings $30 to $75, commission paid weekly. Call 9 S. Kedzie, Room 329, 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Thursday. Ask for Mr. Eckman.

NORTH SUBURBAN MEN—WHO ARE INterested in permanency and good comm. incomes, between 25 and 47 years, of good character, consistent workers, will report for interview at 2:00 p. m., Thursday, April 19, Room 316 Howard-Clark Bldg., cor. Howard and Clark-sts. For the first quarter of 1934 this leading electric unit business was 250% nationally of its first quarter last year. This is my first announcement in this location and I shall select a small number of men for these profitable positions.

LARGE PUBLIC UTILITY

Company has openings for 3 young men 23 to 40 years of age in appliance sales department. Good earnings in comm. and bonus. We also pay men while training who qualify. No sales experience necessary. Apply Thurs. 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., 852 W. 63d. Mr. McPheeters.

LOCAL'S SERVICE
It Will Satisfy You
Phone Your Request
and immediately thereafter call at the office and obtain the money.

Service

Local was organized to make loans—in small or large amounts—to serve the needs of wage earners and salaried men and women. It is our aim to render this service quickly to every one who requests a loan. At all of our branches, transactions are conducted in private offices by courteous employés.

Methods

We make loans on salary, ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY, without endorsers. Also on FURNITURE, AUTOS, or other PERSONAL PROPERTY. All transactions are confidential. Loans granted without notice to employer, friends or relatives.

Rates

Local's rates on large furniture loans are less than the legal rate. All small loans at the regular legal rate. Charges are computed monthly on the unpaid balance.

Amounts—Terms

You can borrow any amount from $25 to $300: small loans receive the same courteous attention as larger loans. You make your own terms, 10 to 20 months, more or less. Regardless of the agreement you have the privilege to repay any day, week or month to reduce the cost.
